Cuba, Dominican Ministers Swap Angry Charges

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—A session of the inter-American foreign ministers' meeting broke up in chaos Thursday night after a heated exchange between delegates from Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

The conference here is seeking some way to ease conflicts between countries of the Caribbean—principally Cuba and the Dominicans.

The conference chairman, German Vergara Donoso, had difficulty adjourning the session after banging his gavel repeatedly while Raul Roa of Cuba and Porfirio Herrera Baes of the Dominican Republic shouted charges at each other.

The clash between the two foreign ministers came after Roa denounced the Dominican Republic in a speech.

Cuba's revolutionary leader, Prime Minister Fidel Castro, and Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, the Dominican strongman, are archenemies and much of the Caribbean power struggle centers on them.

Roa rejected the idea that any committees be named to investigate intervention in the area. He suggested that the meeting here dig into what he termed the real problem in all Latin America: economic underdevelopment.

His speech came after Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, head of the U.S. delegation, proposed setting up a sort of temporary fireman's committee to study tensions and help answer crisis alarms in the Caribbean region.

Herter urged an investigation of "viciously hostile propaganda" and proposed strengthening the inter-American Peace Committee so it can devote more time to examining Caribbean problems. The committee is part of the 21-nation Organization of American States, sponsor of the current conference.

The conference is faced with the delicate problem of maintaining peace and promoting democracy while avoiding intervention in the internal affairs of the American republics.

Non intervention is a classic hemispheric principle, laid down as a strong reaction from the U.S. Marines landed in Latin-American republics to protect American interests.

NAACP Leader Appeals To Ike For Protection

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The Arkansas president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People appealed to President Eisenhower for protection Thursday night because state police arrested her house guard and two other Negroes for carrying concealed weapons.

She charged that city and county authorities woun't protect her and the FBI said it hasn't the authority, so the arrest of the three neroes leaves her "defenseless."

The Negroes state police arrested were Isaac Mullen, 42, a special deputy sheriff who guarded the home of Mrs. L. C. Bates, the NAACP leader; Dr. Garman P. Freeman, 35, a dentist, and Ellis Thomas Sr., 46, father of one of the four Negro students attending integrated high school class.

The four Negro students—three girls and a boy, Jefferson Thomas, 18—attended mixed classes Thursday without any sign of a disturbance.

Because Mullen was a deputy sheriff, he was not charged. But Freeman and Thomas were charged in City Court with carrying concealed weapons and released in $200 bond. They were held until 2 p.m. Thursday.

"Despite repeated bombings, attacks by gunfire and rocks and other assaults on our home—attacks provoked by the fact that we have stood steadfast for this community's compliance with federal law—both local and federal authorities declined to provide the minimum physical protection we have requested," Mrs. Bates telegraphed Eisenhower.,

"Now state police have begun to arrest and harrass the upstanding citizens who have provided us with volunteer protection, leaving us defenseless before those who constantly threaten our lives.

"I appeal to you, Mr. President, to provide the basic protection that will give us the freedom from fear to which citizens of our free American society are entitled."

Fourth Murder Suspect Caught

BALTIMORE (AP)—The fourth suspect sought in the murder of a Baltimore man was caught by police Thursday after he was forced at gunpoint from the roof of his sister's house.

The man was identified as Richard L. Gross, 21, Negro. He and three other youths are accused of beating to death Lawrence D. North, 66, last Friday night near his home.

A ring which police believed was taken from North was found at a pawn shop Thursday.

Police Lt. Fred Dunn said officers were tipped that Gross was at his sister's home. The man was spotted climbing from a third-floor window to the house top.

Castro Meeting With Navy Head Stirs Rumors

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro had a long talk Thursday with his district naval commander at Cienfuegos, then flew off for an unknown destination.

His conference with navy Cmdr. Hermes Carballo heightened speculation that what the revolutionary government calls conspirators have landed or may attempt a landing in the strategic central part of the island.

There was no official word on Castro's activities in Las Villas province. The first press dispatches in four days reached Havana from the province but telephone communications were still out.

Unconfirmed reports said that more than 500 conspiracy suspects had been detained in Las Villas.

The government repeatedly has denied that any landings have been made by invasion forces anywhere in Cuba. But a report from military authorities at Cienfuegos indicated that at least an attempt had been made and frustrated at sea.

Castro, accompanied by Camilo Cienfuegos, his army chief, spent eight hours in the Cienfuegos-Trinidad area, and then left by plane.

There were reports his private plane had returned to Havana but there was no confirmation that he had landed here.

Potent New Fuel Powers Thor Rocket

Planes Will Try To Catch Capsule Near Hawaii Today

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Satellite Discoverer V zoomed into orbit Thursday, blasted into space by a new, extra-powerful fuel.

The 1,700-pound satellite sent back radio signals loud and clear as it sped through north-south polar orbit.

The shot is a test of hardware designed to carry monkeys into orbit later in the Discoverer series.

The Air Force will attempt to catch the ejected nose capsule as it comes down by parachute near Hawaii.

The 78-foot two-stage rocket thundered off its seaside launching pad at 12 noon PDT.

A tracking station in Alaska picked up the satellite's signal at 1:29 p.m. PDT as it completed its first circle of earth.

136 To 450 Miles High

This information indicated the satellite reaches a distance of 450 miles at its most distant point from earth and is 136 miles at its closest point.

The time required to orbit is approximately 94 minutes.

The new fuel, known as RJ-1, put the Discoverer series back on a successful track. The two previous rockets failed to orbit.

The fuel, designed for the now abandoned Navaho ramjet missile, powered the first-stage Thor intermediate range ballistic missile which rammed Discoverer V off the pad.

This was the first time RJ-1 was used in a Thor. The Air Force said the fuel is somewhat denser than the standard kerosene-base propellant and increases velocity with its greater energy yield.

Planes, Ships Alerted

The entire second stage of the rocket went into orbit. It carried a 300-pound recovery capsule crammed with secret instrumentation.

There was speculation that the capsule or its rocket-vehicle may contain an advanced type of scanning equipment.

Plans for recovery call for the capsule to be ejected on the 17th pass around the earth. This would be about 26 hours after its launching at noon Thursday.

Eight C119 Flying Boxcars based in Hawaii will try to snare the capsule as it comes down by parachute. If they fail, ships will search the ocean for it.

Launching of Discoverer V had been postponed four times because of fog and once for technical reasons.

Demo Conclave Showdown Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler flies to the West Coast in an effort to keep the party's 1960 national convention in Los Angeles.

A four - month argument over convention tickets must be settled by Monday, Butler repeated before departure, or he will again invite bids for the convention from five other cities.

Los Angeles was chosen last February over San Francisco, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Miami Beach, Fla. The winning city agreed to raise $350,000 to pay convention expanses. Philadelphia and Miami Beach made it plain they are still interested.

Since last April, there has been a running controversy between the committee and Los Angeles oilman Edwin Pauley, cochairman of a convention host committee, over how many tickets will go to the host group.

Pauley originally claimed 5,000 daily tickets, apparently to be distributed to contributors to the convention expense fund. He said he was promised that number in exchange for raising the $350,000. Butler says he can give the host committee no more than 1,500 tickets. He said no specific number was pledged in advance.

Happy Sponsors Of Labor Bill

The smiles come easily to Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich), right, as they pose after the House yesterday approved 229-201 their labor antiracketeering bill, opposed by organized labor and supported by President Eisenhower. ## House Hands Eisenhower Big Victory

229-201 Vote Bitter Defeat For Demo And Union Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House handed President Eisenhower a smashing victory Thursday by approving a bill he said is needed to end corruption in labor unions.

The 229-201 roll-call vote was a stinging defeat for House Democratic leaders and leaders of organized labor who had fought for a much milder antiracketeering bill. Eisenhower, taking his campaign to the people in a nationwide radio-TV speech last week, had said the Democratic bill wouldn't do the job of ending union abuses.

Eisenhower hailed the House action, saying it offers real hope that Congress will pass an effective union control measure. In a statement issued at his vacation headquarters at Gettysburg, Pa., the President said:

"With, I am sure, millions of Americans I applaud the House of Representatives for its vote today in support of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill which would deal effectively with the abuses disclosed by the McClellan committee.

Formal Vote Friday

"I congratulate all those who voted in support of this legislation. This action gives cause for real hope that the Congress will ultimately pass a good labor reform bill."

The House put off until Friday a formal vote on final passage of its bill, but that appeared a foregone conclusion.

In an angry, arm-waving speech before the vote, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts accused the Eisenhower administration of exerting undue pressure on Republicans to support the bill Eisenhower wants. McCormack said that bill is slanted against organized labor.

McCormack shouted that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers were at the Capitol applying the pressure. McCormack said they did so in a like situation last year, and that as a result many Republicans were defeated for re-election.

Substitute For Demo Bill

On the key vote, a coalition of 134 Republicans and 95 Democrats, mostly Southerners, massed behind the bill introduced by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich).

They substituted it for a measure drafted by the House Labor Committee. Democratic leaders, including Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), mustered 184 Democrats and 17 Republicans for the committee bill its backers termed a middle ground approach to the problem.

That left only the formality of a vote on final passage. Democratic strategists conceded they had little hope of upsetting the Eisenhower-backed bill. Its defeat would leave no labor legislation before the House.

However, there was some question as to what will happen to this bill once it gets into conference with the Senate. Last April, the Senate passed a labor control bill that stops well short of some of the stringent provisions in the Landrum-Griffin version.

New Housing Bill Reaches Senate Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Senate Banking Committee Thursday approved a $1,050,000,000 "second try" housing bill that was cheaper than the measure vetoed by President Eisenhower but still carried some provisions he opposes.

The bill was rushed through the committee after the Senate refused by nine votes Thursday to override Eisenhower's veto of the original $1,375,000,000 housing package.

The new bill would cost 325-million dollars less than the vetoed measure. It was drafted last week by the Senate Housing subcommittee and the full committee made only one major concession to the President in sending it to the floor.

It eliminated what the administration called "back door" financing by requiring direct congressional appropriations instead of Treasury borrowing for the 50-million dollar college classroom and laboratory loan program.

But the President is against extending the Federal Loan Program to finance teaching facilities. At present only college housing comes under the federal program.

The measure also still carries authorization for new public housing, which Eisenhower has called unneeded. However, only 37,000 new federally - subsidized units would be authorized by the bill, compared with up to 190,000 units in the first measure.

It contained authorization for 650-million dollars worth of urban renewal grants, with 100-million dollars earmarked for cities of less than 100,000 population. The measure retained a "first-come, first-served" provision opposed by Eisenhower, but would give the housing administrator authority to consider "urgency of need and feasibility" on applications.

In addition, the committee kept in the bill a 50-million dollars direct loan program for construction of housing for the elderly; a $250,000,000 loan authorization for college housing; and the so-called "back door" type of financing for the college housing and urban renewal grant programs.

Vets' Pension Bill Clears Senate, 86-6

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate late Thursday passed 86-6 a veterans pension bill boosting the cost of benefits not connected to military service by 10 billion dollars over the next 40 years.

The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of minor differences between Senate and House versions.

Bonn's Golden Book Will Go Calling On Ike

BONN, Germany (AP)—Bonn's city fathers are so glad President Eisenhower is coming to town that they are not asking him to come to City Hall to sign their Golden Book. They will take the book to him.

Only once before has the Golden Book gone calling. That was in 1956 when Sir Winston Churchill was in town.

The Golden Book is an important document in Germany. Each city has its own and there is heavy competition to obtain as many big names as possible.

Blast Threat To Town Ends

FRIESLAND, Wis. (UPI) — A railroad wrecking crew succeeded Thursday night in opening the safety valve of a derailed railroad tank car which threatened to blow up the village of Friesland with leaking propane gas.

For 21 hours, the tank car had lain upside down in the wreckage of a building, sending a steady stream of the explosive gas through this village of 450.

The tank car was a potential blockbuster bomb. Surrounded by tanks containing a total of 300,000 gallons of propane and gasoline, the slightest spark could have touched off an explosion which could have levelled this village.

A Chicago and North Western road crew of 12 men, operating a heavy crane mounted on the tracks, became the heroes of Friesland.

Failing to get the tank car back onto the tracks, they tipped it gingerly onto its side.

For the first time since the derailment at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, the safety valve of the car was freed. Within moments, hoses were attached and the propane was flowing safely into the storage tanks of the company which had been scheduled to get the shipment.

One-Cent Gas Tax Hike Voted By House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted Thursday to raise the federal gasoline tax another penny, to four cents a gallon.

The extra money would go to keep the 41,000 - mile interstate highway construction program close to schedule. It has been slowing down because of a financial pinch, to the disappointment of federal and state officials, road contractors and motorists.

The committee meeting also produced a hint of possible financial shenanigans in the program, which is due to cost 36 billion dollars before it is finished. An investigation was set for later this year.

Highway users would pay almost a billion dollars additional during the 22 months that the four-cent rate would remain in effect. This period would begin Sept. 1.

President Eisenhower asked in January for an increase to 4½ cents, to remain in effect for five years.

The ways and means committee until now had rejected all proposals for any increase. While it has gone part way toward meeting Eisenhower's request, it bucked him on another point by proposing transfer of some revenue from the general fund of the Treasury to the highway construction fund.

The committee called for diversion from the general fund, for three years beginning July 1, 1961, of half of the revenue from the 10 per cent manufacturers' excise on new automobiles, and two-thirds of the revenue from the 8 per cent excise on automobile parts and accessories.

The total diversion was estimated at 2½ billion dollars.

It was calculated that the extra money in the committee's plan would allow apportionment to the states of $1,800,000,000 this year for construction in the 1961 fiscal year beginning next July 1, and two billion in the following fiscal year.

Four Killed When Army 'Copter Crashes In Lake

RUSSELL SPRINGS, Ky. (UPI) —An Army helicopter carrying four soldiers struck a telephone cable while flying low over Lake Cumberland Thursday, exploded and fell into the water, killing or drowning all aboard.

Bystanders who had exchanged hand-waved greetings with the helicopter's passengers a moment before said they saw four men on board, and this was later confirmed by Maj. Frank Gregg, commander of a detachment of troops from the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The troops have been maneuvering in this area around Wolf Creek Dam in southern Kentucky, and the helicopter was working with the ground troops. Gregg said there were a pilot, co-pilot, crew chief and one passenger aboard, but withheld their names pending their release by Ft. Campbell authorities.

The 'copter fell in 59 feet of water about 200 yards offshore from a boat dock operated by Scott McClain.

McClain said, "One of my kids hollered 'There's a helicopter coming up the lake,' and I looked in time to see it hit my telephone cable, which is about 100 feet above the water. It broke the cable in two, and there was a little explosion. The helicopter turned on its side and went straight down, and there was some flame before it hit the water."

McClain said he ran to an outboard motorboat and went to the spot, which he reached within 30 seconds, but he said the craft had disappeared 15 seconds after it hit.

Airliner In Safe Belly Landing

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)— A veteran Eastern Airlines pilot brought a DC7B to a safe belly landing Thursday after its landing gear jammed while he was on a routine flight with three other crewmen.

No one was injured in the landing at the nearby Pomona Airport on a runway covered with foam. The big, four-engined aircraft skidded some 1,500 feet before coming to a halt at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center.

Capt. Arthur V. Appleget, Cranbury, N.J., a pilot for 20 years with Eastern, decided on the belly landing after circling four hours over Newark, N.J., and Atlantic City with a faulty left landing gear.

The gear was locked in the "up" position when a door enclosing it jammed as the plane approached Newark Airport for the end of its training flight. The right gear had been functioning properly.

Space Probe Might Solve Riddle Of "Anti-Matter"

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Space Agency is considering a proposal to look in space for some answers to the scientific riddle of "anti-matter," it was learned Thursday.

Dr. Edward W. Hones of San Diego has proposed equipping a satellite with apparatus designed to determine whether "anti-particles" are being created deep in space.

Anti-particles are the building blocks of anti-matter, which is opposite in electric charge and other vital characteristics from the kind of matter of which the earth is made.

Anti - particles and ordinary particles cannot co-exist peacefully. They annihilate each other with tremendous releases of energy dwarfing nuclear reactions.

It appears theoretically possible that anti-matter star systems—with anti-matter worlds populated by anti-matter organisms — exist somewhere out yonder.

A collision of two star systems made of the opposite kinds of matter would produce an unimaginably terrific explosion.

Hones' proposal is being considered by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for the future when scientific satellites are bigger and more "sophisticated" than those now available.

Meanwhile, laboratory investigation of anti - particles continues. Scientists know of no reason why nature should create only the kind of electrons, protons, neutrons and other particles which make up the kind of matter which exists in this corner of the universe.

New Housing Bill Reaches Senate Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Senate Banking Committee Thursday approved a $1,050,000,000 "second try" housing bill that was cheaper than the measure vetoed by President Eisenhower but still carried some provisions he opposes.

The bill was rushed through the committee after the Senate refused by nine votes Thursday to override Eisenhower's veto of the original $1,375,000,000 housing package.

The new bill would cost 325-million dollars less than the vetoed measure. It was drafted last week by the Senate Housing subcommittee and the full committee made only one major concession to the President in sending it to the floor.

It eliminated what the administration called "back door" financing by requiring direct congressional appropriations instead of Treasury borrowing for the 50-million dollar college classroom and laboratory loan program.

But the President is against extending the Federal Loan Program to finance teaching facilities. At present only college housing comes under the federal program.

The measure also still carries authorization for new public housing, which Eisenhower has called unneeded. However, only 37,000 new federally - subsidized units would be authorized by the bill, compared with up to 190,000 units in the first measure.

It contained authorization for 650-million dollars worth of urban renewal grants, with 100-million dollars earmarked for cities of less than 100,000 population. The measure retained a "first-come, first-served" provision opposed by Eisenhower, but would give the housing administrator authority to consider "urgency of need and feasibility" on applications.

In addition, the committee kept in the bill a 50-million dollars direct loan program for construction of housing for the elderly; a $250,000,000 loan authorization for college housing; and the so-called "back door" type of financing for the college housing and urban renewal grant programs.

Vets' Pension Bill Clears Senate, 86-6

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate late Thursday passed 86-6 a veterans pension bill boosting the cost of benefits not connected to military service by 10 billion dollars over the next 40 years.

The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of minor differences between Senate and House versions.

Bonn's Golden Book Will Go Calling On Ike

BONN, Germany (AP)—Bonn's city fathers are so glad President Eisenhower is coming to town that they are not asking him to come to City Hall to sign their Golden Book. They will take the book to him.

Only once before has the Golden Book gone calling. That was in 1956 when Sir Winston Churchill was in town.

The Golden Book is an important document in Germany. Each city has its own and there is heavy competition to obtain as many big names as possible.

Blast Threat To Town Ends

FRIESLAND, Wis. (UPI) — A railroad wrecking crew succeeded Thursday night in opening the safety valve of a derailed railroad tank car which threatened to blow up the village of Friesland with leaking propane gas.

For 21 hours, the tank car had lain upside down in the wreckage of a building, sending a steady stream of the explosive gas through this village of 450.

The tank car was a potential blockbuster bomb. Surrounded by tanks containing a total of 300,000 gallons of propane and gasoline, the slightest spark could have touched off an explosion which could have levelled this village.

A Chicago and North Western road crew of 12 men, operating a heavy crane mounted on the tracks, became the heroes of Friesland.

Failing to get the tank car back onto the tracks, they tipped it gingerly onto its side.

For the first time since the derailment at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, the safety valve of the car was freed. Within moments, hoses were attached and the propane was flowing safely into the storage tanks of the company which had been scheduled to get the shipment.

One-Cent Gas Tax Hike Voted By House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted Thursday to raise the federal gasoline tax another penny, to four cents a gallon.

The extra money would go to keep the 41,000-mile interstate highway construction program close to schedule. It has been slowing down because of a financial pinch, to the disappointment of federal and state officials, road contractors and motorists.

The committee meeting also produced a hint of possible financial shenanigans in the program, which is due to cost 36 billion dollars before it is finished. An investigation was set for later this year.

Highway users would pay almost a billion dollars additional during the 22 months that the four-cent rate would remain in effect. This period would begin Sept. 1.

President Eisenhower asked in January for an increase to 4½ cents, to remain in effect for five years.

The ways and means committee until now had rejected all proposals for any increase. While it has gone part way toward meeting Eisenhower's request, it bucked him on another point by proposing transfer of some revenue from the general fund of the Treasury to the highway construction fund.

The committee called for diversion from the general fund, for three years beginning July 1, 1961, of half of the revenue from the 10 per cent manufacturers' excise on new automobiles, and two-thirds of the revenue from the 8 per cent excise on automobile parts and accessories.

The total diversion was estimated at 2½ billion dollars.

It was calculated that the extra money in the committee's plan would allow apportionment to the states of $1,800,000,000 this year for construction in the 1961 fiscal year beginning next July 1, and two billion in the following fiscal year.

House Hands Eisenhower Big Victory

229-201 Vote Bitter Defeat For Demo And Union Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House handed President Eisenhower a smashing victory Thursday by approving a bill he said is needed to end corruption in labor unions.

The 229-201 roll-call vote was a stinging defeat for House Democratic leaders and leaders of organized labor who had fought for a much milder antiracketeering bill. Eisenhower, taking his campaign to the people in a nationwide radio-TV speech last week, had said the Democratic bill wouldn't do the job of ending union abuses.

Eisenhower hailed the House action, saying it offers real hope that Congress will pass an effective union control measure. In a statement issued at his vacation headquarters at Gettysburg, Pa., the President said:

"With, I am sure, millions of Americans I applaud the House of Representatives for its vote today in support of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill which would deal effectively with the abuses disclosed by the McClellan committee.

Formal Vote Friday

"I congratulate all those who voted in support of this legislation. This action gives cause for real hope that the Congress will ultimately pass a good labor reform bill."

The House put off until Friday a formal vote on final passage of its bill, but that appeared a foregone conclusion.

In an angry, arm-waving speech before the vote, House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts accused the Eisenhower administration of exerting undue pressure on Republicans to support the bill Eisenhower wants. McCormack said that bill is slanted against organized labor.

McCormack shouted that Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers were at the Capitol applying the pressure. McCormack said they did so in a like situation last year, and that as a result many Republicans were defeated for re-election.

Substitute For Demo Bill

On the key vote, a coalition of 134 Republicans and 95 Democrats, mostly Southerners, massed behind the bill introduced by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich).

They substituted it for a measure drafted by the House Labor Committee. Democratic leaders, including Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), mustered 184 Democrats and 17 Republicans for the committee bill its backers termed a middle ground approach to the problem.

That left only the formality of a vote on final passage. Democratic strategists conceded they had little hope of upsetting the Eisenhower-backed bill. Its defeat would leave no labor legislation before the House.

However, there was some question as to what will happen to this bill once it gets into conference with the Senate. Last April, the Senate passed a labor control bill that stops well short of some of the stringent provisions in the Landrum-Griffin version.

Airliner In Safe Belly Landing

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)— A veteran Eastern Airlines pilot brought a DC7B to a safe belly landing Thursday after its landing gear jammed while he was on a routine flight with three other crewmen.

No one was injured in the landing at the nearby Pomona Airport on a runway covered with foam. The big, four-engined aircraft skidded some 1,500 feet before coming to a halt at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center.

Capt. Arthur V. Appleget, Cranbury, N.J., a pilot for 20 years with Eastern, decided on the belly landing after circling four hours over Newark, N.J., and Atlantic City with a faulty left landing gear.

The gear was locked in the "up" position when a door enclosing it jammed as the plane approached Newark Airport for the end of its training flight. The right gear had been functioning properly.

Four Killed When Army 'Copter Crashes In Lake

RUSSELL SPRINGS, Ky. (UPI) —An Army helicopter carrying four soldiers struck a telephone cable while flying low over Lake Cumberland Thursday, exploded and fell into the water, killing or drowning all aboard.

Bystanders who had exchanged hand-waved greetings with the helicopter's passengers a moment before said they saw four men on board, and this was later confirmed by Maj. Frank Gregg, commander of a detachment of troops from the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The troops have been maneuvering in this area around Wolf Creek Dam in southern Kentucky, and the helicopter was working with the ground troops. Gregg said there were a pilot, co-pilot, crew chief and one passenger aboard, but withheld their names pending their release by Ft. Campbell authorities.

The 'copter fell in 59 feet of water about 200 yards offshore from a boat dock operated by Scott McClain.

McClain said, "One of my kids hollered 'There's a helicopter coming up the lake,' and I looked in time to see it hit my telephone cable, which is about 100 feet above the water. It broke the cable in two, and there was a little explosion. The helicopter turned on its side and went straight down, and there was some flame before it hit the water."

McClain said he ran to an outboard motorboat and went to the spot, which he reached within 30 seconds, but he said the craft had disappeared 15 seconds after it hit.

Youngsters Make Hit With President

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower likes children. And he showed it again Thursday.

They got the most attention in the knots of people who showed up where he did—at the Gettysburg Country Club and his temporary office at the Hotel Gettysburg.

A four-time grandfather himself, Eisenhower was shaking hands with youngsters, patting them on the head, rumpling their hair, beaming at them, and calling out friendly greetings.

All in all, the President was a relaxed, effervescent, easy-going man. Evidently he is getting the rest and change of pace his associates want in advance of a heavy schedule of overseas conferences and talks with Soviet and free world leaders.

On a clear, sunny morning he was on the Gettysburg Country Club golf course at 8:10 a.m. He laughed uproariously when William E. Robinson and W. Alton Jones, New York business executives, loudly spurned his proposal that they play him and Dick Sleighter a best ball match.

Sleighter is the club pro and Pennsylvania Open champion.

As the President started to tee off for a second nine holes, a couple of youngsters scrambled past their parents, with a measure of encouragement, and got a friendly greeting from him.

"Hello there, young fellow," Eisenhower called out to 5-year-old Forrest Dwyer.

He ran his hand through the close-cropped hair of Forrest and his 3-year-old brother, Keith. Their mother, Mrs. John E. Dwyer, got a picture of it with a box camera.

The father is a St. Louis, Mo., bus driver, and he and his family are touring the East on vacation.

Senate Adopts Youth Corps Bill, 47 To 45

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to set up a youth conservation corps squeaked through the Senate Thursday on a 47-45 vote.

It is not expected to be considered by the House until next year. And if it ever gets to President Eisenhower, he is likely to veto it.

The corps would be similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps set up during the depression to find work for young men. Boys from 16 to 21 would work on conservation projects in forests, parks, wildlife refugees, rivers and public lands.

Forty-five Democrats and two Republicans, Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin and Milton R. Young of North Dakota, voted for the bill. Opposed were 30 Republicans and 15 Democrats.

The bill's author, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), called the vote a great step toward preventing juvenile delinquency and toward improving natural resources.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said there was no economic need for the corps. He also asked how the bill could be called a measure to combat juvenile delinquency, when it requires that only youths of good character be admitted.

Further, Dirksen noted that only healthy boys could join the corps, and said he just didn't know what was the purpose of a program like this, costing hundreds of millions of dollars.

NAACP Asks Integration Of Md. Training Schools

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Negro spokesmen asked Thursday that the State Board of Public Welfare ignore an opinion of the attorney general and start integrating Maryland's training schools for delinquents.

Tucker R. Dearing, attorney for the National Assn. of Colored People (NAACP), maintained that segregation in the four schools "flies in the face of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution."

In 1956, Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert held that the Supreme Court decision forbidding segregation in public schools does not apply to correctional schools.

Robert C. Murphy, assistant to Sybert, told the board Thursday that nothing has changed since 1956 to alter the department's opinion. He added that the board has no choice but to abide by the Legislature's laws on the matter.

Dearing appeared along with Carl Murphy, head of the NAACP's legal redress grievance committee.

They suggested three possible steps the board might take:

They suggested the board disregard the attorney general's opinion on the basis it conflicts with the 14th Amendment.

If that course were unacceptable, they said the board could ask the attorney general to reconsider the 1956 opinion, in light of other public integration moves since that time.

Or as a third alternative, the Negroes suggested the board could appeal to Gov. Tawes.

Red Warship Collides With German Vessel

AARHUS, Denmark (UPI) — A Soviet warship — believed to be a destroyer shadowing a 60-ship Allied armada engaged in large-scale NATO maneuvers—collided with a small German coastal vessel in the foggy Baltic Sea Thursday. No casualties were reported.

The 259-ton German motorship Christel reported a hole had been ripped in its bow by the collision 30 miles east-northeast of the West German port of Kiel. Two salvage tugs, the Weser and Goliath, went to the Christel's aid. The German ship reached Burgstaaken, Germany, Thursday night for repairs.

The Christel, with six persons aboard, was bound for Stockholm, Sweden, and Vasa, Finland, when the accident occurred, a spokesman for the owners said.

A Danish naval spokesman said the Soviet vessel was damaged only slightly, if at all. The vessel was last reported heading for the North Sea, apparently under its own power.

Works Board Approves Patuxent Salary Boosts

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Board of Public Works Thursday cleared the way for emergency action to increase the salaries of five key jobs at Patuxent Institution.

Gov. Tawes called it "the first step" in solving the problems of the unique prison for defective delinquents.

The board approved the recommendations of a special committee named by Tawes to study personnel and salaries at Patuxent and passed the report on to the Standard Salary Board for final action.

The special committee was one of three appointed by the governor at a meeting called after 34 inmates escaped from Patuxent last April.

The increases recommended were for associate director of treatment, from $11,045 annual to a maximum of $15,505; chief of the diagnostic clinic, from $11,045 to $15,505 maximum; director of medical research, from $12,409 to $15,505 maximum; chief psychologist, from $7,990 to $9,815 maximum, and psychiatric case supervisor, from $5,564 to $7,990 maximum.

The committees were set up to study and recommend solutions to the prison's three major needs—greater security from escapes, a more adequate psychiatric staff and a clearer definition of the institution's place in the makeup of the state government.

The committee studying the professional staff and salaries consisted of Dr. John C. Whitehorn of Johns Hopkins University, Dr. Isadore Tuerk, superintendent of Spring Grove State Hospital, and Commissioner of Personnel Russell S. Davis.

They recommended the five salary hikes as a step toward providing "a strong core of capable, professional people in psychiatry, psychology and social work who can offer leadership, supervision and training to younger, less-trained personnel."

In other action the board:

1. Approved $539,000 in contracts with six engineering firms for a survey of some 11,500 acres to be acquired by the state for Gunpowder Valley Park.

2. Heard a report that two appraisers have valued the property at Barrett School for Girls between $931,896 and $973,350. Baltimore had offered the state $498,000 for the land to extend runways at Friendship Airport, but Tawes said the city will be asked to revise this offer in light of the appraisals.

3. Approved a $59,500 contract with Robert Heller and Associates of Cleveland for an analysis of space usage and future requirements of a new Department of Motor Vehicles Building to be built in Glen Burnie. Work on the study will start Monday.

4. Endorsed the creation of some new jobs, such as chief supervisor in the state auditor's office, and the reclassification of others, such as chief of public health education in the State Department of Health. The board turned down some other requests for emergency action aimed at keeping qualified personnel.

5. Approved the addition of two attorneys to the staff of the State Roads Commission and increases in the annual salaries of the special assistant attorney general (from $12,500 to $14,000) and his 11 full-time assistants (from $8,000 to $9,000). The SRC said the move will enable the state to save money through the prompt handling of condemnation cases now piling up.

Young Mother May Have Polio Second Time

BALTIMORE (AP) — A young Salisbury mother was undergoing tests Thursday night in City Hospitals to determine whether she had been stricken with polio for the second time.

Mrs. Carolyn Candy Johnson, 23, of Princess Anne was brought here after Dr. Seth A. Hurdle, Wicomico County Health officer, reported she had suffered another attack of the disease.

Mrs. Johnson suffered polio the first time seven years ago, and it left her with partial paralysis of the right leg. Dr. Hurdle said the leg now is paralyzed.

City Hospitals said the woman expects her second child in December.

She is originally from Riverside, Calif., and has lived in Maryland only one year. Her husband, Roger Johnson, 27, is a chicken farmer. He is a native of New York State. They have a one-year-old son, Rick.

Columbus, O., is the largest of the cities in the United States named after America's discoverer.

Hancock Man Commutes 200 Miles Per Day

BALTIMORE (AP) — James H. Montgomery travels 200 miles a day.

It's not that his job with the State Roads Commission involves any traveling. Montgomery lives in Hancock, Washington County, and works in Baltimore. So he commutes.

The 61-year-old SRC employe has been making the trip since 1955 and doesn't mind it at all.

"I like to do it," he said. "It was an adventure I wanted to try."

Montgomery's daily adventure begins at 4:30 a.m. at his home in Hancock just three blocks from the bus depot. That's the hour he arises and, one hour later, he boards a bus for Baltimore.

He arrives at his desk by 8:30 after three hours of reading the newspapers, catching some catnaps and talking with his commuting cronies.

In the afternoon, it's back on a bus at 4:10 p.m., home at 7:30 p.m.

He will lose more time when Maryland returns to standard time in October. Then, his 4:30 bus will arrive at 7:30 in the morning, an hour before work begins at the SRC building. And in the evening, his bus doesn't leave until 5:45 arriving at 9:15.

Montgomery took the SRC job in 1955 because the work appealed to him. But he's lived in Hancock since 1909 and has no intention of moving.

"I like it there," he said. "I've never even thought of moving to Baltimore. All my friends and relatives are in Hancock."

On special evenings, when his office colleagues are having a party, Montgomery catches a later bus that doesn't get into Hancock until 10:40 p.m. Uusually, though, he's in bed by 10 every night.

"I plan to continue commuting as long as I'm able," he said, slipping away to catch a bus.

BTC Tax Break Recommended

BALTIMORE (AP)—Transit and Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes has recommended sweeping tax concessions for the Baltimore Transit Co. to preserve private transit service for Baltimore.

"There is no possibility of any such concessions this year," Mayor J. Harold Grady said Thursday in his first public comment on the proposals.

Under the Barnes plan the transit firm on its part, would convert the two remaining streetcar lines in the city to bus operations and pledge to offer more and better bus service. It also would begin constructing shelters for waiting passengers.

Barnes' proposals would:

1. Abolish a 3 per cent levy on BTC's gross receipts, which brought in $550,000 last year.

2. Rescind a 10 per cent net income tax levied against BTC alone which netted $140,000 last year. No other Maryland corporation pays the tax.

3. Permit the BTC to earn 6 per cent of its gross operating revenue as net income. It is now permitted a "reasonable" return, not a specific rate.

"Mr. Barnes speaks with authority on the technical aspects of transit and traffic control," Mayor Grady said, "but any recommendation about the financial structure of the BTC is regarded as merely one of many possibilities."

Western Md. Railway Planning Stock Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Maryland Railway Co. Thursday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to make a 2½ for 1 split of all classes of its capital stock.

The split would involve reducing the par value of the 7 per cent first preferred stock from $100 to $40; the 5 per cent first preferred stock from $30 to $12; and the 4 per cent second preferred stock from $100 to $40.

The company said the plan would broaden the trading base for these securities and improve their marketability.

Monorail System Planned For D.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary plans for a monorail transportation system for the Washington area are expected to be received in about 30 days, O. Roy Chalk, president of D.C. Transit System, said Thursday.

He said Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of Burbank, Calif. and the St. Louis Car Co. of St. Louis, Mo. are preparing plans.

Chalk proposes that one route extend from Washington to John Foster Dulles Airport in Virginia, and another from Washington to Rockville, Md. The possibility of placing some of the system underground also is being studied, he said.

Fairchild Will Produce Rotary Wing Aircraft

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Plans to produce a two-seat combination of helicopter and light airplane at the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp. here were announced Thursday.

Raymond E. Umbaugh, president of Umbaugh Aircraft Corp., Ocala, Fla., announced issuance of a subcontract to Fairchild for manufacture of the Umbaugh-18 rotary wing aircraft.

The jaunty looking wingless craft has a three-bladed rotor overhead, like a helicopter, and a pusher-type propeller behind the cabin or main fuselage.

For forward motion it uses the propeller, powered by a Lycoming 180-horsepower piston engine. Lift is provided by the rotor, but unlike that in a helicopter, the rotor is not powered during flight

Instead, the rotor receives its energy from the craft's forward or downward motion, just as was the case with the out-moded autogyro that preceded the helicopter.

However, for vertical takeoff the rotor blades are rotated briefly by the engine. The clutch is disconnected just before the craft leaves the ground, and the rotor blades continue spinning automatically until the craft gets under way.

The designer said the Umbaugh-18 would carry two persons, and would cruise at 100 miles an hour on a range of almost 400 miles.

The selling price was announced as $9,995, less than a quarter as much as the cheapest helicopter, and $3,000 or $4,000 more than the lowest-cost light airplane.

Its operation and maintenance costs were estimated at six cents a mile on the basis of 300 hours of flying time a year. Helicopters now in airline use operate for about 20 cents a mile.

"For the first time the public will be able to buy a mass-produced aircraft that requires little more skill than a car to operate, that won't stall or spin, and that can be flown in and out of an area not much bigger than a suburban backyard," Umbaugh said.

An experimental model of the craft is undergoing ground and flight tests at the Fairchild plant, and the machine also has started through the certification testing of the Federal Aviation Agency.

The contract calls for Fairchild to start tooling immediately and to begin production early next year.

"Much Better" Crop Of Baby Oysters Seen

SOLOMONS, Md. (AP)—Maryland's chief shellfish biologist Thursday predicted a good crop of baby oysters this fall in certain waters of lower Chesapeake Bay, including some of the state's best seed area.

G. Francis Beaven, senior shellfish biologist at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory, said the 1959 "set" of baby oysters in these waters promises to be "much better" than in other recent years.

The "set" is the number of baby oysters which attach to oysters shells or other cultch in oyster beds. It takes these tiny oysters about three years to reach harvesting size.

Beaven said the count of spat (young oysters) on test shells is 10 times greater than last year in St. Mary's River and four times greater than 1958 in the Barren Island area on the Eastern Shore.

Charleston Mayor Dies Unexpectedly

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Mayor John T. Copenhaver, a self-made farm boy who became one of West Virginia's most colorful political personalities, died unexpectedly Thursday.

He was 61.

Copenhaver was considered a likely contender for the Republican nomination for governor.

He had campaigned twice in Republican primaries, but lost in 1952 to the late Rush D. Holt and in 1956, to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood who nosed out Copenhaver by 7,300 votes.

He had gone to take a shower. When he overstayed, Mrs. Copenhaver found him dead in the bathroom.

Health Dept. Employes Get Driving Tests

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Health has begun a program aimed at reducing the number of highway accidents involving its own fleet of 500 cars.

The program is of a highly personal nature — involving no written tests, no gadgets. The instructor, who teaches a similar course in Hancock, Md., High School spends an hour driving with the subject, then gives a 15 minute critique of the performance.

"We think the prevention of accidents is a public health matter," says James K. Middleton, assistant chief of the department's bureau of management.

The special course is being given this summer to 187 persons who drive the department's fleet of cars almost daily. Eighty-three of them, mostly nurses and county health department employes, are what Middleton describes as "problem drivers."

In the nine years from 1950 through 1958, department vehicles traveled 20,645,000 miles and were involved in 148 accidents — an accident frequency rate of 0.72 per 100,000 miles. This is only a tiny fraction worse than the national average for commercial fleets.

The tests began July 6 in Rockville and will end Aug. 26 in Leonardtown.

541 Persons Killed

LONDON (UPI)—The ministry of transport said Wednesday that 541 persons died on British roads during June, a record high death toll for a single month. Those killed and injured over the 30 days totaled 30,930, with the heaviest casualties among motorcyclists and scooter riders.

Air Force Sergeant Slain; Youths Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sgt. Luther Buskson looked out his apartment window early today and told his wife:

"Those teen-agers are out there again."

Buskson had reported to police Monday night that somebody had broken the left front vent window of his car. He telephoned the police again Thursday morning, dressed and went outside to investigate.

The 25-year-old Air Force sergeant pursued one or more youths across the street. Neighbors heard several shots. They found Buskson lying on the ground nearby, shot three times in the chest, once in the left arm. He died in a hospital about an hour later.

Police broadcast a lookout for three Negro youths. The Busksons, also Negroes, moved here two years ago from Honolulu. They have three children.

GM Lays Off 2,500 At Its Two Baltimore Plants

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore's economy took another blow to the midsection Thursday as General Motors laid off 2,500 production workers at its two auto assembly plants in the Baltimore area.

The layoff is an annual thing, done to permit changeover for the new model cars. But the work stoppage of two to three weeks might have more far reaching effects because of the month-old steel strike.

GM said the layoff affects 1,500 workers at the Fisher Body Division and 1,000 to 1,200 at the Chevrolet Division. A skeleton crew of maintenance and office personnel will stay on the job.

A company spokesman declined to speculate about the effect of the current steel strike on the layoff.

Albert Mattes, president of United Auto Workers Local 239, said he does not believe the plants will re-open if the company has to shut down later because of lack of steel. Mattes also said he believes the shutdown will be closer to three to five weeks.

The company estimate was "two weeks, or three weeks at the most."

An estimatde 30,000 steelworkers in the Baltimore area already are out of work because of the strike, the bulk of them employed at Bethlehem Steel's giant Sparrows Point plant.

A threatened strike of shipyard workers, already working beyond their contract expiration date, would idle another 5,000 to 6,000 men.

Mr., Mrs. Otis Wisman Mark 56th Anniversary

A family gathering marked the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wisman Wednesday at their home, 502 Decatur Street. There was no formal celebration, as Mr. Wiseman, who has been bedfast for the past 11 years, is "just fairly well."

Mr. and Mrs. Wisman are both natives of Shenandoah County, Va. They were married August 12, 1903 at Woodstock, Va., and came to Cumberland to reside 49 years ago. Mr. Wisman first started in business in South Cumberland and later operated the Wisman's Market on the corner of Frederick and Decatur streets, until he suffered a heart attack 11 years ago.

The former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hite, Mrs. Wisman is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hite, and a great-great-granddaughter of Joisal Hite, the first settler in the Shenandoah Valley, going there in 1735. Although she is busy with her housekeeping, Mrs. Wisman's hobby is collecting antiques and doing needlework and crocheting.

Auxiliary 1125 Elects Convention Delegates

Members of Auxiliary 1125 of World War I Barracks elected delegates to the national convention and named a committee to assist the barracks in its second anniversary celebration at the meeting Wednesday evening at the VFW Home.

Delegates to the convention, which will be held in Louisville, Ky., September 20-24, are Mrs. Rosalie Everstine, Mrs. Catherine Wilson and Mrs. Eletha Thompson. Alternates are Mrs. Myrtle Brode, Mrs. Kathryn Kerns and Mrs. Ina Smith.

The committee to assist the barracks in its celebration November 21 consists of Mrs. Everstine, Mrs. Smith co-chairmen; Mrs. Catherine Wilson, Mrs. Brode, Mrs. Daisy Buskey, Mrs. Margaret Baker, Mrs. Josephine Shanski and Mrs. Diana Fuller.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds presided and reported on a letter she received from Rep. John R. Foley, in which he said he is giving the organization an American flag which was flown over the Capitol. It will be used by the auxiliary in the floor work. She also told of a letter from Merle Hopper, national legislative chairman, requesting letters be written to their representatives concerning Bill HR 7650, sponsored by Olin E. Teague of Texas, and asking that any reference to veterans of World War I and widows be deleted. She said that the pension of World War I veterans and widows is in jeopardy under the present bill and amendments. "The amendments lower income limitations and rates for veterans with no dependents; reduce single vets' pension to $30 after two months in the hospital; propose first $1,200 of wife's income rather than 50% for vets' pension purposes; and lower rates for widows."

Mr., Mrs. Otis Wisman Mark 56th Anniversary

A family gathering marked the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wisman Wednesday at their home, 502 Decatur Street. There was no formal celebration, as Mr. Wiseman, who has been bedfast for the past 11 years, is "just fairly well."

Mr. Wisman first started in business in South Cumberland and later operated the Wisman's Market on the corner of Frederick and Decatur streets, until he suffered a heart attack 11 years ago.

The former Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hite, Mrs. Wisman is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hite, and a great-great-granddaughter of Joisal Hite, the first settler in the Shenandoah Valley, going there in 1735. # Scientists Rush Work On Biggest Atom Smasher

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—In this physics laboratory, a sign on the wall reads:

"Early risers are conceited in the morning—and stupid in the afternoon."

A scientist who hates to get up in the morning hung it there to josh colleagues who, to him, are grievously bright and alert in the morning.

But it goes well that this team includes both morning-people and night-people.

For this team is working by day and many nights to build the most powerful atom smasher on earth.

It might have 10 times more effective energy than any machines now built or planned anywhere else, including the Soviet Union.

Their goal is to rip apart atoms and bits of atoms far more thoroughly than ever before, to learn what atoms are made of, what everything in the universe is really made of, and what forces hold atoms and people together.

The super atom splitter is a project of MURA, meaning the Midwestern Universities Research Assn. Scientists from 15 Midwest universities are engaged on it, with the Atomic Energy Commission footing most of the cost. The physical work is centered here near the University of Wisconsin.

Breaking atoms into significant tell-tale pieces is a major goal of basic science. The practical results could be fantastic.

The tiny hearts of atoms are marvelously complicated. More than 30 different particles have been identified. They now make up a confusing collection of strange atomic particles, explains Dr. Ragnar Rollefson, Wisconsin physics professor and director of MURA.

But if all of them can be sorted out and made sense of, then man may learn to change matter into energy, and energy into matter, safely, and at will. There could be vast medical, economic, and other benefits.

Hoover Urges Holdup-Curbing Steps By Banks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, disturbed by an "alarming increase" in bank robberies and burglaries, urged the nation's financial institutions Wednesday to make a special effort to thwart such crimes.

Hoover made the appeal in a six-page letter sent to all banking institutions and savings and loan associations subject to FBI investigation.

"In the past several months," he wrote, "there has been an alarming increase in violations of the federal bank robbery and incidental crime statute."

He reported 443 such violations in the 1957 fiscal year, 631 in fiscal 1958, and a record 764 bank break-ins and other violations in the 1959 fiscal year.

In view of this "upsurge," Hoover spelled out certain preventive measures and recommended various safety devices. He also outlined a number of steps in which each banking house could help the FBI and police in their investigations.

He called for regular testing of alarm and safety devices and careful observation of loiterers. He also recommended that banks vary their opening, closing and lunch-hour routines.

He urged officials to verify the authority of strange workmen seeking access to the premises. He said banks should keep a minimum amount of cash in the tellers' cages, and always lock vaults and entrance ways upon closing.

As security devices, the FBI chief specifically recommended silent alarm systems connected to local police or protection service, bullet proof glass at all tellers' windows, automatic photography systems and tear gas installations.

Donation Sent Guard Who Booted Tourist

LONDON (UPI)—A retired London businessman sent a $1.40 donation Wednesday to guardsman V. Footer, whose foot came into contact with an American woman tourist nine days ago while on duty at Buckingham Palace.

"It is time someone put his foot down to stop this nonsensical marauding and gawking in front of the guardsmen," said F. E. Crump in a letter to M. P. Marcus Lipton.

Crump told Lipton he was sending the $1.40 to Footer in case the guardsmen had lost any pay as a result of the alleged kicking incident. Footer was confined to barracks for 10 days.

"I am still waiting for the war office to reply to my protest against the punishment imposed on him," Lipton said.

Airline Takes Steps To Prevent "Goofs"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ever called an airline to find out if your wife's plane is on time, been told that it was and then gone out to the airport to find it was two hours late

Ever reserved space on a flight only to discover when you check in at the airport that the airline sold 51 seats on a 50-passenger plane and you're No. 51

Capital Airlines announced Wednesday it has done something about two of the most frequent complaints directed against airlines—inaccurate flight information and botched-up reservations.

Capital, the nation's fifth biggest carrier, has installed a mammoth, intricate electronic reservations - flight information system developed by Remington-Rand. It makes use of the famous electronic brain known as "Univac."

Capital is not the first airline to use an electronic reservation system. But it said it was the first to install one that serves all major cities on its routes.

Reds Build Laos Outbreak Into World Issue

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

The Berlin situation having cooled for a time, international communism is following its usual custom of never letting peace break out generally and launching a new threat in Asia.

A relatively minor outbreak of Communist raiding on the border between Laos and North Viet Nam is now being snowballed into a world issue. Red China is expressing fear for her safety which sounds a great deal like the fear of Poland expressed by Adolf Hitler 20 years ago this summer.

Communist North Viet Nam is using the same phraseology which Peiping used before its intervention in the Korean War.

Southeast Asia is taking the propaganda campaign seriously, since it could involve the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Laos is not a member, but has the standing offer of SEATO for help if she asks for it. Beyond extending aid through military advice and supplies the United States, Britain and their SEATO associates are reluctant to become involved.

The general stability of the Laotian government and its military position has improved in the past year, and its military forces have already shown signs of being able to contain the guerrilla tactics of the Communist-indoctrinated and Communist-supplied tribesmen.

It would have little chance, however, against a decision by North Viet Nam and Red China to intervene more directly, and some observers think that is what is about to happen.

Oddly enough, the whole business contravenes the soft Soviet propaganda line taken since arrangement for an exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev. It is considered possible that Red China has stirred up the whole business not only with an eye to testing the possibility of taking over Laos, but also to prevent the Kremlin from holding too much of the initiative at any time during the cold war.

The indication that Soviet cooperation in the Laos affair may be reluctant lies in the fact that she herself has soft pedaled her foreign intervention program along with the new face she attempts to present in the United States.

Her original effort to promote a Communist takeover in Iraq has been called off, at least for the moment. The radio propaganda campaign which she has conducted for months against the Shah and the Iranian government has been silenced.

But the pattern of alternate disturbances in Europe and Asia established by the Communists 10 years ago is being followed again.

Scientists Rush Work On Biggest Atom Smasher

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—In this physics laboratory, a sign on the wall reads:

"Early risers are conceited in the morning—and stupid in the afternoon."

A scientist who hates to get up in the morning hung it there to josh colleagues who, to him, are grievously bright and alert in the morning.

But it goes well that this team includes both morning-people and night-people.

For this team is working by day and many nights to build the most powerful atom smasher on earth.

It might have 10 times more effective energy than any machines now built or planned anywhere else, including the Soviet Union.

Their goal is to rip apart atoms and bits of atoms far more thoroughly than ever before, to learn what atoms are made of, what everything in the universe is really made of, and what forces hold atoms and people together.

The super atom splitter is a project of MURA, meaning the Midwestern Universities Research Assn. Scientists from 15 Midwest universities are engaged on it, with the Atomic Energy Commission footing most of the cost. The physical work is centered here near the University of Wisconsin.

Breaking atoms into significant tell-tale pieces is a major goal of basic science. The practical results could be fantastic.

The tiny hearts of atoms are marvelously complicated. More than 30 different particles have been identified. They now make up a confusing collection of strange atomic particles, explains Dr. Ragnar Rollefson, Wisconsin physics professor and director of MURA.

But if all of them can be sorted out and made sense of, then man may learn to change matter into energy, and energy into matter, safely, and at will. There could be vast medical, economic, and other benefits.

Hoover Urges Holdup-Curbing Steps By Banks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, disturbed by an "alarming increase" in bank robberies and burglaries, urged the nation's financial institutions Wednesday to make a special effort to thwart such crimes.

Hoover made the appeal in a six-page letter sent to all banking institutions and savings and loan associations subject to FBI investigation.

"In the past several months," he wrote, "there has been an alarming increase in violations of the federal bank robbery and incidental crime statute."

He reported 443 such violations in the 1957 fiscal year, 631 in fiscal 1958, and a record 764 bank break-ins and other violations in the 1959 fiscal year.

In view of this "upsurge," Hoover spelled out certain preventive measures and recommended various safety devices. He also outlined a number of steps in which each banking house could help the FBI and police in their investigations.

He called for regular testing of alarm and safety devices and careful observation of loiterers. He also recommended that banks vary their opening, closing and lunch-hour routines.

He urged officials to verify the authority of strange workmen seeking access to the premises. He said banks should keep a minimum amount of cash in the tellers' cages, and always lock vaults and entrance ways upon closing.

As security devices, the FBI chief specifically recommended silent alarm systems connected to local police or protection service, bullet proof glass at all tellers' windows, automatic photography systems and tear gas installations.

Donation Sent Guard Who Booted Tourist

LONDON (UPI)—A retired London businessman sent a $1.40 donation Wednesday to guardsman V. Footer, whose foot came into contact with an American woman tourist nine days ago while on duty at Buckingham Palace.

"It is time someone put his foot down to stop this nonsensical marauding and gawking in front of the guardsmen," said F. E. Crump in a letter to M. P. Marcus Lipton.

Crump told Lipton he was sending the $1.40 to Footer in case the guardsmen had lost any pay as a result of the alleged kicking incident. Footer was confined to barracks for 10 days.

"I am still waiting for the war office to reply to my protest against the punishment imposed on him," Lipton said.

Airline Takes Steps To Prevent "Goofs"

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ever called an airline to find out if your wife's plane is on time, been told that it was and then gone out to the airport to find it was two hours late

Ever reserved space on a flight only to discover when you check in at the airport that the airline sold 51 seats on a 50-passenger plane and you're No. 51

Capital Airlines announced Wednesday it has done something about two of the most frequent complaints directed against airlines—inaccurate flight information and botched-up reservations.

Capital, the nation's fifth biggest carrier, has installed a mammoth, intricate electronic reservations - flight information system developed by Remington-Rand. It makes use of the famous electronic brain known as "Univac."

Capital is not the first airline to use an electronic reservation system. But it said it was the first to install one that serves all major cities on its routes.

Reds Build Laos Outbreak Into World Issue

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

The Berlin situation having cooled for a time, international communism is following its usual custom of never letting peace break out generally and launching a new threat in Asia.

A relatively minor outbreak of Communist raiding on the border between Laos and North Viet Nam is now being snowballed into a world issue. Red China is expressing fear for her safety which sounds a great deal like the fear of Poland expressed by Adolf Hitler 20 years ago this summer.

Communist North Viet Nam is using the same phraseology which Peiping used before its intervention in the Korean War.

Southeast Asia is taking the propaganda campaign seriously, since it could involve the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Laos is not a member, but has the standing offer of SEATO for help if she asks for it. Beyond extending aid through military advice and supplies the United States, Britain and their SEATO associates are reluctant to become involved.

The general stability of the Laotian government and its military position has improved in the past year, and its military forces have already shown signs of being able to contain the guerrilla tactics of the Communist-indoctrinated and Communist-supplied tribesmen.

It would have little chance, however, against a decision by North Viet Nam and Red China to intervene more directly, and some observers think that is what is about to happen.

Oddly enough, the whole business contravenes the soft Soviet propaganda line taken since arrangement for an exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev. It is considered possible that Red China has stirred up the whole business not only with an eye to testing the possibility of taking over Laos, but also to prevent the Kremlin from holding too much of the initiative at any time during the cold war.

The indication that Soviet cooperation in the Laos affair may be reluctant lies in the fact that she herself has soft pedaled her foreign intervention program along with the new face she attempts to present in the United States.

Her original effort to promote a Communist takeover in Iraq has been called off, at least for the moment. The radio propaganda campaign which she has conducted for months against the Shah and the Iranian government has been silenced.

But the pattern of alternate disturbances in Europe and Asia established by the Communists 10 years ago is being followed again.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Corn was firm, but other grains were irregularly lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to off ¼; corn up ⅛ to ⅝; oats unchanged; new oats unchanged to off ½; rye off ⅞ to up ¼; soybeans off ⅝ to 1⅛.

Wheat futures declined under scattered commission house selling. Commercial interests were inactive, and only small mill buying was reported. Traders looked for the export business to pick up very soon.

Corn was quiet and mostly firm. September had the best buying, which was regarded as local short covering. Cash houses also bought September. Other buying orders a little below the market price remained. Receipts were light, and the spot basis was ½ cent higher. Export subsidies were granted on 404,000 bushels of corn. Other bids were rejected.

Scattered liquidation in oats eased the market.

Rye was mixed. A commission house broker sold May. Local traders also were sellers. Some was regarded as for Canadian account.

In soybeans, scattered commission house selling weakened prices. The government crop estimate, which effected a loss of nearly 5 cents Wednesday, continued to block any prospective buyers. Resting orders provided the only support.

Japan was said to have purchased 5,000 tons of soybeans for October-November shipment. Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Prices Move Narrowly In Slow Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock trading lapsed into an extremely narrow pattern with activity dropping off to the slowest pace in more than a year.

Turnover of 2,020,000 shares for the session ran 680,000 below Wednesday and was the smallest total since May 19, 1958.

Industrials and utilities closed slightly higher on average, rails somewhat lower, leaving the Dow-Jones 65 stock average unchanged on the day. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.10 to 59.15.

While the stocks used in compiling the averages held in a limited range, there were a few wide moves—losses ranging to 5 points in International Business Machines; gains of as much as 3½ in Dana Corp.

Electronics were mostly higher with gains of 2 points in Litton, a point or more in Amplex, Magnavox and Texas Instruments.

Aircrafts showed losses running to 3⅞ points in Curtiss-Wright, 2¼ in Bendix, 1⅝ in North American Aviation.

Steels were lower for the most part with National down 1½, Wheeling 1¼. Among non-ferrous metals, Miami Copper and National Lead rose 1½. Kennecott ¾ point. Motors were narrowly mixed. Allied fell 2 in the chemicals, American Home Products 1⅝, Merck 1⅛ in the drugs.

Among the wider gainers, West Virginia Pulp & Paper rose 2. Universal Match 2¾. Philadelphia & Reading 2. On the downside, General Mills lost 2 points, Edison Brothers Stores 2, Corning Glass ¾ point. Motors were narrowly 3¼.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Corn was firm, but other grains were irregularly lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was unchanged to off ¼; corn up ⅛ to ⅝; oats unchanged; new oats unchanged to off ⅛; rye off ⅜ to up ¼; soybeans off ⅝ to 1⅛.

Wheat futures declined under scattered commission house selling. Commercial interests were inactive, and only small mill buying was reported. Traders looked for the export business to pick up very soon.

Corn was quiet and mostly firm. September had the best buying, which was regarded as local short covering. Cash houses also bought September. Other buying orders a little below the market price remained. Receipts were light, and the spot basis was ½ cent higher. Export subsidies were granted on 404,000 bushels of corn. Other bids were rejected.

Scattered liquidation in oats eased the market.

Rye was mixed. A commission house broker sold May. Local traders also were sellers. Some was regarded as for Canadian account.

In soybeans, scattered commission house selling weakened prices. The government crop estimate, which effected a loss of nearly 5 cents Wednesday, continued to block any prospective buyers. Resting orders provided the only support.

Japan was said to have purchased 5,000 tons of soybeans for October-November shipment. Outside markets were mixed. The range:

Prices Move Narrowly In Slow Market Session

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock trading lapsed into an extremely narrow pattern with activity dropping off to the slowest pace in more than a year.

Turnover of 2,020,000 shares for the session ran 680,000 below Wednesday and was the smallest total since May 19, 1958.

Industrials and utilities closed slightly higher on average, rails somewhat lower, leaving the Dow-Jones 65 stock average unchanged on the day. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.10 to 59.15.

While the stocks used in compiling the averages held in a limited range, there were a few wide moves—losses ranging to 5 points in International Business Machines; gains of as much as 3½ in Dana Corp.

Electronics were mostly higher with gains of 2 points in Litton, a point or more in Amplex, Magnavox and Texas Instruments.

Aircrafts showed losses running to 3⅞ points in Curtiss-Wright, 2¼ in Bendix, 1⅝ in North American Aviation.

Steels were lower for the most part with National down 1½, Wheeling 1¼. Among non-ferrous metals, Miami Copper and National Lead rose 1½. Kennecott ¾ point. Motors were narrowly mixed. Allied fell 2 in the chemicals, American Home Products 1⅝, Merck 1⅛ in the drugs.

Among the wider gainers, West Virginia Pulp & Paper rose 2, Universal Match 2¾. Philadelphia & Reading 2. On the downside, General Mills lost 2 points, Edison Brothers Stores 2, Corning Glass ¾ point. Motors were narrowly 3¼.

Elusive Answer To Radiation Problem Sought In Japan

Edtor's Note—"Only Hiroshima and Nagasaki, can prove the human effects of A-bombings," a Japanese doctor says. But even in those cities, blasted 14 years ago, researchers today are encountering tantalizing problems in evaluating those effects. The third of four articles explains why large areas of ignorance remain.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP)—"Seventeenth A-bomb victim dies so far this year," says the newspaper headline.

Fact or guess?

Death had stolen a patient in a hospital set up especially to care for survivors of A-bombings.

Was this death basically caused or hastened by exposure to bomb radiation? And what is the toll?

This is the critical but elusive answer sought by doctors, scientists and citizens here in Nagasaki and in Hiroshima.

Part of the answer will come from patients now being treated under a government program of free medical care for survivors of the bombings. It started only two years ago, with special hospitals built, special examination clinics established, doctors' cooperation enlisted.

By the thousands, survivors are getting medical checkups to learn if they are all right. The vast majority still are.

In Nagasaki last year, 25,000 had screening exams, of whom 6,600 were judged needing more careful diagnosis. Another 550 are receiving hospital care or home care.

In Hiroshima, 44,000 took the exams last year, 6,700 received further check, and 628 were found needing treatment.

This does not mean all had ailments caused by radiation exposure. Thousands who are listed as survivors, did not get radiation, through distance, or shielding protection of buildings. Some now sick could have illnesses due to causes other than radiation.

There's no means of telling offhand. Autopsies after death can help pin down the question. So can the rate of various illnesses among irradiated survivors compared with those not irradiated, or persons never bombed.

Individual doctors can and do express their medical opinions based on their observations. Popularly it's an easy assumption that anyone dying in an A-bomb hospital must perforce have been irradiated.

But a true and meaningful tally is difficult with all the margins for error.

Statistical and medical studies by Japanese doctors and by the Atom Bomb Casualty Commission are seeking these facts too. Financed mainly by U.S. funds, ABCC was started in 1947 as a joint American-Japanese project. It has some 900 Japanese staff members and 50 foreigners, mainly Americans.

It is purely a research organization, explains Dr. George Darling, ABCC director.

But A-bomb survivors hungering for personal treatment for years regarded ABCC unhappily at first. Many also felt the studies were simply using Japanese people as guinea pigs of medical research.

The ABCC's role and goal in research now are being more appreciated, thinks Prof. Tatsuo Morito, president of Hiroshima University "for we must have a scientific way to decide the effects. It is important not only for people here, but for humanity. Only Hiroshima and Nagasaki can prove the human effects of A-bombings."

At the A-bomb hospital in Nagasaki, "we are concerned mainly with radiation effects on internal organs, such as the liver and bone marrow, glands, and blood, and cancers," explains Prof. Dr. Soitiro Yokota, director.

Was a patient really irradiated, and by how much? Each one fills out a detailed questionnaire, telling where he was when the bomb went off, how far from the center, whether in an open field, in a building or shelter, and what kind, whether he was injured, or had any radiation symptoms soon after the bombing.

Dr. Yokota reports more leukemia among bomb survivors. He is treating patients with anemias, liver complications, a few with cancers.

The hospital cares for nearly 100 patients at a time, will be expanded soon to accommodate about 250.

Some patients go home after treatment, a few have stayed for a year so far, and some die. Autopsies are performed.

All reports are submitted to the Welfare Ministry for determination whether radiation effects were involved, Dr. Yokota says.

Churches Push "Operation Bootstrap" Program For U. S. Indians

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The churches are pushing an "operation bootstrap" program for the American Indians similar to the program that gave Puerto Rico a boost up the nation's economic ladder.

When missionaries first went among the American Indians more than 300 years ago, they preached the Gospel, working on the theory that if they saved the red men's souls, the red men then would do whatever else was needed to save themselves.

Today's missionary often seems more like a social worker than a preacher. He takes the Bible along on his mission, but he practices what it says more than he preaches it.

The Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches figures there are between 300,000 and 400,000 Indians on reservations in the United States. Thousands of others are in cities, but no one knows how many.

Louisa Shotwell, associate secretary of the national council's Home Missions Division, said that "one way or another," the churches have reached just about every Indian. In the cities, Indians are reached at special centers set up to help them. On the reservations, they are reached in schools, hospitals or even their own homes.

The council brings pressure on Congress for legislation to help the Indians, channels information to private agencies, sponsors school religious programs and advises missionary groups.

Since World War II many Indians have left reservations to seek jobs in cities, Miss Shotwell said, but most have stayed behind, preferring the security of their natural surroundings.

"It is a big adjustment for an Indian to move," she said. "Life in the city is totally unlike the reservation, where there is no concept of time and no profit motive.

"There is a big movement within the Indian population to keep the Indians on the reservation and to develop resources to keep them there."

Among the economic developments that could be promoted through congressional legislation, she said, were cattle raising, leasing land to farmers, mining minerals, drilling for oil and construction of plants on or near reservations.

Some legislation along these lines already has been introduced. Miss Shotwell said the Indians need a program such as that under which industries were built in Puerto Rico to boost the standards of living there.

Other needs outlined by the council include a stepped up government program to educate every Indian child, greater city church help for Indians who leave reservations, and a coordinated program to protect Indians as the government gradually relaxes its control over them.

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—The historically famous defense system known as the lines of Torres Vedras, built 150 years ago during the Peninsular War, is to be reconstructed, it was reported on Wednesday. The newspaper Diario Popular said work was ordered by the army ministry, which has appointed a commission of five experts to supervise the repairs.

Churches Push "Operation Bootstrap" Program For U. S. Indians

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — The churches are pushing an "operation bootstrap" program for the American Indians similar to the program that gave Puerto Rico a boost up the nation's economic ladder.

When missionaries first went among the American Indians more than 300 years ago, they preached the Gospel, working on the theory that if they saved the red men's souls, the red men then would do whatever else was needed to save themselves.

Today's missionary often seems more like a social worker than a preacher. He takes the Bible along on his mission, but he practices what it says more than he preaches it.

The Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches figures there are between 300,000 and 400,000 Indians on reservations in the United States. Thousands of others are in cities, but no one knows how many.

Louisa Shotwell, associate secretary of the national council's Home Missions Division, said that "one way or another," the churches have reached just about every Indian. In the cities, Indians are reached at special centers set up to help them. On the reservations, they are reached in schools, hospitals or even their own homes.

The council brings pressure on Congress for legislation to help the Indians, channels information to private agencies, sponsors school religious programs and advises missionary groups.

Since World War II many Indians have left reservations to seek jobs in cities, Miss Shotwell said, but most have stayed behind, prefering the security of their natural surroundings.

"It is a big adjustment for an Indian to move," she said. "Life in the city is totally unlike the reservation, where there is no concept of time and no profit motive.

"There is a big movement within the Indian population to keep the Indians on the reservation and to develop resources to keep them there."

Among the economic developments that could be promoted through congressional legislation, she said, were cattle raising, leasing land to farmers, mining minerals, drilling for oil and construction of plants on or near reservations.

Some legislation along these lines already has been introduced. Miss Shotwell said the Indians need a program such as that under which industries were built in Puerto Rico to boost the standards of living there.

Other needs outlined by the council include a stepped up government program to educate every Indian child, greater city church help for Indians who leave reservations, and a coordinated program to protect Indians as the government gradually relaxes its control over them.

Meg Joins Family

BALMORAL, Scotland (UPI)—Princess Margaret joined the vacationing royal family here on Thursday. She was accompanied on the 50-mile trip from Aberdeen Station to Balmoral by Lt. Jean Lajeunesse, 27-year-old French-Canadian who recently was appointed French tutor to 10-year-old Prince Charles.

To Rebuild Defenses

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—The historically famous defense system known as the lines of Torres Vedras, built 150 years ago during the Peninsular War, is to be reconstructed, it was reported on Wednesday. The newspaper Diario Popular said work was ordered by the army ministry, which has appointed a commission of five experts to supervise the repairs.

About one in five suffer from tired eyes because of a lack of glasses when they are needed or the wearing of wrong glasses.

Kenyon college in Gambier, O., is believed to be the earliest example of collegiate Gothic architecture in the United States.

Richard McElfish was awarded the Bucky Beaver Award for the outstanding Scout of the troop during the summer camping period.

Adult leaders who assisted the scotmaster at camp included Dr. Elmsley, Robert Thom, Charles Nuzum, Rex Swisher, Donald Paulman, Herbert Lehr, Paul Fisher, James Faiser, Donald Bradfield and George Scarlett.

In old China, the deer, phoenix, tortoise and the dragon were the creatures most often carved, because they were believed to have been the four creatures which witnessed the creation of the world.

Community Council Will Hear Miss Walsh

Miss Mary Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, will speak at a meeting of the Community Council today at 8 p. m. at the Woman's Civic Club.

Mrs. Bruce Douglas, president, said a business session will precede the program and that all organization representatives should attend.

Lion's Eye Conservation Plan To Be Outlined

The eye conservation program sponsored by Lions clubs will be outlined at a meeting of public health nurses of Allegany and Garrett counties and the Lions clubs of Region 1, next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the City Hall at Frostburg.

James H. Smith, deputy district governor of Region 1, said the meeting has been called in order to insure that all children needing eye care prior to the next school term can be taken care of by the Lions program.

The chairman and full membership of eye conservation committees from the various clubs in Allegany and Garrett counties are to attend, Smith said. Heading the nurses will be Mrs. Vauda J. McGann, public health nurse.

Smith explained that the meeting has been scheduled to outline to the nurses the territory over which each Lions club has jurisdiction. In the past, he continued, delay in the treatment of children with eye disorders has been encountered when the wrong clubs have been contacted for assistance.

It is hoped that each child needing eye care can be taken care of prior to the start of school, Smith stated.

Polio Vaccine Is Available In West Virginia

Director Claims "No Shortage"

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Thursday West Virginia was not in danger of experiencing a shortage of polio vaccine unless there is a sharp rise in the number of cases during the next few weeks.

Dyer said excess supplies of polio vaccine were being sent to states where epidemics are under way or one is threatened.

But he said the supply in West Virginia was low and would remain that way at least for a few weeks. It will be that long before vaccine manufacturers are caught up with requests for the serum, he said.

West Virginia has only 32 cases reported this year compared to 36 during the corresponding period of 1958.

"We do not expect an epidemic this year unless there is a sudden rise in the number of cases," Dyer said. "It is rather difficult to determine whether a shortage of vaccine exists in this state, though we know it is hard to get right now because most of it is being sent to North Carolina, Virginia, Iowa and Michigan."

Dyer said one county health director had informed him the supply of vaccine at his disposal had been extinguished and that he was not able to obtain a new supply immediately. The health official said if a series of polio cases were reported in that area a shift probably would be made of vaccine available elsewhere in the state.

Polio Vaccine Is Available In West Virginia

Director Claims "No Shortage"

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Thursday West Virginia was not in danger of experiencing a shortage of polio vaccine unless there is a sharp rise in the number of cases during the next few weeks.

Dyer said excess supplies of polio vaccine were being sent to states where epidemics are under way or one is threatened.

But he said the supply in West Virginia was low and would remain that way at least for a few weeks. It will be that long before vaccine manufacturers are caught up with requests for the serum, he said.

West Virginia has only 32 cases reported this year compared to 36 during the corresponding period of 1958.

"We do not expect an epidemic this year unless there is a sudden rise in the number of cases," Dyer said. "It is rather difficult to determine whether a shortage of vaccine exists in this state, though we know it is hard to get right now because most of it is being sent to North Carolina, Virginia, Iowa and Michigan."

Dyer said one county health director had informed him the supply of vaccine at his disposal had been extinguished and that he was not able to obtain a new supply immediately. The health official said if a series of polio cases were reported in that area a shift probably would be made of vaccine available elsewhere in the state.

Firemen Receive Dragline

MOOREFIELD—George Branson, manager of Potomac Farms Dairy Products, donated a drag line to the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company for use in rescue work and for dragging the river and ponds.

In the past local firemen have been hampered in searching for missing persons in having to borrow drag lines from the Harrisonburg, Va. Rescue Squad or from the Piedmont Volunteer Fire Company. This has caused a delay of several hours each time.

L. L. McConnell, president of the Moorefield firemen, expressed his thanks on behalf of the fire company for the donation.

C. C. Hesen, Chief of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, Jan Schmutz, secretary, and Mike Wysong were named as delegates from the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company to the current State Firemen's Convention in Berkeley Springs.

Several other members of the local company are also attending.

Garrett Co. Group Attends Session At W. Va. University

OAKLAND—Future co-eds from Garrett County area high schools attended the annual College Parade sponsored by West Virginia University.

The afternoon began with a get-acquainted session around the punch bowl for the girls and their mothers. Mrs. Milton H. Leonard's hostesses helped with the introductions.

Then the young guests got the "low down" on campus life. Questions on clothes, roommates, curriculum, professors, grooming and dating were answered by the panelists. Mrs. George Wolfe was moderator and the speakers were Mrs. William Eugene, Mrs. Jack Force, Mary Downs and Mrs. Ray Hendry.

The agenda was finished off with a preview of top fall fashions which gave the impression that going to school will be a pleasure.

Lonaconing Council Holds Routine Session

Garbage, Sewage Problems Aired

LONACONING—Mayor Robert D. Peebles presided at the Town of Lonaconing council meeting on Monday evening with all councilmen present. The Allegany County Commissioners in a letter requested information for the Green Associates survey in conjunction with the Georges Creek sewerage disposal plan, the tax rate in Lonaconing for the past 20 years and other ratings pertinent for their survey. Lonaconing's tax rate was 75c until the last six years it was raised to 85c.

Allegany County Health Board requested in a letter that garbage not be dumped at the far end of Oak Hill Cemetery, at Lonaconing. The Mayor and Council asks the full cooperation of townspeople to stop dumping any garbage beside the cemetery.

Catch basins and ditches have been cleaned and taken care of, it was reported at this meeting. There will be parking signs erected on the north side of East Main Street designating one-hour parking limit.

Two fire extinguishers have been installed in the council hall building; one fire extinguisher in the town truck; one also in the police cruiser.

Wilmoth Garlitz, former mayor of Lonaconing, was appointed to the Civil Service Commission to replace Calvin James, who is now city clerk.

Garbage containers must be cleaned after garbage collections and all garbage wrapped properly for the garbage truck collectors to be able to empty the containers. The Mayor and Council stresed that citizens should give their cooperation in having their garbage cans in sanitary conditions for the weekly collections which are provided by the town.

Financial report for July was distributed and approved. The next meeting will be held on Monday, August 24. Two meetings are held each month.

Firemen Receive Dragline

MOOREFIELD—George Branson, manager of Potomac Farms Dairy Products, donated a drag line to the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company for use in rescue work and for dragging the river and ponds.

In the past local firemen have been hampered in searching for missing persons in having to borrow drag lines from the Harrisonburg, Va. Rescue Squad or from the Piedmont Volunteer Fire Company. This has caused a delay of several hours each time.

L. L. McConnell, president of the Moorefield firemen, expressed his thanks on behalf of the fire company for the donation.

C. C. Hesen, Chief of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, Jan Schmutz, secretary, and Mike Wysong were named as delegates from the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company to the current State Firemen's Convention in Berkeley Springs.

Several other members of the local company are also attending.

Grant County Assessments Show Decrease

Real Estate Values Advance

PETERSBURG — All taxable Grant County property has been assessed at a total valuation of $13,583,895, according to figures released by Assessor Albert H. Hull.

The figure is $456,565 less than the total valuation placed on all taxable property for 1958, which represented an all-time high.

Personal property assessments for 1958 were $3,890,375 as compared with $2,753,650 for 1959, a decrease of $1,207,025. Most of the decrease is attributed to the constitutional amendment which was adopted last fall to eliminate money and bank deposits. This was a state-wide tax relief measure, so Grant County is not alone in having its assessed valuation decreased.

Real estate in the county showed an increase of $703,595. A spot check made by the state showed that Class II property in the district was standing at 39 per cent and Class II property in the municipalities was standing at 44 per cent. The assessments in the district were increased ten per cent and assessments in municipalities were increased five per cent, thereby bringing assessments on all residential properties in the district and the municipalities to 49 per cent. It is believed that by 1960 the assessments will have reached the required 50 per cent.

Total assessments on real estate for 1959 is $7,075,840 as compared with $6,372,245 for 1958.

Assessments on Class II property which takes in all real estate in the county other than business properties increased $520,795 over the assessments for last year. Figures for this year were $5,087,385 compared with $4,566,590 for 1958.

Class III real estate, business properties in the district showed an increase of $79,060 as compared with last year's figures.

Business properties which are within the municipalities and are categorized under Class IV real estate took a jump of $103,740 as compared with assessments for 1958. Total assessments on these properties in 1958 were $959,055 as compared with $1,062,795 for 1959.

Public utility property in the county was down a slight margin over last year's assessments. Public utilities for 1958 were assessed at $1,641,000 as compared with $1,613,900 for this year.

In the municipality of Petersburg, real estate was assessed at $1,363,010 for this year as compared with $1,239,905 for last year.

MAY SET FEE

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — City Council had under consideration Thursday an ordinance setting a $10 fee for each use of the Wheeling Fire Department's Emergency Car. Some council members oppose the move noting the equipment "is one of the best pieces of public relations" the city has.

Morgan County Fair Queen And Princesses

This beautiful float was seen in the Morgan County Fair parade at Berkeley Springs. On the float at the extreme right is Miss Dorothy Ann Willard, 18, of Berkeley Springs, who was chosen Fair Queen. # Democrat Registrations Show Gain In Garrett Co.

OAKLAND—Seventy-six voters were lost through death within a six-month period, it was reported from the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections. The board met to make plans for registration dates within the county and to tabulate registration totals.

At the end of September 1958, there were 3,612 Democrats and 6,019 Republicans in the county.

The report for the period January 1 to July 1 shows that the Democrats had a net loss of four while Republicans had a net loss of 36.

Both parties had 20 new registrations. Democrats had 15 males and five females, while the Republicans had 10 males and 10 females.

Democrats had two cancellations, lost none through re-affiliation, gained eight through re-affiliation, and lost 30 through death.

Republicans had three cancellations, lost five males and two females through re-affiliation, gained none through re-affiliation and lost through death a total of 46. The eighth person to re-affiliate with the Democrats was an Independent.

The totals now show 3,608 Democrats, and 5,983 Republicans.

Albert Shaffer, president of the board, said arrangements have been made for a registration period to be held at Deer Park tomorrow. He said a schedule for additional registration in districts would be set up for September. Some would be for a half day, and others for a full day.

He also offered old ballot boxes to organizations that could use them. The old ballot boxes are no longer in use since voting machines are being used at all times.

KILLED AT MINE

PINEVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — A rib roll at the Kopperstone mine of Eastern Gas & Fuel Associates Wednesday claimed the life of Robert Thomas, Jr. 22. The mine is about 25 miles from this Wyoming County community.

Western Hoe-Down Plans Complete

FROSTBURG—The second annual western hoe-down will be held at Maplehurst Country Club Saturday. Western food, entertainment and square dancing will be featured.

The driveway will be lighted with paper sack with candles inside at 10 foot intervals from Grahamtown to the clubhouse.

The club is investigating the possibility of a swiming pool on the grounds. Tentative plans are also being arranged for an ice skating rink in front of the club house. The area would serve as a patio during the summer months and during the winter as a rink.

Reservations may be made with Robert Prichard.

LYON HONORED

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The manager of the Huntington Veterans administration, Dr. George M. Lyon, has received the organization's highest award. The Exceptional Service Award was given to Dr. Lyon for his work as special assistant to the chief medical director for atomic medicine from 1947-56.

From 60 to 80 per cent of the traffic fatalities in American cities are pedestrians.

Democratic National Chairman's Sons Working At Bedford Springs Hotel

BEDFORD — "After a few years of law practice, I might go into politics like Dad did."

These are the words of a Bedford Springs Hotel bellhop — but a bellhop with a promising future and an interesting family past.

He is Brian Butler, 17-year-old son of Paul Butler, national chairman of the Democratic party.

With his brother, Kevin, 19, Brian is spending the summer bellhopping at the local resort hotel.

"I'm entering Rockhurst College in Kansas City this fall," he says. "All the rest of the family went to Notre Dame, which is in our home town, but I thought I'd like to go somewhere else."

He plans to take a liberal arts course at the small Jesuit institution. After that, law school at Notre Dame. Brother Kevin is already a junior at Notre Dame, and also plans to enter law, but unlike Brian has expressed no political ambition.

Brian displayed some political aptitude in his answer to a question on prospects for Democratic presidential hopefuls. Mentioning none by name, he said, "There are five or six big candidates, but someone else could slip in and win the nomination if two of them would split the convention. You never know what a national convention might do."

Kevin and Brian applied for their Bedford jobs early in the spring.

"We had a little trouble getting the jobs!" Brian said.

"You meet all types of people," Brian says of the bellhopping job. "I like it very much."

What happens when Republicans jam into the old hotel, as they do in overwhelming numbers?

"I just keep quiet about politics. So far no one has asked me anything about politics," Brian went on. "I just sort of had to hide in the corner and stay away when the Pennsylvania treasurers were here." He was recalling the June convention of county treasurers, a group in which Republicans are in a vast majority.

"I just don't mention what I am, and no one knows whom I am," Brian said. "This keeps down political discussion."

Wildcat Strike Hits Kaiser Plant

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — The huge Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. plant here Thursday began an operations shutdown caused by a "wildcat" strike of United Steelworkers Union, Local 5668, AFL-CIO.

Supervisory personnel began tapping out the metal from the plants 656 pots which produce 145,000 tons of primary aluminum annually.

The walkout, termed "illegal" began Tuesday night when some 160 employes left their jobs. No reason was given for the walkout.

Some 2,000 persons are employed at the Ravenswood works.

Democrat Registrations Show Gain In Garrett Co.

OAKLAND—Seventy-six voters were lost through death within a six-month period, it was reported from the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections. The board met to make plans for registration dates within the county and to tabulate registration totals.

At the end of September 1958, there were 3,612 Democrats and 6,019 Republicans in the county.

The report for the period January 1 to July 1 shows that the Democrats had a net loss of four while Republicans had a net loss of 36.

Both parties had 20 new registrations. Democrats had 15 males and five females, while the Republicans had 10 males and 10 females.

Democrats had two cancellations, lost none through re-affiliation, gained eight through re-affiliation, and lost 30 through death.

Republicans had three cancellations, lost five males and two females through re-affiliation, gained none through re-affiliation and lost through death a total of 46. The eighth person to re-affiliate with the Democrats was an Independent.

The totals now show 3,608 Democrats, and 5,983 Republicans.

Albert Shaffer, president of the board, said arrangements have been made for a registration period to be held at Deer Park tomorrow. He said a schedule for additional registration in districts would be set up for September. Some would be for a half day, and others for a full day.

He also offered old ballot boxes to organizations that could use them. The old ballot boxes are no longer in use since voting machines are being used at all times.

Democratic National Chairman's Sons Working At Bedford Springs Hotel

BEDFORD — "After a few years of law practice, I might go into politics like Dad did."

These are the words of a Bedford Springs Hotel bellhop — but a bellhop with a promising future and an interesting family past.

He is Brian Butler, 17-year-old son of Paul Butler, national chairman of the Democratic party.

With his brother, Kevin, 19, Brian is spending the summer bellhopping at the local resort hotel.

"I'm entering Rockhurst College in Kansas City this fall," he says. "All the rest of the family went to Notre Dame, which is in our home town, but I thought I'd like to go somewhere else."

He plans to take a liberal arts course at the small Jesuit institution. After that, law school at Notre Dame. Brother Kevin is already a junior at Notre Dame, and also plans to enter law, but unlike Brian has expressed no political ambition.

Brian displayed some political aptitude in his answer to a question on prospects for Democratic presidential hopefuls. Mentioning none by name, he said, "There are five or six big candidates, but someone else could slip in and win the nomination if two of them would split the convention. You never know what a national convention might do."

Kevin and Brian applied for their Bedford jobs early in the spring.

"We had a little trouble getting the jobs!" Brian said.

"You meet all types of people," Brian says of the bellhopping job. "I like it very much."

What happens when Republicans jam into the old hotel, as they do in overwhelming numbers?

"I just keep quiet about politics. So far no one has asked me anything about politics," Brian went on. "I just sort of had to hide in the corner and stay away when the Pennsylvania treasurers were here." He was recalling the June convention of county treasurers, a group in which Republicans are in a vast majority.

"I just don't mention what I am, and no one knows whom I am," Brian said. "This keeps down political discussion."

Daughter Sued In Fatal Crash

Two damage suits seeking a total of $22,500 from Mrs. Ethel N. Hamilton, 218 South Smallwood Street, as a result of a fatal accident in which her mother was the victim, were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit, seeking $15,000, was filed for Thomas N. Berry as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, who died February 16 in Sacred Heart Hospital eight days after the accident which occurred near Pleasantville, Pa.

The declaration contended that Mrs. Hamilton, who was driving the car, moved her mother after the accident without waiting for proper medical aid, had her mother placed in a vehicle in an upright position and then had her brought to Cumberland rather than to a nearer hospital at Bedford, Pa.

The second suit, for $7,500, was filed in the name of the State of Maryland to the use of Gary Lee Nesbitt. This declaration said that the Nesbitt boy had been residing with his grandmother, Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, who was his sole support. Her death removed his care and support, the declaration stated.

Both suits were filed by Attorney John M. Robb.

VIENNA, W. Va. (UPI)—Emile Holbart of nearby Mineral Wells considered himself lucky to be alive Thursday.

He was nearly buried alive while working on a sewer project here. Shortly after 2 p.m. (e.s.t.) the ditch in which he was working caved in and quick efforts by fellow workmen saved his life.

It was the second time in recent months a cave-in on the project had trapped a worker. The first time, however, the accident took the life of the ditch digger.

Master Plan For Water Service Set

City officials yesterday began work on a master plan for the operation of the Water Department.

Attending the session held in City Hall were Water Commissioner G. Ray Light, Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Sanitary Engineer Franklin J. Blaney and City Attorney William R. Carscaden.

It will be designed to make sure that water lines are adequate to supply water under satisfactory pressure and that lines are kept in good repair.

The plan will also provide, through continuing study, for needed extensions to water lines.

Funds would be set aside each year from the department's budget, it was explained, to carry on the master plan in an orderly manner.

Bike Tag Response Good, Police Report

The Police Department reported a good response yesterday to an appeal for youngsters to get new bicycle tags by the end of the week.

Officials said the bulk of the tags were distributed at inspections sponsored by the Optimist Club on city playgrounds.

Daughter Sued In Fatal Crash

Two damage suits seeking a total of $22,500 from Mrs. Ethel N. Hamilton, 218 South Smallwood Street, as a result of a fatal accident in which her mother was the victim, were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit, seeking $15,000, was filed for Thomas N. Berry as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, who died February 16 in Sacred Heart Hospital eight days after the accident which occurred near Pleasantville, Pa.

The declaration contended that Mrs. Hamilton, who was driving the car, moved her mother after the accident without waiting for proper medical aid, had her mother placed in a vehicle in an upright position and then had her brought to Cumberland rather than to a nearer hospital at Bedford, Pa.

The second suit, for $7,500, was filed in the name of the State of Maryland to the use of Gary Lee Nesbitt. This declaration said that the Nesbitt boy had been residing with his grandmother, Mrs. Anna May Nesbitt, who was his sole support. Her death removed his care and support, the declaration stated.

Both suits were filed by Attorney John M. Robb.

It was the second time in recent months a cave-in on the project had trapped a worker. The first time, however, the accident took the life of the ditch digger.

Better To Talk Than To Fight

Perhaps because it caught the world by surprise, or perhaps because the outcome is so uncertain, the coming exchange of first-echelon visitors between the United States and Russia momentarily left many observers speechless. Only now is the reaction beginning to wear off and rationalization to start on the events scheduled for the next two months.

There is no secret of the misgivings and hurt feelings in Bonn and Paris over the exclusion of their representatives from the conferences. This feeling will exist even after President Eisenhower completes his round of allied capitals to reassure free world officials of his intention to make no commitments involving any nation other than his own.

Undoubtedly the closeness of the Eisenhower invitation to Khrushchev to the failure of the Geneva conference poignantly demonstrated to the French and Germans that the primary opponents of the East and West are the U. S. and the U.S.S.R. An imagined slight on the part of America toward its allies could build the situation into a difficult case of injured pride.

But if further conflicts with the Russians are inevitable, and the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks prove fruitless, at least an extended period of "peace" has been achieved. The observation has been made many times in recent days that it is better to talk than to fight. It may be good strategy for the West to throw one of its spokesmen at a time against the long-winded Ukrainian.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Russian Government

Each people has its own form of government which functions for it but perhaps for no other people. Alexander Kerensky attempted to develop a democratic government for Russia; he failed because the Russian people did not understand what he and his associates were talking about. For a thousand years, Russia lived under autocracy, under a despotism centered in the Czar and supported by a small and sometimes enlightened nobility.

Although the serfs had been emancipated in 1861, they really did not own their land. Most of them were what we, in the United States, would call Tenant Farmers, but living in a greater poverty than has ever been known on this continent.

Another factor which affected conditions in Russia in 1917 was the collapse of the Eastern front in the war against Germany. Whatever might be said today about the Czarina and Rasputin, the troops at the front had seen their colleagues murdered by the Germans. The troops were deserting by the thousands. I was in Russia in 1917 and witnessed the spectacle of soldiers walking home from military service, only to find in their villages such poverty as they could not imagine.

The popular party in Russia among the intelligent people was the Social Revolutionary Party headed by Kerensky. The Social Democrats were divided into two groups, one quite large; the other very small. The large group was called Mensheviks; the small, compact fraction was called Bolsheviks. This division came about in London in 1903 when the Social Democrats had to decide whether they would accept the extreme Marxist program of permanent world revolution. Lenin's program was accepted, but his party remained small; was limited to intellectuals, most of whom lived outside of Russia. His party was the majority of this meeting.

The data is complete to establish that the Germans subsidized the reappearance in Russia of Lenin and a small group of associates. They were sent from Switzerland through Germany in a sealed train. In July 1917, they tried to seize power and failed. Although Lenin was the unquestioned leader of the Bolsheviks, their philosopher and strategist, their organizing genius was Leon Trotzky.

They had set themselves up at the Smolny Institute, a school for girls of the nobility. Here such persons as Zinoviev, Kamenev, Stalin, Kollontai, as well as Lenin and Trotzky had their offices. The secretary of the party was one Bonch-Bruevich.

At this point it is necessary to explain the peculiar nature of the Soviet government which is not a republic or a democracy but is a country held in tutelage by a political party which alone may exist. When in their various documents the Russians speak of the government and people as two separate entities, that is a precise statement of their theory. The party instructs and guides the people during a period of Socialism until Communism shall be achieved when government will wither on the vine.

In a word, this system of government which seems so queer to us is designed to end in nihilism, but that is theory. In practice, the Soviet system retains many features of autocracy. It is impossible to wipe out the traditions and habits of thought of a thousand years by ukaze.

Thus, what happened under Lenin and Trotzky was an experiment with Socialism in one country while organizing for revolution throughout the world. While Lenin was laying down the theory and operation of this new form of government and Trotzky was building the Red Army to safeguard Russia from attack and counter-revolution, Stalin became secretary of the party and organized himself as a political boss. It is amazing how this short, stunted Georgian, by patronage, fear and murder, built the party into an instrument of personal power. Stalin governed Russia as the Czar governed Russia; he built a tightly-controlled party into a dominant elite.

We do not know enough about Stalin the man, about his family life, but we do know that he brooked no opposition whatsoever; that he produced a regime as frightful as that of Ivan the Terrible and that in more than 20 years of rule, he brooked no rival, tolerated no opposition, killed off his equals and trained subordinates who were technicians rather than politicians. As an organizer he was undoubtedly a genius; as a human being, he was brutal and self-centered. But he left Russia stronger than he found it.

Will Ike Get Public Support For A Labor Bill?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Are the American people really aware of the disgraceful conduct of certain labor-union leaders and of the menace which they present today to this country? Will the public be fooled by the claim that corrective legislation is not needed because there are only a few gangsters and by the propaganda cry that "legitimate" unionism might be harmed by new laws?

The answers to these questions deal with a phase of human rights that is more important than any other problem now before Congress. For if public opinion falters after the sensational disclosures by the Senate Investigating Committee headed by Senator John L. McClellan, Democrat, of Arkansas, then a period of labor anarchy and underworld tyranny may be expected to develop in the coming years.

President Eisenhower has appealed to the nation to back him as he asks that members of Congress, irrespective of party, be told by the people that the country wants strong legislation to correct abuses. The type of thing which, unfortunately, the labor unions themselves have been unable to remedy is fully explained by the report of the McClellan Committee. In commenting on the affairs of the Teamsters Union—the largest in the country—the committee report says in part:

"The power of the Teamsters Union president is so extraordinary that the committee finds the fact this power is now lodged in the hands of a man such as Hoffa tragic for the Teamsters Union and dangerous for the country at large . . .

"In fact, the 1958 hearings produced testimony of an even more sordid nature than that of the previous year.

"Ignominy was piled on ignominy as the testimony wove through stories of violence, financial manipulations, callous repression of democratic rights and racketeer control.

"This is an ugly situation. The continuing attitude of Hoffa and other Teamster leaders that they are above the law can only serve to intensify the apprehensions of decent union members and decent people throughout the country. . . .

"Time and again the committee has found Hoffa to be faithless to the members of his own union. He has betrayed these members so frequently that it has become abundantly clear that Hoffa's chief interest is his own advancement and that of his friends and cronies—a great number of whom are racketeers.

"In addition, Hoffa has used union funds for his own benefit and that of his friends.

"Hoffa has consistently supported the interests of racketeer friends over those of his own members.

"Hoffa and his chief aides have consistently repressed democratic rights within the union.

"Hoffa has connived with and maneuvered union insurance to racketeer friends, bringing these friends gigantic profits. While the cost of insurance has risen, the benefits to the members of his union were drastically reduced.

"In the history of this country it would be hard to find a labor leader who has so shamelessly abused his members of his trust. . . .

"The committee is convinced that if Hoffa remains unchecked, he will successfully destroy the decent labor movement in the United States. Further than that, because of the tremendous economic power of the Teamsters, it will place the underworld in a position to dominate American economic life in a period when the vitality of the American economy is necessary to this country's preservation in an era of world crisis. This Hoffa cannot be allowed to do."

What have the decent labor-union leaders done about all this? They have, of course, criticized Hoffa and have deplored what he has done. But they are not willing to back the kind of legislation President Eisenhower says is really needed to prevent Hoffa and his ilk from continuing to exploit the rank and file of American workingmen.

No group likes restrictive legislation. Big business doesn't like anti-monopoly laws, and big unionism doesn't like the prospect of any restriction either. But it is the public as a whole which is damaged by any abuses of power exercised by private groups.

It will be interesting to see whether the majority in Congress will rise to the occasion or whether the labor unions, with their political pull and promises of bigger campaign contributions to those who do their bidding, will be able to scare members of the House and Senate away from the legislation that ought to be passed in order to end the rule of dictators, tyrants and crooks inside the labor-union movement in free America.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

To Washington officials well versed in the devious niceties of international diplomacy, it is no surprise that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev got that invitation to visit the United States.

Arranging such visits is a complicated and lengthy operation. Everything is discussed on a tentative basis, and only when all arrangements have been agreed to is a formal invitation extended. Vice President Richard Nixon apparently began the preliminary, unofficial talks on arrangements.

In the world of diplomacy, such talks could not have been avoided. Diplomatic correctness required Nixon to discuss such an invitation, just as a guest in a friend's house says during his visit, "You must come and see us."

Some members of the Senate and House have gone on record as opposing any such visit. And, should Khrushchev be invited to address a joint session of Congress, as is usual there will be many vacant chairs.

However, just as diplomacy required the invitation to be offered, it also requires that no serious and binding negotiations be undertaken between the two leaders. It will not in any sense be a substitute for a summit meeting.

Annual Sneezing Season Starts Tomorrow

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Tomorrow a million or more Americans will begin to feel sensations of nasal fullness and tickling. August 15 is the first day of the hay fever season. Men and women, boys and girls who are allergic to ragweed pollen will start paying the penalty for breathing the same air that nature uses to propagate weeds.

At the beginning of the season, the amount of pollen in the air may be too small to affect the majority of victims. But with each succeeding day ragweed plants become more active sexually. In time, pollen concentration is high enough to cause sneezing and weeping among all hay fever sufferers. The season ends in the north with the first frost. In the south, it lingers until ragweed lies.

The pollen count is a good index of the number and type of pollen in the air. It is obtained by exposing a specially prepared glass slide for 24 hours, and counting the number of pollen in a given area. Day to day fluctuations occur and most victims of hay fever feel miserable when the reading is high and improve when it drops.

High readings are obtained when the weather is hot, dry, sunny, and windy. Under these conditions, more pollen is produced and blown about. We have the opposite when it is cool, humid, cloudy, and calm—much to the delight of the victim. The lowest readings are obtained after a prolonged rain that washes the pollen out of the air.

Some newspapers publish the pollen count during the hay fever season. These counts are at least 24 hours old when they appear in print. But the index serves as guide to what hay fever sufferers might expect.

Pollen counts have been made in almost every part of this country. The information is of value to those who can vacation during the sneezing season. Regions with pollen counts of less than 10, and preferably under 5, are bound to be comfortable.

Leaflet on hay fever management will be sent if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Refrigerate perishable food.

UNTANNED PATCHES

N. L. writes: My 17-year-old son gets white spots on his face when the sun hits him. I have had him to several doctors but they say they are not able to help this lack of pigmentation. Can you offer any suggestions?

REPLY

In vitiligo, the white areas contain no pigment and these spots stand out after exposure to the sun as the normal surrounding skin tans. They can be camouflaged as a rule with cosmetics. The psoralens, taken internally, are the latest remedies. We have a leaflet on vitiligo that can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

FEVER AND PERSONALITY

W. L. writes: Are personality changes common in victims of malaria?

REPLY

No. The exception might occur if the temperature increased enough to damage the brain. This possibility applies to any disease associated with a high fever.

HOLLERING

M. E. W. writes: Could singing or hollering cause the thyroid to get big?

REPLY

No. The thyroid gland is just below the voice box, outside the windpipe. Lack of iodine, tumors, or infection are the commonest causes of enlargement.

AIR AND ASTHMA

Mrs. M. writes: Does asthma cause air to accumulate in the stomach?

REPLY

No. In asthma, the bronchi are narrowed so that the individual wheezes when he attempts to exhale. Air in the stomach is swallowed air.

NO CURE YET

J. W. writes: If leukemia is detected in its early stage, can it be cured?

REPLY

No. The individual with acute leukemia may live a year whereas victims of chronic leukemia may live many years. Early therapy has no effect on the ultimate outcome.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Two provocative (to say the least!) advertisements culled from the classified columns of small town news weeklies:

1. "Lost: Will the gent who picked up a fur coat at Inspiration Point last night please return the redhead that was in it. No questions asked."

2. "Will the person who took a slice of chocolate layer cake from the police commissioner's office please return same. It is part of the evidence in a food-poisoning case."

Red Buttons has another story about one of those determined wives who just learned to drive. Her husband came home from the office and found his new convertible parked in the living room. 'How in blazes did you get the car in here?" he cried in agony. "Nothing to it," explained his wife. "When I got to the kitchen, I just made a left turn."

John Simms asked his Maine guide, "Ep, were you ever really lost in these woods?" "Never," said Ep, "but I was kind of bewildered once for a couple of weeks."

Two Backers Of Tough Labor Bill Once Helped Stop Probe Of Hoffa

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In the welter of debate over how tough the labor anti-racketeering bill should be, there is probably just one thing both sides agree on—there would be no debate if it had not been for the Senate Rackets Committee expose of the teamsters.

In this connection, three paradoxical facts have been largely forgotten. They are:

1. Two congressmen now demanding tough anti-labor legislation earlier had conspired or acquiesced in hushing up a probe of Teamster scandals. They are Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader who's been demanding that Congress pass the tough Landrum-Griffin bill, and Phil Landrum, Democrat of Georgia, co-author of that bill.

2. Senator McClellan of Arkansas got blood in his eye and started his do-or-die probe of labor only after Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas ran against him with organized labor support.

3. Many of the Teamster scandals were aired by this column well before McClellan got busy.

Thus, when McClellan's Rackets Committee, with its bird-dog Counsel Bob Kennedy, re-aired them, the scandals were not particular new. But timing is just as important in politics as in love and war, and the rehash of the Teamster scandals has contributed more than any one factor to the debate on a tough labor bill, now demanded by most Republicans, including the President himself.

Republicans Killed Probe

Most interesting fact dug up by this column regarding labor racketeering is that high-up Republicans conspired in 1954 to suppress its investigation.

At that time, a House committee headed by Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan had exposed sensational facts about the operations of Jimmy Hoffa and associates. The facts were just as startling as anything developed by Senator McClellan, Democrat. In fact, many of the witnesses called by McClellan five years later were the same identical witnesses called or named by the House committee.

But that investigation was mysteriously called off. Congressman Hoffman protested. He made a dozen speeches on the House floor fuming over the fact that his probe was squelched.

Congressman Landrum of Georgia, however, was a member of Hoffman's committee, and he did not exert himself to have the investigation continued. He did not rise up in righteous wrath, as he has recently to demand a law curbing the practices he failed to expose. Had he done so there might have been a labor anti-racketeering bill long before this.

Furthermore, it was Charlie Halleck who pulled the strings backstage to kill the 1954 probe of labor racketeering.

How and why the Republicans called it off was never investigated by Senator McClellan. Normally this would be the first order of business by a Democratic chairman. However, the Senator from Arkansas votes Republican on most crucial issues and he kept mum.

The fact was, however, that Jimmy Hoffa has been a lifelong Republican; his cohorts are largely Republican; and he has been dead against the Walter Reuther wing of organized labor, which has both a good record for honesty and a vigorous record for supporting Democrats. It was partly because of corruption in the old AF of L craft unions that Reuther, Phil Murray, and John L. Lewis broke away to form the CIO. Yet now the sins of Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters are being visited on the heads of those who fought them.

Warmed-Over Headlines

To illustrate how the Senate Rackets Committee warmed over old news to make the headlines which now influence the labor debate, here is what was previously published by this column:

Squelching the Probe — April 13, 1954—How Charlie Halleck and Postmaster General Summerfield squelched the probe of Jimmy Hoffa and Teamster racketeering. William Buffalino, Mike Nicoletti, and David J. Keating, named as juke box racketeers, were among those later called before McClellan's committee.

Business for Wives—June 7, 1956—How Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Bert Brennan, wife of Hoffa's right hand man, took over the Test-Fleet Company, with an exclusive contract to deliver cars, after Hoffa had settled a Flint, Mich., strike favorably to the company and against his own local. With the investment of almost no capital, the two wives rolled up a small fortune. This was exposed by the Senate committee, Aug. 6, 1958, two years later.

Insurance Commissions—June 7, 1956—One million dollars in insurance commissions paid the wife and son of Paul Dorfman on Hoffa's welfare funds, through Dorfman's local, the Waste-Handlers of Chicago, was yanked by George Meany because of corruption. The McClellan committee headlined this Sept. 18, 1958, two years later.

Connections with Johnny Dio—Sept. 3, 1956—How Johnny Dio, convicted for throwing acid on Victor Riesel, has been an underworld pal of Jimmy Hoffa. Also how Hoffa put up Teamster money to sponsor TV and radio programs for the Republican State Convention in Michigan. The McClellan Committee criticized Dio's Teamster relations on Feb. 25, 1958.

Welfare Funds—March 23-28, 1957—More details on how Rose and Allen Dorfman, with no experience in the insurance business, got in excess of $1,000,000 in insurance commissions in four years from Teamster welfare funds.

Dave Beck's Real Estate—April 30, 1956—How Beck bought and sold real estate using relatives as stooges in a manner calculated to throw off income tax agents. Beck was first indicted for income tax evasion on May 5, 1957—one year later.

Beck's Beer—March 26, 1957—How Beck and son used union connections to get exclusive distributorship of Anheuser-Busch beer in the Northwest. This was headlined by the McClellan Committee May 8, 1957.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Howard Mobley

(Jim Bishop is on vacation. Today's column was written by Howard Mobley of the Star-Beacon, Ashtabula, Ohio.)

There are lightning flashes of memory in a reporter's mind. . .

The woman must have been pretty 10 years earlier. But on this morning she had just spent six hours in the city jail. She told the police officers that she had come to the small city to make recordings. She explained she had come from Hollywood where she learned about a recording company in this particular town. She sang, in a quavering voice, to demonstrate her ability. The listener's heart cried for her. Somewhere someone waited for word that this missing woman had been found. . .

Floodwaters from a hurricane were rolling over a luxurious rug. The Mr. and Mrs. Calmly offered a cocktail to the reporter. They were waiting for someone to take them to a downtown hotel where they would ride out the storm. This fury of nature had offered them a break in the montony of comfort in which they lived. . .

The interview was arranged and the reporter entered the hotel room, wondering what would happen and how to act. The man in the room was handsome. Only his head was visible. His body was enclosed in an iron lung, which "breathed" an indelible sound into the interviewer's head. The man was participating in the annual state Florida bridge tournament. He was a figure of courage. . .

The fire station boys had a Dalmatian dog, just like any fire station has. The men loved her. One day the mascot died. It was whispered she was hemorrhaging from a kicking by some drunk. . .

The reporter-photographer looked at the 2 a. m. scene and saw a semi-truck outfit wrapped around a tree. The vehicle was a twisted mess. He flashed several pictures. Someone said: "He's still in there — dead!". . .

The young patrolman had a reputation of being a square-shooter, a hardworker. One night the reporter was informed the policeman had died of a heart attack. A month later another well-liked patrolman died — shot to death answering a wife-beating complaint. There's nothing worse than a policeman on the wrong end of a gun. . .

The father had been ill some time. The family's money was spent. There was no where to turn for help in getting treatment the man needed. Public response in a fund drive helped get the man to a special hospital in the south. He lived a little longer. A little happier. He died thinking the world is full of great people. . .

The girl was shy, very quiet. Her only wish was to keep the baby she was about to have. Unwed, young and fearful of all, she had been told a story that her baby would be sold. She found a couple who took her into their home and hearts. Her baby too. . .

The fire had swept through the home on New Year's Eve. The boy being interviewed sat sleepily in a chair. He wore his slipper on his right foot — and his grandmother's slipper on his left foot...

A thousand miles away and a couple of years earlier, another fire swept quickly through a tinderbox two-room house. The family escaped, but lost its belongings — which altogether probably were worth a hundred dollars. . .

These are the lightning flashes of memory in a reporter's mind. . .

Better To Talk Than To Fight

Perhaps because it caught the world by surprise, or perhaps because the outcome is so uncertain, the coming exchange of first-echelon visitors between the United States and Russia momentarily left many observers speechless. Only now is the reaction beginning to wear off and rationalization to start on the events scheduled for the next two months.

There is no secret of the misgivings and hurt feelings in Bonn and Paris over the exclusion of their representatives from the conferences. This feeling will exist even after President Eisenhower completes his round of allied capitals to reassure free world officials of his intention to make no commitments involving any nation other than his own.

Undoubtedly the closeness of the Eisenhower invitation to Khrushchev to the failure of the Geneva conference poignantly demonstrated to the French and Germans that the primary opponents of the East and West are the U. S. and the U.S.S.R. An imagined slight on the part of America toward its allies could build the situation into a difficult case of injured pride.

But if further conflicts with the Russians are inevitable, and the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks prove fruitless, at least an extended period of "peace" has been achieved. The observation has been made many times in recent days that it is better to talk than to fight. It may be good strategy for the West to throw one of its spokesmen at a time against the long-winded Ukrainian.

These Days

The Russian Government

Each people has its own form of government which functions for it but perhaps for no other people. Alexander Kerensky attempted to develop a democratic government for Russia; he failed because the Russian people did not understand what he and his associates were talking about. For a thousand years, Russia lived under autocracy, under a despotism centered in the Czar and supported by a small and sometimes enlightened nobility.

Although the serfs had been emancipated in 1861, they really did not own their land. Most of them were what we, in the United States, would call Tenant Farmers, but living in a greater poverty than has ever been known on this continent.

Another factor which affected conditions in Russia in 1917 was the collapse of the Eastern front in the war against Germany. Whatever might be said today about the Czarina and Rasputin, the troops at the front had seen their colleagues murdered by the Germans. The troops were deserting by the thousands. I was in Russia in 1917 and witnessed the spectacle of soldiers walking home from military service, only to find in their villages such poverty as they could not imagine.

The popular party in Russia among the intelligent people was the Social Revolutionary Party headed by Kerensky. The Social Democrats were divided into two groups, one quite large; the other very small. The large group was called Mensheviks; the small, compact fraction was called Bolsheviks. This division came about in London in 1903 when the Social Democrats had to decide whether they would accept the extreme Marxist program of permanent world revolution. Lenin's program was accepted, but his party remained small; was limited to intellectuals, most of whom lived outside of Russia. His party was the majority of this meeting.

The data is complete to establish that the Germans subsidized the reappearance in Russia of Lenin and a small group of associates. They were sent from Switzerland through Germany in a sealed train. In July 1917, they tried to seize power and failed. Although Lenin was the unquestioned leader of the Bolsheviks, their philosopher and strategist, their organizing genius was Leon Trotzky.

They had set themselves up at the Smolny Institute, a school for girls of the nobility. Here such persons as Zinoviev, Kamenev, Stalin, Kollontai, as well as Lenin and Trotzky had their offices. The secretary of the party was one Bonch-Bruevich.

At this point it is necessary to explain the peculiar nature of the Soviet government which is not a republic or a democracy but is a country held in tutelage by a political party which alone may exist. When in their various documents the Russians speak of the government and people as two separate entities, that is a precise statement of their theory. The party instructs and guides the people during a period of Socialism until Communism shall be achieved when government will wither on the vine.

In a word, this system of government which seems so queer to us is designed to end in nihilism, but that is theory. In practice, the Soviet system retains many features of autocracy. It is impossible to wipe out the traditions and habits of thought of a thousand years by ukaze.

Thus, what happened under Lenin and Trotzky was an experiment with Socialism in one country while organizing for revolution throughout the world. While Lenin was laying down the theory and operation of this new form of government and Trotzky was building the Red Army to safeguard Russia from attack and counter-revolution, Stalin became secretary of the party and organized himself as a political boss. It is amazing how this short, stunted Georgian, by patronage, fear and murder, built the party into an instrument of personal power. Stalin governed Russia as the Czar governed Russia; he built a tightly-controlled party into a dominant elite.

We do not know enough about Stalin the man, about his family life, but we do know that he brooked no opposition whatsoever; that he produced a regime as frightful as that of Ivan the Terrible and that in more than 20 years of rule, he brooked no rival, tolerated no opposition, killed off his equals and trained subordinates who were technicians rather than politicians. As an organizer he was undoubtedly a genius; as a human being, he was brutal and self-centered. But he left Russia stronger than he found it.

No Shade From That Tree Any More

Will Ike Get Public Support For A Labor Bill?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Are the American people really aware of the disgraceful conduct of certain labor-union leaders and of the menace which they present today to this country? Will the public be fooled by the claim that corrective legislation is not needed because there are only a few gangsters and by the propaganda cry that "legitimate" unionism might be harmed by new laws?

The answers to these questions deal with a phase of human rights that is more important than any other problem now before Congress. For if public opinion falters after the sensational disclosures by the Senate Investigating Committee headed by Senator John L. McClellan, Democrat, of Arkansas, then a period of labor anarchy and underworld tyranny may be expected to develop in the coming years.

President Eisenhower has appealed to the nation to back him as he asks that members of Congress, irrespective of party, be told by the people that the country wants strong legislation to correct abuses. The type of thing which, unfortunately, the labor unions themselves have been unable to remedy is fully explained by the report of the McClellan Committee. In commenting on the affairs of the Teamsters Union—the largest in the country—the committee report says in part:

"The power of the Teamsters Union president is so extraordinary that the committee finds the fact this power is now lodged in the hands of a man such as Hoffa tragic for the Teamsters Union and dangerous for the country at large . . .

"In fact, the 1958 hearings produced testimony of an even more sordid nature than that of the previous year.

"Ignominy was piled on ignominy as the testimony wove through stories of violence, financial manipulations, callous repression of democratic rights and racketeer control.

"This is an ugly situation. The continuing attitude of Hoffa and other Teamster leaders that they are above the law can only serve to intensify the apprehensions of decent union members and decent people throughout the country. . . .

"Time and again the committee has found Hoffa to be faithless to the members of his own union. He has betrayed these members so frequently that it has become abundantly clear that Hoffa's chief interest is his own advancement and that of his friends and cronies—a great number of whom are racketeers.

"In addition, Hoffa has used union funds for his own benefit and that of his friends.

"Hoffa has consistently supported the interests of racketeer friends over those of his own members.

"Hoffa and his chief aides have consistently repressed democratic rights within the union.

"Hoffa has connived with and maneuvered union insurance to racketeer friends, bringing these friends gigantic profits. While the cost of insurance has risen, the benefits to the members of his union were drastically reduced.

"In the history of this country it would be hard to find a labor leader who has so shamelessly abused his members of his trust. . . .

"The committee is convinced that if Hoffa remains unchecked, he will successfully destroy the decent labor movement in the United States. Further than that, because of the tremendous economic power of the Teamsters, it will place the underworld in a position to dominate American economic life in a period when the vitality of the American economy is necessary to this country's preservation in an era of world crisis. This Hoffa cannot be allowed to do."

What have the decent labor-union leaders done about all this? They have, of course, criticized Hoffa and have deplored what he has done. But they are not willing to back the kind of legislation President Eisenhower says is really needed to prevent Hoffa and his ilk from continuing to exploit the rank and file of American workingmen.

No group likes restrictive legislation. Big business doesn't like anti-monopoly laws, and big unionism doesn't like the prospect of any restriction either. But it is the public as a whole which is damaged by any abuses of power exercised by private groups.

It will be interesting to see whether the majority in Congress will rise to the occasion or whether the labor unions, with their political pull and promises of bigger campaign contributions to those who do their bidding, will be able to scare members of the House and Senate away from the legislation that ought to be passed in order to end the rule of dictators, tyrants and crooks inside the labor-union movement in free America.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

To Washington officials well versed in the devious niceties of international diplomacy, it is no surprise that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev got that invitation to visit the United States.

Arranging such visits is a complicated and lengthy operation. Everything is discussed on a tentative basis, and only when all arrangements have been agreed to is a formal invitation extended. Vice President Richard Nixon apparently began the preliminary, unofficial talks on arrangements.

In the world of diplomacy, such talks could not have been avoided. Diplomatic correctness required Nixon to discuss such an invitation, just as a guest in a friend's house says during his visit, "You must come and see us."

Some members of the Senate and House have gone on record as opposing any such visit. And, should Khrushchev be invited to address a joint session of Congress, as is usual there will be many vacant chairs.

However, just as diplomacy required the invitation to be offered, it also requires that no serious and binding negotiations be undertaken between the two leaders. It will not in any sense be a substitute for a summit meeting.

Two Backers Of Tough Labor Bill Once Helped Stop Probe Of Hoffa

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In the welter of debate over how tough the labor anti-racketeering bill should be, there is probably just one thing both sides agree on—there would be no debate if it had not been for the Senate Rackets Committee expose of the teamsters.

In this connection, three paradoxical facts have been largely forgotten. They are:

1. Two congressmen now demanding tough anti-labor legislation earlier had conspired or acquiesced in hushing up a probe of Teamster scandals. They are Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader who's been demanding that Congress pass the tough Landrum-Griffin bill, and Phil Landrum, Democrat of Georgia, co-author of that bill.

2. Senator McClellan of Arkansas got blood in his eye and started his do-or-die probe of labor only after Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas ran against him with organized labor support.

3. Many of the Teamster scandals were aired by this column well before McClellan got busy.

Thus, when McClellan's Rackets Committee, with its bird-dog Counsel Bob Kennedy, re-aired them, the scandals were not particular new. But timing is just as important in politics as in love and war, and the rehash of the Teamster scandals has contributed more than any one factor to the debate on a tough labor bill, now demanded by most Republicans, including the President himself.

Republicans Killed Probe

Most interesting fact dug up by this column regarding labor racketeering is that high-up Republicans conspired in 1954 to suppress its investigation.

At that time, a House committee headed by Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan had exposed sensational facts about the operations of Jimmy Hoffa and associates. The facts were just as startling as anything developed by Senator McClellan, Democrat. In fact, many of the witnesses called by McClellan five years later were the same identical witnesses called or named by the House committee.

But that investigation was mysteriously called off. Congressman Hoffman protested. He made a dozen speeches on the House floor fuming over the fact that his probe was squelched.

Congressman Landrum of Georgia, however, was a member of Hoffman's committee, and he did not exert himself to have the investigation continued. He did not rise up in righteous wrath, as he has recently to demand a law curbing the practices he failed to expose. Had he done so there might have been a labor anti-racketeering bill long before this.

Furthermore, it was Charlie Halleck who pulled the strings backstage to kill the 1954 probe of labor racketeering.

How and why the Republicans called it off was never investigated by Senator McClellan. Normally this would be the first order of business by a Democratic chairman. However, the Senator from Arkansas votes Republican on most crucial issues and he kept mum.

The fact was, however, that Jimmy Hoffa has been a lifelong Republican; his cohorts are largely Republican; and he has been dead against the Walter Reuther wing of organized labor, which has both a good record for honesty and a vigorous record for supporting Democrats. It was partly because of corruption in the old AF of L craft unions that Reuther, Phil Murray, and John L. Lewis broke away to form the CIO. Yet now the sins of Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters are being visited on the heads of those who fought them.

Warmed-Over Headlines

To illustrate how the Senate Rackets Committee warmed over old news to make the headlines which now influence the labor debate, here is what was previously published by this column:

Squelching the Probe — April 13, 1954—How Charlie Halleck and Postmaster General Summerfield squelched the probe of Jimmy Hoffa and Teamster racketeering. William Buffalino, Mike Nicoletti, and David J. Keating, named as juke box racketeers, were among those later called before McClellan's committee.

Business for Wives—June 7, 1956—How Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Bert Brennan, wife of Hoffa's right hand man, took over the Test-Fleet Company, with an exclusive contract to deliver cars, after Hoffa had settled a Flint, Mich., strike favorably to the company and against his own local. With the investment of almost no capital, the two wives rolled up a small fortune. This was exposed by the Senate committee, Aug. 6, 1958, two years later.

Insurance Commissions—June 7, 1956—One million dollars in insurance commissions paid the wife and son of Paul Dorfman on Hoffa's welfare funds, through Dorfman's local, the Waste-Handlers of Chicago, was yanked by George Meany because of corruption. The McClellan committee headlined this Sept. 18, 1958, two years later.

Connections with Johnny Dio—Sept. 3, 1956—How Johnny Dio, convicted for throwing acid on Victor Riesel, has been an underworld pal of Jimmy Hoffa. Also how Hoffa put up Teamster money to sponsor TV and radio programs for the Republican State Convention in Michigan. The McClellan Committee criticized Dio's Teamster relations on Feb. 25, 1958.

Welfare Funds—March 23-28, 1957—More details on how Rose and Allen Dorfman, with no experience in the insurance business, got in excess of $1,000,000 in insurance commissions in four years from Teamster welfare funds.

Dave Beck's Real Estate—April 30, 1956—How Beck bought and sold real estate using relatives as stooges in a manner calculated to throw off income tax agents. Beck was first indicted for income tax evasion on May 5, 1957—one year later.

Beck's Beer—March 26, 1957—How Beck and son used union connections to get exclusive distributorship of Anheuser-Busch beer in the Northwest. This was headlined by the McClellan Committee May 8, 1957.

Annual Sneezing Season Starts Tomorrow

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Tomorrow a million or more Americans will begin to feel sensations of nasal fullness and tickling. August 15 is the first day of the hay fever season. Men and women, boys and girls who are allergic to ragweed pollen will start paying the penalty for breathing the same air that nature uses to propagate weeds.

At the beginning of the season, the amount of pollen in the air may be too small to affect the majority of victims. But with each succeeding day ragweed plants become more active sexually. In time, pollen concentration is high enough to cause sneezing and weeping among all hay fever sufferers. The season ends in the north with the first frost. In the south, it lingers until ragweed lies.

The pollen count is a good index of the number and type of pollen in the air. It is obtained by exposing a specially prepared glass slide for 24 hours, and counting the number of pollen in a given area. Day to day fluctuations occur and most victims of hay fever feel miserable when the reading is high and improve when it drops.

High readings are obtained when the weather is hot, dry, sunny, and windy. Under these conditions, more pollen is produced and blown about. We have the opposite when it is cool, humid, cloudy, and calm—much to the delight of the victim. The lowest readings are obtained after a prolonged rain that washes the pollen out of the air.

Some newspapers publish the pollen count during the hay fever season. These counts are at least 24 hours old when they appear in print. But the index serves as guide to what hay fever sufferers might expect.

Pollen counts have been made in almost every part of this country. The information is of value to those who can vacation during the sneezing season. Regions with pollen counts of less than 10, and preferably under 5, are bound to be comfortable.

Leaflet on hay fever management will be sent if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Refrigerate perishable food.

UNTANNED PATCHES

N. L. writes: My 17-year-old son gets white spots on his face when the sun hits him. I have had him to several doctors but they say they are not able to help this lack of pigmentation. Can you offer any suggestions?

REPLY

In vitiligo, the white areas contain no pigment and these spots stand out after exposure to the sun as the normal surrounding skin tans. They can be camouflaged as a rule with cosmetics. The psoralens, taken internally, are the latest remedies. We have a leaflet on vitiligo that can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

FEVER AND PERSONALITY

W. L. writes: Are personality changes common in victims of malaria?

REPLY

No. The exception might occur if the temperature increased enough to damage the brain. This possibility applies to any disease associated with a high fever.

HOLLERING

M. E. W. writes: Could singing or hollering cause the thyroid to get big?

REPLY

No. The thyroid gland is just below the voice box, outside the windpipe. Lack of iodine, tumors, or infection are the commonest causes of enlargement.

AIR AND ASTHMA

Mrs. M. writes: Does asthma cause air to accumulate in the stomach?

REPLY

No. In asthma, the bronchi are narrowed so that the individual wheezes when he attempts to exhale. Air in the stomach is swallowed air.

NO CURE YET

J. W. writes: If leukemia is detected in its early stage, can it be cured?

REPLY

No. The individual with acute leukemia may live a year whereas victims of chronic leukemia may live many years. Early therapy has no effect on the ultimate outcome.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Two provocative (to say the least!) advertisements culled from the classified columns of small town news weeklies:

1. "Lost: Will the gent who picked up a fur coat at Inspiration Point last night please return the redhead that was in it. No questions asked."

2. "Will the person who took a slice of chocolate layer cake from the police commissioner's office please return same. It is part of the evidence in a food-poisoning case."

Red Buttons has another story about one of those determined wives who just learned to drive. Her husband came home from the office and found his new convertible parked in the living room. 'How in blazes did you get the car in here?" he cried in agony. "Nothing to it," explained his wife. "When I got to the kitchen, I just made a left turn."

John Simms asked his Maine guide, "Ep, were you ever really lost in these woods?" "Never," said Ep, "but I was kind of bewildered once for a couple of weeks."

- ¼ cup brown sugar, packed
- ¾ teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- Dash of pepper
- ¼ cup cornstarch
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 pound cooked, cleaned, large fresh shrimp (about 18)
- 4 cups corn flakes, regular or presweetened

Drain pineapple and save juice. Melt fat; add onion and pepper and saute just until tender, not soft. Add next 6 ingredients. Mix cornstarch and cold water; stir into mixture; cook, stirring, until thickened. Add shrimp and allow to heat. Serve hot on cornflakes. Yield: 8 servings.

Going fishing? Yes, into the freezer for a frozen prepared haddock dinner . . . you know, the kind you pop into a 450°F. oven for 20 minutes. Since capers go so well with fish, why not turn back the aluminum foil over the fish and sprinkle a few on top. Then, reseal and heat.

Homegrown Vegetables, Fruits Plentiful Now

We are in the height of eating pleasure with nearby vegetables and fruits in abundance. The produce counters show very good quality products at attractive prices says Virginia McLuckie, food economist at the Baltimore office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

The best buys should fill your market basket with color and make tempting menus when you select snapbeans, summer squash, sweet corn, tomatoes, and beets. Summer squash are the soft rind squash that are cooked and eaten skin, seeds and all. There are two yellow squashes, the straightneck and crookneck. There is also the white scalloped or Patty Pan squash that is pale green when young and becoming white when mature. The Italian or Zucchini is becoming more popular. Regardless of the type squash you buy, select those heavy for their size, with tender skins and free of blemishes. Snapbeans are in abundance and very good in quality. They should be clear color, crisp and succulent looking.

Home grown sweet corn time is here and the supply is good. The best ears have even rows of well filled plump milky kernels and husks are bright green.

Two red vegetables, beets and tomatoes will make colorful meals. Beets can be used as a hot or cold vegetable, sweet and sour, spiced or plain. Try making a jellied beet salad to accompany cold meats and cheese platters. This is the season for the best quality and flavor in tomatoes. Look for firm, good red colored tomatoes free from surface defects. Scars or "Catfaces" around the blossom end does not affect tomato flavor. Size is no indication of quality. Field ripened tomatoes that have received lots of sunshine have higher Vitamin C contents than greenhouse products.

The best buys in fruit are summer apples, peaches and cantaloupes and Bartlett pears.

Protein suggestions are small turkeys, pork shoulder, ham, fryer chickens and eggs.

Try Leftover Beef In A Pepper Shell

Leftover meats can be a real bargain to the homemaker who can skillfully create tomorrow's meal with yesterday's meat. In some cases, leftover meats are confined to a leftover category and not allowed to show their versatility in second-day dishes.

For the homemaker looking for new ways to please the purse as well as palates, here the answer is found not in the proverbial nutshell but in this recipe featuring a pepper shell.

Cooked beef, finely chopped, combined with riced or mashed potatoes, chopped stuffed olives, chopped onion and seasonings can create an entree packed full of good eating.

Stuffed Green Peppers

- 2½ cups finely chopped cooked beef
- 6 medium green peppers
- 1½ cups mashed or riced potatoes
- ⅓ cup chopped stuffed olives
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup hot water

Remove tops and seeds from peppers. Simmer peppers 5 minutes in salted water. Combine beef, potatoes, olives, onion, salt and pepper and fill the peppers with this mixture. Place peppers in a baking dish and pour ½ cup of hot water in baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until the meat mixture is lightly browned. Yield: 6 servings.

Peaches Taste Good

Juicy and full of peach flavor, this miracle pie will hit the spot tonight. The delectable fresh peaches in the filling are sweetened and thickened to perfection with vanilla pudding and pie filling so that every bite of this heavenly pie retains all the natural fruit flavor and color. So easy to make on top of the range, the filling is prepared in minutes, cooled and spooned into a baked pie shell.

Fresh Peach Miracle Pie

- 2 cups diced fresh fully ripe peaches (5 to 6 peaches)
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1¼ cups water
- 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 baked 8-inch pie shell, cooled

Combine peaches, sugar and 1 cup of the water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Meanwhile, combine pudding mix, salt, nutmeg, lemon juice, and remaining ¼ cup water. Stir to form a smooth paste. Add to boiling fruit, stirring to blend. Then cook and stir until mixture comes to a full boil.

Remove from heat and add butter and almond extract. Cool 5 minutes. Pour into pie shell. Let stand about 4 hours, or until firm. Serve with sweetened whipped cream and additional sweetened sliced peaches, if desired.

Creamed Eggs

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery, chicken, or mushroom soup
⅓ cup milk
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
4 slices toast

In saucepan, blend soup and milk. Heat. Gently stir in eggs and pimiento. Add extra milk if necessary. Serve on toast. Makes 4 servings.

Sausage Tetrazzini

Here's a variation of the Italian favorite, rich and unusual enough for guests, that derives its zesty flavor from smoked thuringer. If thuringer is not the ready-to-eat variety, cover with boiling water and simmer 15 minutes; cool slightly; chop. Substitute chopped salami, cervelat or ham sausage, if desired.

2 cups chopped skinless smoked thuringer (about 6 average size)
1 7-ounce package elbow macaroni
8 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups water or stock
Salt, pepper
2 medium onions, chopped
1 large green pepper, diced
½ pound fresh mushrooms (or 2 drained 4-oz. cans)
1 cup sour cream (room temperature)
2-3 tablespoons sherry (optional)
Grated Parmesan cheese

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water. Melt half the butter in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Add water and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Season with salt and pepper and allow to cool. Melt remaining butter in small skillet and saute onions and green pepper until soft but not brown. Reserve. In same skillet, saute mushrooms lightly and add to drained macaroni. Fold sour cream — and sherry, if desired — into the sauce. Mix half the sauce with macaroni and mushrooms and turn into buttered casserole. Make a depression in the center. Mix chopped sausage, onions, green pepper and about ½ cup Grated Parmesan cheese with remaining sauce. Fill depression with this mixture. Sprinkle more grated cheese over all. Bake in a 400 degree oven for about 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Garnish with parsley. Serves 6-8.

Tall, Cold Mocha Shakes Go To The Teen-Age Party

In the summer, teen-agers love nothing better than tall, cold drinks that satisfy the sweet tooth. . . and here's one that they can make for themselves. It's aptly called a Mocha Shake, a delicious blend of coffee, chocolate and ice cream, topped off with a generous swoop of whipped cream.

Mocha Shakes are the last word for the girls' pajama party or an impromptu Saturday-night dance. Of course, something-to-nibble is also in order and salted crackers filled with a luscious chocolate spread are just the ticket. These are certainly easy to make and, no matter how many times the plate needs replenishing, the young hostess can whip them together without missing one minute of the fun.

While Mocha Shakes are usually thought of as teen-age treats, many parents have been known to sneak into the kitchen to try them for themselves. After all, parents have a sweet streak, too.

Mocha Shakes

2½ measuring cups strong, cold coffee
5 tablespoons chocolate syrup
1 pint coffee ice cream
Whipped cream

Confetti Casseroles

An inspired choice for a rainy just-before-payday supper are these festive-looking casseroles. The topping is made from a cornmeal muffin mix with bright pimiento and green pepper 'confetti" added. Underneath is a flavorful mixture of sliced frankfurters and baked beans. Serve with apple-cabbage slaw and carrot strips.

5-6 skinless frankfurters, sliced
1 10-ounce can baked beans with molasses
1 tablespoon maple syrup
Cornmeal muffin batter, from mix or from "scratch"
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
2 tablespoons diced green pepper

Butter three individual ramekins or one medium casserole. Mix maple syrup and sliced frankfurters with beans. Turn mixture into baking dishes. Prepare cornmeal muffin mix according to directions. Allow about ¼ cup of batter per individual casserole. Add pimiento and green pepper to this amount, baking remainder separately. Spoon "confetti" batter onto bean mixture, spreading evenly over tops of baking dishes. Bake in 400 degree oven about 20 minutes, until topping is golden brown. Serves 3.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting in a slow oven (300°F.) allowing 35 minutes per pound. If using a roast meat thermometer, the internal temperature should reach 170°F.

Creamed Eggs

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery, chicken, or mushroom soup
⅛ cup milk
4 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
4 slices toast

In saucepan, blend soup and milk. Heat. Gently stir in eggs and pimiento. Add extra milk if necessary. Serve on toast. Makes 4 servings.

Sausage Tetrazzini

Here's a variation of the Italian favorite, rich and unusual enough for guests, that derives its zesty flavor from smoked thuringer. If thuringer is not the ready-to-eat variety, cover with boiling water and simmer 15 minutes; cool slightly; chop. Substitute chopped salami, cervelat or ham sausage, if desired.

2 cups chopped skinless smoked thuringer (about 6 average size)
1 7-ounce package elbow macaroni
8 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups water or stock
Salt, pepper
2 medium onions, chopped
1 large green pepper, diced
½ pound fresh mushrooms (or 2 drained 4-oz. cans)
1 cup sour cream (room temperature)
Grated Parmesan cheese

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water. Melt half the butter in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Add water and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Season with salt and pepper and allow to cool. Melt remaining butter in small skillet and saute onions and green pepper until soft but not brown. Reserve. In same skillet, saute mushrooms lightly and add to drained macaroni. Fold sour cream — and sherry, if desired — into the sauce. Mix half the sauce with macaroni and mushrooms and turn into buttered casserole. Make a depression in the center. Mix chopped sausage, onions, green pepper and about ½ cup Grated Parmesan cheese with remaining sauce. Fill depression with this mixture. Sprinkle more grated cheese over all. Bake in a 400 degree oven for about 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Garnish with parsley. Serves 6-8.

Tall, Cold Mocha Shakes Go To The Teen-Age Party

In the summer, teen-agers love nothing better than tall, cold drinks that satisfy the sweet tooth. . . and here's one that they can make for themselves. It's aptly called a Mocha Shake, a delicious blend of coffee, chocolate and ice cream, topped off with a generous swoop of whipped cream.

Mocha Shakes are the last word for the girls' pajama party or an impromptu Saturday-night dance. Of course, something-to-nibble is also in order and salted crackers filled with a luscious chocolate spread are just the ticket. These are certainly easy to make and, no matter how many times the plate needs replenishing, the young hostess can whip them together without missing one minute of the fun.

While Mocha Shakes are usually thought of as teen-age treats, many parents have been known to sneak into the kitchen to try them for themselves. After all, parents have a sweet streak, too.

Mocha Shakes

2½ measuring cups strong, cold coffee
5 tablespoons chocolate syrup
1 pint coffee ice cream
Whipped cream

Place all ingredients in bowl and blend with rotary beater until smooth. Pour into tall glasses. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves 4.

Cracker Snacks

¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
Salted square crackers

Cream butter or margarine until it is like mayonnaise in consistency. Add melted chocolate slowly, while beating. Spread between crackers, sandwich fashion, reserving enough to decorate tops if desired. Makes about 48 snacks.

Opening lead: King of ♥.

Repeated refusal on the part of declarer to be forced in trumps netted a top score of one North-South pair in today's hand taken from a recent tournament.

West's preemptive jump to game was well calculated to make life uncomfortable for his opponents. North was unable to take any action, but South was unwilling to settle for a penalty. He elected to show his other suit by bidding four spades, in the hope that North had a few fitting cards.

When the four spade got back to North he elected to pass, in an effort to benefit match pointwise from the higher score awarded a major suit contract. His decision was somewhat doubtful, since it is clear that repeated heart leads may shorten declarer's trump holding to the vanishing point, whereas he should be able to handle the force more effectively in clubs.

West led the king of hearts and declarer cautiously refrained from ruffing. If he permitted his own trumps to be reduced to three, the hand would collapse if one of the defenders happened to have four trumps. On the first three leads of hearts declarer simply shed three low diamonds. There was nothing now that the defense could do. If a fourth heart were led it could be ruffed in dummy and declarer would still have four "pulls" left to extract trumps.

At most tables a five club contract was reached and set because declarer was in too great a hurry to draw trumps and lost control of the hand before the long diamond could be established. One South played only two rounds of clubs and then started on the diamonds.

East was able to lead a second and later, a third round of hearts forcing out South's last trump, but he now overtook his 10 of spades with the dummy's jack and played the queen of clubs to pick up East's nine. Declarer was now solid.

Kosher Franks 'N' Spinach

Bring out the suggestion of garlic in the hearty flavor of kosher frankfurters by stuffing them with garlic-seasoned spinach. These franks can serve as a tasty supper entree, with baked potatoes and lettuce-and-tomato salad, or may be tucked into buns for a satisfying luncheon or party snack.

4 skinless kosher frankfurters
1 cup cooked or canned chopped spinach, drained
1 tablespoon butter
½ clove of garlic, minced
1 tablespoon dry bread crumbs
Grated Parmesan cheese

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

There are foolish and faddish ways to lose weight. But the easy way is by following the Powers Beauty Diet.

A Diet That's Neither Faddy Nor Foolish

To lose weight, the foolish often starve themselves; but that's neither easy on the nerves nor on the looks. The faddy folk go for special foods; but that's no simple matter either at home or at a restaurant. There's just one easy way: Eat the ordinary, everyday foods — but in the exact portions and balances that result in reduced weight.

Following is a correctly planned, weight-reducing day's menu to use as a pattern. Get out your calorie counter (found in most cookbooks) and compute the calories of each item on it. Using this as your guide, beside each food listed on your calorie counter, note the quantity you can allow yourself without going over your calorie budget for any meal. You'll discover such interesting facts as — a slice of blueberry pie costs you seven times as much as a dish of blueberries; you can have more than twice as large a serving of carrots as of lima beans. A large beefburger or a generous slice of lean roast beef costs only twice as much as an unbuttered slice of white bread.

When you've completed your list, stick a copy up in the kitchen and another in your purse—and then stick to it! You'll be able to sit down to a happy board, no matter where, and find a selection of slimming, beautifying, healthful foods suited to your needs.

Here is your day's meal guide.

Breakfast: ½ cup grapefruit juice; ¾ cup hot oatmeal; ½ cup milk; 1 slice rye toast; ½ pat butter; coffee.

Lunch: ¼ cup welsh rarebit; 3 saltines; 1 jellied tomato salad; 1 cup milk; ½ cup fruit cup.

Dinner: 1 stuffed green pepper with meat; ½ cup stewed tomatoes; 4 stalks celery; 3 halves of canned apricots with syrup; coffee.

If you train your palette to like low-caloried foods (thousands prefer them) your figure will take care of itself.

Strawberry Cream Pie With No-Bake Crust

Cereal Crumb Crust

1½ cups very finely crushed presweetened corn flakes, presweetened oven-toasted rice cereal, or crisp corn puffs, fruit flavor
½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Filling

1 package instant vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk (or amount called for in package directions)
1 pint fresh strawberries, cleaned and cut in half lengthwise
1 cup currant jelly, melted, and cooled

Combine cereal crumbs and butter and mix until cereal is evenly coated. Pack evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill. Combine instant vanilla pudding mix and milk, preparing it as directed on package. Pour into pie shell. Chill. Cover with berries and drizzle jelly over strawberries. Chill. Serve plain or topped with whipped cream. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

Creamed Chicken

¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken or 1 cup diced cooked chicken
Dash black pepper
4 biscuits or corn meal muffins, split and toasted

In saucepan, cook celery and onion in butter until soft. Stir in soup, milk, chicken and pepper. Heat. Serve over biscuits or muffins. Add 1 tablespoon diced pimiento, if desired. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Thoroughly wash the area around any tick or animal bite to prevent possible infection.

Rejuvenate with a chilled soup made by blending 1 can each condensed consomme and tomato soup with ½ soup can water. Chill thoroughly and serve garnished with parsley.

Dry Whole Milk

The time may come, say USDA scientists, when you'll be able to buy a dry whole milk that mixes readily with either warm or cold water, tastes like fresh milk and is just as nutritious, keeps for a long time without refrigeration, and sells at an attractive price. They've now succeeded in producing, experimentally, dry whole milk crystals that reconstitute readily in water to give a milk comparable in flavor and food value to the fresh dairy product. But, the crystals still have some shortcomings, which must be overcome before commercial use is possible.

Kosher Franks 'N' Spinach

Bring out the suggestion of garlic in the hearty flavor of kosher frankfurters by stuffing them with garlic-seasoned spinach. These franks can serve as a tasty supper entree, with baked potatoes and lettuce-and-tomato salad, or may be tucked into buns for a satisfying luncheon or party snack.

4 skinless kosher frankfurters
1 cup cooked or canned chopped spinach, drained
1 tablespoon butter
½ clove of garlic, minced
Grated Parmesan cheese

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

There are foolish and faddish ways to lose weight. But the easy way is by following the Powers Beauty Diet.

A Diet That's Neither Faddy Nor Foolish

To lose weight, the foolish often starve themselves; but that's neither easy on the nerves nor on the looks. The faddy folk go for special foods; but that's no simple matter either at home or at a restaurant. There's just one easy way: Eat the ordinary, everyday foods — but in the exact portions and balances that result in reduced weight.

Following is a correctly planned, weight-reducing day's menu to use as a pattern. Get out your calorie counter (found in most cookbooks) and compute the calories of each item on it. Using this as your guide, beside each food listed on your calorie counter, note the quantity you can allow yourself without going over your calorie budget for any meal. You'll discover such interesting facts as — a slice of blueberry pie costs you seven times as much as a dish of blueberries; you can have more than twice as large a serving of carrots as of lima beans. A large beefburger or a generous slice of lean roast beef costs only twice as much as an unbuttered slice of white bread.

When you've completed your list, stick a copy up in the kitchen and another in your purse—and then stick to it! You'll be able to sit down to a happy board, no matter where, and find a selection of slimming, beautifying, healthful foods suited to your needs.

Here is your day's meal guide.

Breakfast: ½ cup grapefruit juice; ¾ cup hot oatmeal; ½ cup milk; 1 slice rye toast; ½ pat butter; coffee.

Lunch: ¼ cup welsh rarebit; 3 saltines; 1 jellied tomato salad; 1 cup milk; ½ cup fruit cup.

Dinner: 1 stuffed green pepper with meat; ½ cup stewed tomatoes; 4 stalks celery; 3 halves of canned apricots with syrup; coffee.

If you train your palette to like low-calories foods (thousands prefer them) your figure will take care of itself.

TOMORROW: Dig Those Greens!

YOUR DIET AND CALORIE GUIDE — Try the sensible and systematic way to new figure loveliness! Plan meals with the help of our comprehensive calorie-listing of more than 500 different foods. ## Strawberry Cream Pie With No-Bake Crust

Cereal Crumb Crust

1½ cups very finely crushed presweetened corn flakes, presweetened oven-toasted rice cereal, or crisp corn puffs, fruit flavor
½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Filling

1 package instant vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk (or amount called for in package directions)
1 pint fresh strawberries, cleaned and cut in half lengthwise
1 cup currant jelly, melted, and cooled

Combine cereal crumbs and butter and mix until cereal is evenly coated. Pack evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill. Combine instant vanilla pudding mix and milk, preparing it as directed on package. Pour into pie shell. Chill. Cover with berries and drizzle jelly over strawberries. Chill. Serve plain or topped with whipped cream. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

Creamed Chicken

¼ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup milk
1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken or 1 cup diced cooked chicken
Dash black pepper
4 biscuits or corn meal muffins, split and toasted

In saucepan, cook celery and onion in butter until soft. Stir in soup, milk, chicken and pepper. Heat. Serve over biscuits or muffins. Add 1 tablespoon diced pimiento, if desired. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Thoroughly wash the area around any tick or animal bite to prevent possible infection.

Rejuvenate with a chilled soup made by blending 1 can each condensed consomme and tomato soup with ½ soup can water. Chill thoroughly and serve garnished with parsley.

Dry Whole Milk

The time may come, say USDA scientists, when you'll be able to buy a dry whole milk that mixes readily with either warm or cold water, tastes like fresh milk and is just as nutritious, keeps for a long time without refrigeration, and sells at an attractive price. They've now succeeded in producing, experimentally, dry whole milk crystals that reconstitute readily in water to give a milk comparable in flavor and food value to the fresh dairy product. But, the crystals still have some shortcomings, which must be overcome before commercial use is possible.

Cut Desserts To Diet Size

It's usually desserts that take the heaviest calorie toll so dieters are apt to look with longing as others enjoy cream puffs and eclairs. A suggestion for calorie counters would be: cut down, don't cut out. . . you can enjoy desserts that are within your calorie limit. Desserts glamorized with a low-calorie whipped topping made with instant nonfat dry milk crystals and ice water can do a lot for the dieter's morale. For a brand new taste treat, home economists suggest whipping instant crystals with well-chilled fruit juice instead of water. Try this delicious orange-flavored topping served with Chocolate Orange Roll.

Chocolate Orange Roll
(Makes 8 servings)

½ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, beaten
1¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 squares (1-ounce) unsweetened chocolate, melted
3 tablespoons, warm water
Confectioners' sugar
1 pint orange sherbet, softened
2¼ cups orange whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat eggs and 1¼ cups sugar together until thick. Blend in chocolate and water. Fold in flour mixture. Spread in buttered, paper-lined 15½ x 10½ x 1-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (375°) 15-20 minutes, or until cake tests done.

Sprinkle towel with confectioners' sugar. Turn cake out on towel; roll up. Cool. Unroll cake and spread with sherbet. Roll up. Wrap in waxed paper. Freeze 2-3 hours. Slice and serve topped with orange whipped instant crystals.

To whip orange instant nonfat dry milk crystals: Mix ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ½ cup well-chilled orange juice. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer). Makes about 2½ cups.

Perfect Tuna Casserole

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery or mushroom soup
½ cup milk

1 cup cooked peas or green beans
1¼ cups slightly crumbled potato chips

Blend soup and milk; stir in tuna, peas, and 1 cup potato chips. Spoon into a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle top with remaining potato chips. If desired, use whole chips on top of casserole rather than crumbled. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Spareribs Don Chinese Flavors

The Chinese people are unique in many of their ways. Particularly in their practice of the culinary art, they have come to be known and respected for the fine heritage they have passed down from generation to generation.

As a guest in a Chinese home or at a Chinese restaurant, one can sit at the table and learn as well as be amazed.

The skillful food combinations of the Chinese are what makes these people so admired by many famous epicureans.

The familiar meat cut, spareribs, can be turned into an Oriental masterpiece. This often barbecued fresh pork cut takes on an Oriental appearance very easily.

The spareribs are marinated for 12 hours or longer in a marinade which highlights soy sauce and orange marmalade in addition to garlic, ginger and pepper.

The name of this masterpiece is Mandarin Spareribs and they can be done with ease and simplicity in your own kitchen.

Mandarin Spareribs

2 to 3 pounds spareribs
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup orange marmalade
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Have spareribs sawed across rib bones so individual servings may be carved easily after cooking. Combine soy sauce, orange marmalade, garlic, ginger and pepper. Marinate spareribs in soy sauce mixture for 12 hours, turning occasionally. Refrigerate ribs while marinating. Place ribs, rib ends down, on a rack in a baking pan. Cover tightly and cook in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Remove cover, turn spareribs and spoon half of the marinade over the ribs. Return to oven, cook 15 minutes, turning spareribs. Spoon remaining marmalade over ribs and continue cooking 15 minutes or until browned. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Measured On The Hoof

Research is now being conducted on an electronic device that can measure the size of a potentia. steak or chop in a live animal. Using ultrasonics — high-frequency sound waves — the instrument determines the depth o back fat and size of loin eye muscles in cattle and hogs, particularly important in selecting meat animals that produce a high percentage of their weights in the more desireable cuts. The ultrasonic waves go through tissue without harm to the animal.

Kabobs With Sausage As Menu Teaser

To tempt and tease your family's appetite, discover the many new and imaginative ways smoked sausage links can be used in menu planning.

The friendly flavor of these spicy sausage links provides a spaghetti sauce enthusiastically endorsed by young and old alike. Smoked sausage links act as a natural meat entree at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

But to celebrate the summer and great outdoors, the smoked sausage links have been used in another way. Sausage-Cucumber Kabobs is just the way to get a party in progress or the family to answer the dinner call.

Sausage-Cucumber Kabobs

8 smoked sausage links
2 small firm tomatoes
8 slices cucumber with peel, cut ¼ inch thick
French dressing

Cut smoked sausage links diagonally into thirds. Cut tomatoes into quarters. Cut each cucumber slice in half to make 16 cucumber pieces. On each of eight 6-inch skewers, thread 3 sausage pieces, 1 tomato wedge and 2 cucumber pieces. Place kabobs on broiler rack and brush with French dressing. Broil 3 inches from heat about 5 minutes. Turn, brush with French dressing and broil until browned, about 2 minutes. Yield: 8 kabobs.

Dough made from a no-knead refrigerator roll recipe, can usually be kept about a week in the refrigerator.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Stop that honking, you guys! I'll be right out!"

Rolled Stuffed Fish Fillets

4 frozen or fresh fillets (flounder, sole or perch)
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
¼ cup hot water
1 cup packaged prepared herb-seasoned stuffing
2 strips partly-cooked bacon (cut to make 4 half pieces)
1 cup scalded milk

If fillets are frozen, thaw; blot dry. Mix stuffing:—In saucepan, saute celery and onion until soft, in butter; add water, then stuffing crumbs, toss. Place ¼ of the stuffing on each fillet. Roll up; fasten with toothpicks. Brush each roll with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper.

Place in greased baking dish; top each roll with partly cooked bacon piece. Add one cup scalded milk. Bake uncovered in very hot oven (500F.) 10-15 min. Sauce from baking dish can be served on fish.

Season chili sauce with prepared horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice and use as a sauce for cooked shrimp for a cocktail. Finely diced celery is an excellent addition to the sauce because it gives good texture contrast.

Kabobs With Sausage As Menu Teaser

To tempt and tease your family's appetite, discover the many new and imaginative ways smoked sausage links can be used in menu planning.

The friendly flavor of these spicy sausage links provides a spaghetti sauce enthusiastically endorsed by young and old alike. Smoked sausage links act as a natural meat entree at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

But to celebrate the summer and great outdoors, the smoked sausage links have been used in another way. Sausage-Cucumber Kabobs is just the way to get a party in progress or the family to answer the dinner call.

Sausage-Cucumber Kabobs

8 smoked sausage links
2 small firm tomatoes
8 slices cucumber with peel, cut ¼ inch thick
French dressing

Cut smoked sausage links diagonally into thirds. Cut tomatoes into quarters. Cut each cucumber slice in half to make 16 cucumber pieces. On each of eight 6-inch skewers, thread 3 sausage pieces, 1 tomato wedge and 2 cucumber pieces. Place kabobs on broiler rack and brush with French dressing. Broil 3 inches from heat about 5 minutes. Turn, brush with French dressing and broil until browned, about 2 minutes. Yield: 8 kabobs.

Dough made from a no-knead refrigerator roll recipe, can usually be kept about a week in the refrigerator.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Rolled Stuffed Fish Fillets

4 frozen or fresh fillets (flounder, sole or perch)
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
¼ cup hot water
1 cup packaged prepared herb-seasoned stuffing
2 strips partly-cooked bacon (cut to make 4 half pieces)
1 cup scalded milk

If fillets are frozen, thaw; blot dry. Mix stuffing:—In saucepan, saute celery and onion until soft, in butter; add water, then stuffing crumbs, toss. Place ¼ of the stuffing on each fillet. Roll up; fasten with toothpicks. Brush each roll with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper.

Place in greased baking dish; top each roll with partly cooked bacon piece. Add one cup scalded milk. Bake uncovered in very hot oven (500F.) 10-15 min. Sauce from baking dish can be served on fish.

Season chili sauce with prepared horseradish, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice and use as a sauce for cooked shrimp for a cocktail. Finely diced celery is an excellent addition to the sauce because it gives good texture contrast.

Gallorette Is Destroyed

WARRENTON, Va. (AP)—Gallorette, one of the top money-winning mares of all time, was destroyed Wednesday after turning up with a bad hind leg.

The famed racing mare was buried on the farm of Mrs. Marie A. Moore near the plains, in Fauquier County, where Gallorette has languished in recent years.

Foaled in 1942, Gallorette raced from 1944 through 1948, winning $445,535 in 72 starts.

Gallorette Is Destroyed

WARRENTON, Va. (AP)—Gallorette, one of the top money-winning mares of all time, was destroyed Wednesday after turning up with a bad hind leg.

The famed racing mare was buried on the farm of Mrs. Marie A. Moore near the plains, in Fauquier County, where Gallorette has languished in recent years.

Foaled in 1942, Gallorette raced from 1944 through 1948, winning $445,535 in 72 starts.

Colts Favored By 16 Points Over College All-Stars

75,000 May Attend Game At Chicago

92 Players Named, Collegians Beat Lions Last Year

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, underdogs as usual kick off the 1959 football season Friday night against the Baltimore Colts.

Weeb Ewbank

The Colts are favored by 16 points in the 26th annual game despite the fact the 1958 All-Stars surprised by beating the Detroit Lions 35-19.

Has Five Quarterbacks

Of course, the 1958 aggregation has now gone into professional ranks, and all that remains is Coach Otto Graham — but some think he may pull another shocker. He has built up high morale, he is wise in the ways of his professional opponents, he has some fine pass receivers, and he has five sparkling quarterbacks who can throw.

They are Lee Grosscup of Utah, Buddy Humphrey of Baylor, Bob Newman of Washington State, Bob Ptacek of Michigan, and Dick Petitbon of Tulane.

Unfortunately, the rest of the All-Star squad doesn't seem to be quite up to the 1958 level. As a result, Graham has decided he must substitute this year by individuals and not by units.

May Draw 70,000

The forecast is warm and cloudy for the game that should draw 75,000 to Soldier Field under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities. It will be telecast and broadcast by ABC starting at 8:30 p.m., EST.

The Baltimore Colts, 43 players strong, flew in Thursday for one shake-down workout. The 49-player All-Star squad took it easy. Everyone is in shape except for Ron Luciano, Syracuse tackle, who has an injured shoulder, and Elbert Dubenion, Bluffton, Ohio College, bothered by a bad knee.

Of Grahams' five quarterbacks, Petitbon seems sure to see most action on defense, and Graham admits he has not yet decided which one of the other four will start or see the most action.

Dick Haley of Pitt and Don Brown of Houston probably will do the heavy work at the halfback posts of the All-Stars, with Larry Hickman of Baylor and Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame alternating at fullback.

Pair Of Triple Winners

Cincy Tops Braves, 9-8

Robinson Wallops Grand Slam Homer

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Frankie Robinson hit the first grand slam homer of his major league career Thursday night as the Cincinnati Reds scored a 9-8 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Brooks Lawrence, last of three Reds pitchers in the ninth, retired Eddie Mathews with the bases loaded to end a Braves rally one run short of tieing the score.

The victim of Robinson's home run, his 26th of the season, was Bob Buhl, whose lifetime record against the Reds reads one victory and seven losses.

The Braves right hander, making his first start against the Reds this season, yielded Robby's blast in the third inning and then departed in the fourth when the Reds went on another four - run spree.

Vada Pinson's 16th homer of season, one of his three hits for the night, accounted for the Reds' final run in the fifth inning.

Jim Brosnan, the Reds starter, was credited with the victory, but needed the help of Orlando Pena, and Joe Nuxhall.

Brosnan was rapped for Wes Covington's three-run homer in the fifth and then was replaced when the Braves added another run in the sixth.

Pena pitched until routed in the ninth. He was followed by Joe Nuxhall, then Lawrence.

75,000 May Attend Game At Chicago

92 Players Named, Collegians Beat Lions Last Year

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars, underdogs as usual kick off the 1959 football season Friday night against the Baltimore Colts.

Weeb Ewbank

The Colts are favored by 16 points in the 26th annual game despite the fact the 1958 All-Stars surprised by beating the Detroit Lions 35-19.

Has Five Quarterbacks

Of course, the 1958 aggregation has now gone into professional ranks, and all that remains is Coach Otto Graham — but some think he may pull another shocker. He has built up high morale, he is wise in the ways of his professional opponents, he has some fine pass receivers, and he has five sparkling quarterbacks who can throw.

They are Lee Grosscup of Utah, Buddy Humphrey of Baylor, Bob Newman of Washington State, Bob Ptacek of Michigan, and Dick Petitbon of Tulane.

Unfortunately, the rest of the All-Star squad doesn't seem to be quite up to the 1958 level. As a result, Graham has decided he must substitute this year by individuals and not by units.

May Draw 70,000

The forecast is warm and cloudy for the game that should draw 75,000 to Soldier Field under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities. It will be telecast and broadcast by ABC starting at 8:30 p.m., EST.

The Baltimore Colts, 43 players strong, flew in Thursday for one shake-down workout. The 49-player All-Star squad took it easy. Everyone is in shape except for Ron Luciano, Syracuse tackle, who has an injured shoulder, and Elbert Dubenion, Bluffton, Ohio College, bothered by a bad knee.

Of Grahams' five quarterbacks, Petitbon seems sure to see most action on defense, and Graham admits he has not yet decided which one of the other four will start or see the most action.

Dick Haley of Pitt and Don Brown of Houston probably will do the heavy work at the halfback posts of the All-Stars, with Larry Hickman of Baylor and Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame alternating at fullback.

OUT FOR SEASON—Injured in a collision at second base, Roy McMillan, ace shortstop of the Cincy Reds, will be out for the season. McMillan, being helped by clubhouse aide in Cincinnati, has fractured collarbone.

Cincy Tops Braves, 9-8

Robinson Wallops Grand Slam Homer

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Frankie Robinson hit the first grand slam homer of his major league career Thursday night as the Cincinnati Reds scored a 9-8 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Brooks Lawrence, last of three Reds pitchers in the ninth, retired Eddie Mathews with the bases loaded to end a Braves rally one run short of tieing the score.

The victim of Robinson's home run, his 26th of the season, was Bob Buhl, whose lifetime record against the Reds reads one victory and seven losses.

The Braves right hander, making his first start against the Reds this season, yielded Robby's blast in the third inning and then departed in the fourth when the Reds went on another four - run spree.

Vada Pinson's 16th homer of season, one of his three hits for the night, accounted for the Reds' final run in the fifth inning.

Jim Brosnan, the Reds starter, was credited with the victory, but needed the help of Orlando Pena, and Joe Nuxhall.

Brosnan was rapped for Wes Covington's three-run homer in the fifth and then was replaced when the Braves added another run in the sixth.

Pena pitched until routed in the ninth. He was followed by Joe Nuxhall, then Lawrence.

Powelson faced only ten batsmen in the last three frames, struck out nine and issued a base on balls. Jack Morgan, losing pitcher, struck out six.

Chicago Cubs Clobber San Francisco Giants, 20 To 9

Dark Belts Homer With Bases Full

Altman Hits Pair In Longest Nine Inning NL Game

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rookie George Altman drove in five runs with a pair of homers and a single Thursday and Alvin Dark belted a grandslam homer to pace the Chicago Cubs to a 20-9 rout and stop a three-game winning streak of the league-leading San Francisco Giants.

The Cubs, exploding for 31 runs in two days, clouted five homers, a season high for the club. The Giants got home runs from Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt.

Set League Record

The game required three hours and 50 minutes to play, setting a new league record for a nine-inning contest. The old mark was 3:43, set by the Cubs against the St. Louis Cardinals April 17, 1954, for a 23-13 Chicago victory. The game missed setting a new major league mark by just two minutes.

For the second straight day, every Cubs starter scored or drove in at least one run. There was a runner on base on each Altman homer, in the first and second innings, and in the fourth Altman scored himself after a single. He singled again in the sixth to drive in the Cubs' 12th run.

Hits Grand Slammer

Dark, hitting his fourth homer of the year and fourth grand-slammer of his career, came to bat in the seventh after Mike McCormick, the last of seven Giants pitchers, loaded the bases on two singles and a walk.

Manager Bob Scheffing and Jack Sanford, the Giants' starting pitcher, and Daryl Spencer were thrown out of the game in two of three disputes during the game. Giants Manager Bill Rigney who took part in all the hassles, managed to stay in the game. But he announced he was finishing the match under protest, because the Cubs' Tony Taylor, while a base runner on third, reached across the foul line to field a ground ball.

Rookie Ed Donnelly, who pitched only one inning, was the winner and Eddie Fisher absorbed his third loss in five decisions.

Richards' Contract Extended

Will Pilot Orioles In 1960 And 1961

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — The contract of Paul Richards to manage the Baltimore Orioles of the American League was extended Thursday for two years.

The announcement at a news conference in Memorial Stadium put to rest speculation that the 50-year-old Richards might be itching to move. He came to Baltimore in 1955 after four years of managing the Chicago White Sox.

Richards served as both general manager and field manager for Baltimore until this season. Lee MacPhail, formerly director of player personnel for the New York Yankees, took over the administrative duties of general manager.

Richards originally was signed to a three-year contract by the Orioles. After two years, it was extended through this season.

His salary was reported to be in the $40,000 bracket.

Richards replaced Jimmy Dykes as manager of Baltimore which replaced the St. Louis Browns in the American League in 1954. Dykes now is managing Detroit.

Richards lifted the Orioles from seventh to sixth and fifth in his first three seasons. They slipped back to sixth last year and currently are in fourth place.

Board Chairman Joseph Iglehart said Richards did not get a salary raise in the new pact.

There had been speculation the Oriole manager was being tempted to go to Detroit or Cleveland.

But Richards pretty well put the damper on those reports. Asked why he was remaining with Baltimore, he replied: "What am I going to do, retire?"

This apparently meant he had no concrete offers.

1,700 Golfers Enter Amateur Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Entries for the National Amateur Golf Championship closed Wednesday with a record total of about 1,700 golfers entered. The figure, still subject to a recheck, tops the 1,600 entries for the 1956 amateur at Lake Forest, Ill. This year's tournament will be played at the Broadmoor Club, Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 14-19.

Kemmerer Ends Victory Famine, Beats Yankees

Washington Sweeps 2-Game Series, 5-2

NEW YORK (UPI)—Russ Kemmerer ended a victory famine of nearly seven weeks Thursday, although he wilted in the 90-degree heat and needed relief from Truman Clevenger before the Washington Senators could beat the New York Yankees for the second straight game, 5-2.

Kemmerer, who suffered six straight defeats since he beat Kansas City on June 28, held the Yankees to five hits until the eighth inning when Mickey Mantle beat out a bunt and John Blanchard walked with two out. Manager Cookie Lavagetto then summoned Clevenger, who retired Elston Howard on an inning-ending forceout and set down the final three Yankee batters in the ninth.

A pair of run-producing doubles by Harmon Killebrew eased the path to Kemmerer's sixth victory against 12 defeats. The triumph was only the Senators' third in their last 25 games.

Killebrew's doubles helped stake Washington to a 4-0 lead in the first three innings against Bob Turley. Ken Aspromonte led off the game with a double, Len Green beat out a bunt and Jim Lemon drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly. Killebrew's two-bagger scored Green.

Washington scored twice more in the third on Bob Allison's walk, a single by Lemon, Killebrew's second double and a pinch sacrifice fly by Julio Becquer. Killebrew also had a hand in Washington's final run off reliever Gary Blaylock in the fifth. He opened the inning with a single, moved up on a walk to Roy Sievers, and came home when Bobby Richardson threw wildly in an attempted double play relay.

Kemmerer yielded the Yankees' first run in the second inning on singles by Howard and Norm Siebern, followed by Gil McDougald grounding out. The Senators' big right hander then pitched hitless ball until the seventh when he gave up another run on Siebern's single, a sacrifice by McDougald and Richardson's two-bagger.

Johnson Meets Miteff Tonight

Heavies To Clash In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight contender Alonzo Johnson of Braddock, Pa., seeks his 14th straight victory Friday night in a TV fight with Alex Miteff of Argentina at Madison Square Garden.

Because of his speed and skill, Johnson is a slight favorite at 6-5 to beat the harder-hitting boxer-puncher from Buenos Aires, who will have a weight-advantage of about 17 pounds.

Each is 24 and ambitious. Their 10-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. e.d.t.

Johnson, 1956 Eastern Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, lost but one of 18 bouts since he turned professional in January, 1957. He dropped a decision to Cortez Stewart in his fifth start. Since then he clicked off 13 straight wins — five this year. But he has only five knockouts.

Alonzo's 1959 victories were on decisions over Charley Forest, Jimmy Slade, Billy Hunter, Nino Valdes and Willie Pastrano on July 24. He is rated seventh among contenders by the NBA and eighth by the Ring Magazine.

Miteff, heavyweight champion of the Pan American Amateur Games, turned professional in June, 1956. He is unranked now among the top 10 because of three defeats in his 22 bouts — two on first-round knockouts by Mike DeJohn and Willie Besmanoff. He also had one draw. A good puncher, he scored 10 kayoes.

This year, the former Buenos Aires butcher - boy, lost one of his three bouts. He dropped a decision to second-ranked Zora Folley but came back to flatten ex-contender Harold Carter in two heats and to win a decision over Wayne Bethea at the Garden, on May 22.

Wynn Registers 265th Victory Over Detroit

Chicago Hits Four Homers In 9-0 Win; Don Mossi Is Loser

DETROIT (UPI)—Early Wynn fired a three-hitter Thursday to register the 265th victory of his major league career and give the league-leading Chicago White Sox a 9-0 whitewash over the Detroit Tigers.

The White Sox aided Wynn's cause by blasting four home runs off three Detroit pitchers.

Jim Landis gave Wynn all the runs he needed before Detroit starter Don Mossi was able to get a single batter out.

Bubba Phillips also connected for a round tripper before Mossi retired the White Sox in the first.

Earl Torgeson added another run for the White Sox when he cracked a bases-empty homer in the fourth and Sherm Lollar connected for a solo blast in the eighth.

Chicago scored two more in the eighth on Jim McAnany's single, an error and a single by Wynn which Charley Maxwell bobbled, allowing both runners to score.

The White Sox also scored an unearned run in the fifth when Lollar doubled to score Fox who had singled and advanced to second on an error.

The victory was the 16th of the year for Wynn against seven losses.

Mossi was charged with his sixth defeat against 11 wins.

Dark Belts Homer With Bases Full

Altman Hits Pair In Longest Nine Inning NL Game

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rookie George Altman drove in five runs with a pair of homers and a single Thursday and Alvin Dark belted a grandslam homer to pace the Chicago Cubs to a 20-9 rout and stop a three-game winning streak of the league-leading San Francisco Giants.

The Cubs, exploding for 31 runs in two days, clouted five homers, a season high for the club. The Giants got home runs from Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland and Jackie Brandt.

Set League Record

The game required three hours and 50 minutes to play, setting a new league record for a nine-inning contest. The old mark was 3:43, set by the Cubs against the St. Louis Cardinals April 17, 1954, for a 23-13 Chicago victory. The game missed setting a new major league mark by just two minutes.

For the second straight day, every Cubs starter scored or drove in at least one run. There was a runner on base on each Altman homer, in the first and second innings, and in the fourth Altman scored himself after a single. He singled again in the sixth to drive in the Cubs' 12th run.

Hits Grand Slammer

Dark, hitting his fourth homer of the year and fourth grand-slammer of his career, came to bat in the seventh after Mike McCormick, the last of seven Giants pitchers, loaded the bases on two singles and a walk.

Manager Bob Scheffing and Jack Sanford, the Giants' starting pitcher, and Daryl Spencer were thrown out of the game in two of three disputes during the game. Giants Manager Bill Rigney who took part in all the hassles, managed to stay in the game. But he announced he was finishing the match under protest, because the Cubs' Tony Taylor, while a base runner on third, reached across the foul line to field a ground ball.

Rookie Ed Donnelly, who pitched only one inning, was the winner and Eddie Fisher absorbed his third loss in five decisions.

Richards' Contract Extended

Will Pilot Orioles In 1960 And 1961

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — The contract of Paul Richards to manage the Baltimore Orioles of the American League was extended Thursday for two years.

The announcement at a news conference in Memorial Stadium put to rest speculation that the 50-year-old Richards might be itching to move. He came to Baltimore in 1955 after four years of managing the Chicago White Sox.

Richards served as both general manager and field manager for Baltimore until this season. Lee MacPhail, formerly director of player personnel for the New York Yankees, took over the administrative duties of general manager.

Richards originally was signed to a three-year contract by the Orioles. After two years, it was extended through this season.

His salary was reported to be in the $40,000 bracket.

Richards replaced Jimmy Dykes as manager of Baltimore which replaced the St. Louis Browns in the American League in 1954. Dykes now is managing Detroit.

Richards lifted the Orioles from seventh to sixth and fifth in his first three seasons. They slipped back to sixth last year and currently are in fourth place.

Board Chairman Joseph Iglehart said Richards did not get a salary raise in the new pact.

There had been speculation the Oriole manager was being tempted to go to Detroit or Cleveland.

But Richards pretty well put the damper on those reports. Asked why he was remaining with Baltimore, he replied: "What am I going to do, retire?"

This apparently meant he had no concrete offers.

Richards predicted his team would be a factor in the American League pennant race not only next year but in the following two or three.

This year's tournament will be played at the Broadmoor Club, Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 14-19.

Kemmerer Ends Victory Famine, Beats Yankees

Washington Sweeps 2-Game Series, 5-2

NEW YORK (UPI)—Russ Kemmerer ended a victory famine of nearly seven weeks Thursday, although he wilted in the 90-degree heat and needed relief from Truman Clevenger before the Washington Senators could beat the New York Yankees for the second straight game, 5-2.

Kemmerer, who suffered six straight defeats since he beat Kansas City on June 28, held the Yankees to five hits until the eighth inning when Mickey Mantle beat out a bunt and John Blanchard walked with two out. Manager Cookie Lavagetto then summoned Clevenger, who retired Elston Howard on an inning-ending forceout and set down the final three Yankee batters in the ninth.

A pair of run-producing doubles by Harmon Killebrew eased the path to Kemmerer's sixth victory against 12 defeats. The triumph was only the Senators' third in their last 25 games.

Killebrew's doubles helped stake Washington to a 4-0 lead in the first three innings against Bob Turley. Ken Aspromonte led off the game with a double, Len Green beat out a bunt and Jim Lemon drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly. Killebrew's two-bagger scored Green.

Washington scored twice more in the third on Bob Allison's walk, a single by Lemon, Killebrew's second double and a pinch sacrifice fly by Julio Becquer. Killebrew also had a hand in Washington's final run off reliever Gary Blaylock in the fifth. He opened the inning with a single, moved up on a walk to Roy Sievers, and came home when Bobby Richardson threw wildly in an attempted double play relay.

Kemmerer yielded the Yankees' first run in the second inning on singles by Howard and Norm Siebern, followed by Gil McDougald grounding out. The Senators' big right hander then pitched hitless ball until the seventh when he gave up another run on Siebern's single, a sacrifice by McDougald and Richardson's two-bagger.

Johnson Meets Miteff Tonight

Heavies To Clash In Bout At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight contender Alonzo Johnson of Braddock, Pa., seeks his 14th straight victory Friday night in a TV fight with Alex Miteff of Argentina at Madison Square Garden.

Because of his speed and skill, Johnson is a slight favorite at 6-5 to beat the harder-hitting boxer-puncher from Buenos Aires, who will have a weight-advantage of about 17 pounds.

Each is 24 and ambitious. Their 10-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. e.d.t.

Johnson, 1956 Eastern Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, lost but one of 18 bouts since he turned professional in January, 1957. He dropped a decision to Cortez Stewart in his fifth start. Since then he clicked off 13 straight wins — five this year. But he has only five knockouts.

Alonzo's 1959 victories were on decisions over Charley Forest, Jimmy Slade, Billy Hunter, Nino Valdes and Willie Pastrano on July 24. He is rated seventh among contenders by the NBA and eighth by the Ring Magazine.

Miteff, heavyweight champion of the Pan American Amateur Games, turned professional in June, 1956. He is unranked now among the top 10 because of three defeats in his 22 bouts — two on first-round knockouts by Mike DeJohn and Willie Besmanoff. He also had one draw. A good puncher, he scored 10 kayoes.

This year, the former Buenos Aires butcher - boy, lost one of his three bouts. He dropped a decision to second-ranked Zora Folley but came back to flatten ex-contender Harold Carter in two heats and to win a decision over Wayne Bethea at the Garden, on May 22.

Wynn Registers 265th Victory Over Detroit

Chicago Hits Four Homers In 9-0 Win; Don Mossi Is Loser

DETROIT (UPI)—Early Wynn fired a three-hitter Thursday to register the 265th victory of his major league career and give the league-leading Chicago White Sox a 9-0 whitewash over the Detroit Tigers.

The White Sox aided Wynn's cause by blasting four home runs off three Detroit pitchers.

Jim Landis gave Wynn all the runs he needed before Detroit starter Don Mossi was able to get a single batter out.

Al Smith greeted Mossi with a single and Nelson Fox followed with a double. Smith stopping at third. Both runners scored ahead of Landis as he blasted his fifth homer of the season.

Bubba Phillips also connected for a round tripper before Mossi retired the White Sox in the first.

Earl Torgeson added another run for the White Sox when he cracked a bases-empty homer in the fourth and Sherm Lollar connected for a solo blast in the eighth.

Chicago scored two more in the eighth on Jim McAnany's single, an error and a single by Wynn which Charley Maxwell bobbled, allowing both runners to score.

The White Sox also scored an unearned run in the fifth when Lollar doubled to score Fox who had singled and advanced to second on an error.

The victory was the 16th of the year for Wynn against seven losses.

Mossi was charged with his sixth defeat against 11 wins.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—A really fantastic deal is the one made between Samuel Briskin, head of Columbia Pictures and Leon Uris, author of "Exodus." Uris has agreed to let Columbia release his next four novels which will be made into motion pictures. They will be made under his independent banner, Dagon, and Uris personally will produce at least two of them.

The deal was made by Ingo Preminger and Malcolm Stuart who represent the author. The reason I call this deal fantastic is because none of the four novels has yet been written. However, two of the story lines have already been approved by Columbia executives and they will have a background of contemporary Europe.

"Exodus" has been on the best selling list for 44 months, and Uris' "Battle Cry" was one of MGM's most successful pictures.

With her unhappy short marriage to Bob Champion at an end, Linda Cristal, the Latin beauty, is finding her career means more and more to her. And she has reason to be proud this morning that she has been selected for the top woman in "The Alamo." Linda is excited about this break in the 10-million-dollar picture starring John Wayne and Richard Widmark.

Linda was borrowed from Universal - International, her home studio, where she appeared earlier this year in "The Perfect Furlough" playing a glamorous movie queen. She leaves soon to join the rest of the company in Bracketsville, Texas.

Publicist Pat Newcomb, back from a wonderful holiday and business trip to Europe, says Elizabeth Taylor has lost 20 pounds and looks beautiful. Someone said that if Elizabeth weren't so beautiful she would be called one of the great actresses of all times, her performance is so good in "Suddenly Last Summer." Sam Spiegel plans to release the picture in December in time for Academy Award consideration.

Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher are going to Spain for two weeks of work on her picture, and in September, after it's finished, they will head for New York where they will make their home. Eddie goes into the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, and in October Liz starts "Two for the Seesaw" for Harold Mirisch in New York. They can't come to California together until February.

You just can't top Jack Benny when it comes to timing, wit and that act of a spoiled boy, plus the stingiest man in the world (when everyone knows he's just the opposite). All this comes through at the Jack Benny revue and concert at the Greek Theatre.

The climax comes in the second act when Jack plays his violin with the California Junior Symphony and picks on a most attractive teen-ager, Charlotte Motley, who is first violinist. The amazing thing is that Jack really works at his violin playing and is getting better all the time. He practices two hours a day every day, and it shows. Peter Meremblum, who conducts the junior symphony taught these 85 talented teen-agers.

Some of Jack's comedy rubbed off on Peggy Lee and she was very cute, plus singing with great style. The dancers, Brascia and Tybee, and Jack's own conductor, Mahlon Merrick, all added to one of the pleasantest evenings the Greek theatre has yet offered.

Tony Martin would make a good a columnist as he is a singer. He even remembered what Princess Grace was wearing at the Red Cross festival in Monaco, the big charity affair which Tony headlined, at the request of their serene highnesses. He tells me Princess Grace was a vision in white with emerald and ruby tiara, necklace and bracelets!

When Grace and Prince Rainier sent for Tony after the show they told him they were most amused at the expression on his face when the natives started pelting him with things after the concert. The "things" turned out to be roses, "a very high compliment from our people," laughed the princess.

"I'm glad you explained," replied Tony, "for a minute I thought I was back in the two-a-day."

Vera Blinn Receives Invitation

The Vera Blinn Women's Society received reports and an invitation at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. John House, near Oldtown. Mrs. T. L. Grove was assistant hostess.

"Be Doers of the Word and not Hearers Only," was the theme of the program, led by Mrs. J. L. Brokemarkle, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt, Mrs. John S. Cook, Mrs. H. C. Trenton and Mrs. Edward Shaffer.

Mrs. Shaffer presided at a short business session. Reports were given by Mrs. Richard T. Cook, Mrs. Trenton, Mrs. J. S. Cook and Mrs. Brokemarkle. An invitation was read inviting the society to the marriage of Miss Pauline House and David Conley September 5 in Centre Street Methodist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. House. Her fiance is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Conley, Hagerstown.

A gift, "Leaves of Gold," was presented to Mrs. Homer Carlton, who is moving to South Carolina Monday. Mrs. Carlton was the former president of the group.

Woman Remembers Old Indebtedness

There is an advertising slogan that states "Never underestimate the power of a woman," and a local retired merchant feels that it should also contain the words "or intentions."

Simon Kochman, who last operated a woman's clothing store on Baltimore Street about 30 years ago, was recently stopped on the street by a woman who paid off a small debt that she claimed was "preying on her mind."

Kochman was shopping with his young granddaughter when he was stopped by the unidentified woman. She told him she had once taken a $5 dress home on approval, but had failed either to return it or pay for it, although her intentions were to do so.

Kochman told the woman to keep the money, since he had long been retired, but she pushed a $5 bill into his coat pocket and walked away.

Mrs. McCleary Named CDA District Deputy

The appointment of Mrs. Anna McCleary as district deputy of the Catholic Daughters of America; and the first general meeting September 14, in St. Patrick's Social Center, were announced at the family picnic of Court Cardinal Gibbons, held Wednesday evening in Constitution Park.

Immediate past grand regent and a trustee of the local court, Mrs. McCleary holds office in a district which includes Court Cardinal Gibbons, Court Teresa, Mt. Savage and Court Hagerstown. She succeeds Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, also a former grand regent of the local court.

Birthdays of Mrs. Mary Michaels, Mrs. Elizabeth Breighner, Mrs. Helen Simon and Mrs. Shirley Norris were observed, and each presented a gift. Mrs. Margaret Sell won the prize for the evening. Approximately 75 members and their families attended.

Unemployment Low

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—The federal labor office said Thursday there were only 760 unemployed persons in this country of 5,300,000 population as of July 31. The figure represented an all-time low in unemployment, beating the previous low of 960 in July, 1957, the agency said.

An easy summer main dish can be made by slicing canned corned beef hash into good sized slices (or form into patties); brown on both sides and serve with heated canned beef gravy.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—A really fantastic deal is the one made between Samuel Briskin, head of Columbia Pictures and Leon Uris, author of "Exodus." Uris has agreed to let Columbia release his next four novels which will be made into motion pictures. They will be made under his independent banner, Dagon, and Uris personally will produce at least two of them.

The deal was made by Ingo Preminger and Malcolm Stuart who represent the author. The reason I call this deal fantastic is because none of the four novels has yet been written. However, two of the story lines have already been approved by Columbia executives and they will have a background of contemporary Europe.

"Exodus" has been on the best selling list for 44 months, and Uris' "Battle Cry" was one of MGM's most successful pictures.

With her unhappy short marriage to Bob Champion at an end, Linda Cristal, the Latin beauty, is finding her career means more and more to her. And she has reason to be proud this morning that she has been selected for the top woman in "The Alamo." Linda is excited about this break in the 10-million-dollar picture starring John Wayne and Richard Widmark.

Linda was borrowed from Universal - International, her home studio, where she appeared earlier this year in "The Perfect Furlough" playing a glamorous movie queen. She leaves soon to join the rest of the company in Bracketsville, Texas.

Publicist Pat Newcomb, back from a wonderful holiday and business trip to Europe, says Elizabeth Taylor has lost 20 pounds and looks beautiful. Someone said that if Elizabeth weren't so beautiful she would be called one of the great actresses of all times, her performance is so good in "Suddenly Last Summer." Sam Spiegel plans to release the picture in December in time for Academy Award consideration.

Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher are going to Spain for two weeks of work on her picture, and in September, after it's finished, they will head for New York where they will make their home. Eddie goes into the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, and in October Liz starts "Two for the Seesaw" for Harold Mirisch in New York. They can't come to California together until February.

You just can't top Jack Benny when it comes to timing, wit and that act of a spoiled boy, plus the stingiest man in the world (when everyone knows he's just the opposite). All this comes through at the Jack Benny revue and concert at the Greek Theatre.

The climax comes in the second act when Jack plays his violin with the California Junior Symphony and picks on a most attractive teen-ager, Charlotte Motley, who is first violinist. The amazing thing is that Jack really works at his violin playing and is getting better all the time. He practices two hours a day every day, and it shows. Peter Meremblum, who conducts the junior symphony taught these 85 talented teen-agers.

Some of Jack's comedy rubbed off on Peggy Lee and she was very cute, plus singing with great style. The dancers, Brascia and Tybee, and Jack's own conductor, Mahlon Merrick, all added to one of the pleasantest evenings the Greek theatre has yet offered.

Tony Martin would make a good columnist as he is a singer. He even remembered what Princess Grace was wearing at the Red Cross festival in Monaco, the big charity affair which Tony headlined, at the request of their serene highnesses. He tells me Princess Grace was a vision in white with emerald and ruby tiara, necklace and bracelets!

When Grace and Prince Rainier sent for Tony after the show they told him they were most amused at the expression on his face when the natives started pelting him with things after the concert. The "things" turned out to be roses, "a very high compliment from our people," laughed the princess.

"I'm glad you explained," replied Tony, "for a minute I thought I was back in the two-a-day."

Vera Blinn Receives Invitation

The Vera Blinn Women's Society received reports and an invitation at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. John House, near Oldtown. Mrs. T. L. Grove was assistant hostess.

"Be Doers of the Word and not Hearers Only," was the theme of the program, led by Mrs. J. L. Brokemarkle, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Nesbitt, Mrs. John S. Cook, Mrs. H. C. Trenton and Mrs. Edward Shaffer.

Mrs. Shaffer presided at a short business session. Reports were given by Mrs. Richard T. Cook, Mrs. Trenton, Mrs. J. S. Cook and Mrs. Brokemarkle. An invitation was read inviting the society to the marriage of Miss Pauline House and David Conley September 5 in Centre Street Methodist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. House. Her fiance is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Conley, Hagerstown.

A gift, "Leaves of Gold," was presented to Mrs. Homer Carlton, who is moving to South Carolina Monday. Mrs. Carlton was the former president of the group.

Twenty members and guest attended.

Woman Remembers Old Indebtedness

There is an advertising slogan that states "Never underestimate the power of a woman," and a local retired merchant feels that it should also contain the words "or intentions."

Simon Kochman, who last operated a woman's clothing store on Baltimore Street about 30 years ago, was recently stopped on the street by a woman who paid off a small debt that she claimed was "preying on her mind."

Kochman was shopping with his young granddaughter when he was stopped by the unidentified woman. She told him she had once taken a $5 dress home on approval, but had failed either to return it or pay for it, although her intentions were to do so.

Kochman told the woman to keep the money, since he had long been retired, but she pushed a $5 bill into his coat pocket and walked away.

Mrs. McCleary Named CDA District Deputy

The appointment of Mrs. Anna McCleary as district deputy of the Catholic Daughters of America; and the first general meeting September 14, in St. Patrick's Social Center, were announced at the family picnic of Court Cardinal Gibbons, held Wednesday evening in Constitution Park.

Immediate past grand regent and a trustee of the local court, Mrs. McCleary holds office in a district which includes Court Cardinal Gibbons, Court Teresa, Mt. Savage and Court Hagerstown. She succeeds Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, also a former grand regent of the local court.

Birthdays of Mrs. Mary Michaels, Mrs. Elizabeth Breighner, Mrs. Helen Simon and Mrs. Shirley Norris were observed, and each presented a gift. Mrs. Margaret Sell won the prize for the evening. Approximately 75 members and their families attended.

Unemployment Low

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—The federal labor office said Thursday there were only 760 unemployed persons in this country of 5,300,000 population as of July 31. The figure represented an all-time low in unemployment, beating the previous low of 960 in July, 1957, the agency said.

An easy summer main dish can be made by slicing canned corned beef hash into good sized slices (or form into patties); brown on both sides and serve with heated canned beef gravy.

Mason Rudolph Leads In Motor City Golf Meet

Fires 4 Below Par 67 For Stroke Edge

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (UPI) — Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., playing in only his eighth tournament on the pro tour, fired a four-under par 67 Thursday to grab the first round lead in the $25,000 Motor City Open golf tournament.

The 25-year-old newcomer rattled off five birdies and one eagle in his par-smashing round to take a one-stroke lead over Dow Finsterwald and Frank Stranahan, a pair of native Ohioans now playing out of Florida.

Ten others were another stroke back at 69, including such top names as Mike Souchak, Arnold Palmer, Ted Kroll, Bob Rosburg and Paul Harney.

Rudolph was even par on the front nine at the 6,721 yard Meadowbrook Country Club with birdies on the first and third holes but a double bogey at seven where he drove next to a tree and wasted one shot getting out of trouble.

Dropped In Long Putts

Rudolph, who has finished in the money in his seven previous tournaments as a touring pro, dropped in putts of 12 and 15 feet for birdies at the 10th and 11th, three-putted for a bogey at the 13th, dropped an eight-footer for a birdie at the 16th and then scored an eagle at the 507-yard par five 17th.

Rudolph was the USGA's junior champion in 1950 and won the Western Amateur crown in 1956.

Finsterwald, playing out of Tequesta, Fla., arrived here less than two hours before he was scheduled to be on the first tee. He went out a two-under par 33 and clipped one shot from regulation figures on the back nine.

Art Wall Scores 70

Finsterwald who won the Carling Open at Cleveland last Sunday with a blazing finish, had never played a round on this course before Thursday.

Stranahan, son of a Toledo, Ohio, spark plug magnate who was regarded as one of the nation's top amateurs for several years but hasn't had much luck as a pro, had 34 on each of his nine.

Others at 69 were Bob Goalby, Crystal River, Fla., Bruce Crampton, Sydney, Australia, Tommy Jacobs, Whittier, Calif., Tom Nieporte, Bronxville, N.Y., and Bob Goetz, Tulsa, Okla.

Nine others, headed by Art Wall Jr., golf's top money winner and former PGA champion Doug Ford and Chick Harbert, the host pro, were at 70.

Cards Will Bench Musial In Favor Of Young Players

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Aging St. Louis Cardinal star Stan Musial will be benched for much of the rest of the season in favor of younger players, the Cardinals, announced Thursday night just before the start of a game against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The 38 - year - old Musial was benched for Thursday's night's game in favor of young Gene Oliver who appeared in Musial's place at first base.

In a hastily called press conference General Manager Bing Devine said, "in an effort to use more of our younger players, Musial will not see much action for the remainder of the season."

But, said Devine, Musial will return next season.

Devine said Musial had agreed to the new program after a conference between the two.

Maris, Snyder Benched By A's

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Manager Harry Craft, in an effort to shake his Kansas City Athletics out of a bad slump, shook up his starting lineup here Thursday night and benched two of the club's top hitters prior to their game with the Cleveland Indians.

Outfielders Russ Snyder and Roger Maris, who have been the mainstays for the A's, were benched and Bob Cerv and Zeke Bella were inserted in their stead.

Cerv, one of the American League's most promising players a year ago, has been something of a disappointment to the A's this season. He is hitting only .268 and has missed several games due to injuries.

'Second Team' Holds Steel Strike Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel negotiators went through the formality of holding bargaining talks Thursday but the absence of key figures in the 30-day-old strike limited the scope of the sessions to contract technicalities.

"Second team" negotiators met for two hours during the morning and another two hours after lunch. Another joint meeting was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Friday, a half-hour earlier than usual.

Deputy Mediator Robert Moore, in charge during the absence of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Chief Joseph F. Finnegan, said after the two sessions that the negotiators had been engaged in straightening out ambiguous language in the proposed new contract.

Maisel Is Named Sun Sports Editor

BALTIMORE (AP)—Robert L. Maisel, who has covered the Orioles since 1955, was named sports editor of the Baltimore Sun Thursday.

Managing Editor Charles H. Dorsey Jr. said Maisel succeeds Carl A. Buchele, who asked to be relieved for personal reasons. Dorsey said the newspaper had been very satisfied with Buchele but went along with his request.

Buchele succeeded veteran Sports Editor Jesse A. Linthicum, who died May 12.

Maisel, 37, started in newspaper work in the Sun sports department nine years ago. His appointment is effective immediately.

He is married and has three daughters.

Veeck Stands Firm, Insists Yanks Play Night Game Aug. 24

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox stood fast Thursday on his plan for a night game with the New York Yankees Aug. 24 despite three veto votes by the Yankee players.

"We have a ball game scheduled for Aug. 24 at night," Veeck said, "and we have permission from Mr. (Casey) Stengel representing the Yankee management.

"The management agreement calls for approval of the players only in the event the game precedes a day game on the following day. Their game on the following day at Cleveland is at night, and I don't know what the votes are about."

Veeck said he believed the matter now rested with the Yankee management, and "I don't anticipate any trouble in playing the Aug. 24 game at night."

The game was made necessary by a 1-1 tie game between the two clubs halted by rain on the Yankees' last Chicago visit. The replay date of Aug. 24 was selected immediately and Veeck said Stengel, manager of the Yankees, consented to a night game at that time.

Aussies And India Open Tennis Series

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Two young Indians from halfway across the world will try for a tennis miracle Friday — a victory over the heavily favored Australians in the inter-zone Davis Cup finals.

"It's a big order but we may surprise," said Ramanathan Krishnan, the No. 1 star, acting Captain and liaison man of the undermanned eastern zone champions.

Crawford, Holmberg Score At Newport

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Young Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Cal., came from behind to score a stunning upset in the quarter-final round of singles in the Newport Invitation Tennis Tournament on Thursday when he beat top-seeded Bobby Wilson of England, 11-9, 8-10, 2-6, 11-9, 6-1.

Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn qualified to meet Crawford in the semi-finals when he routed Ramsey Earnhart of Ventura, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

The quarter-final round will be completed Friday when second-seeded Don Dell of Bethesda, Md. meets Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., and Noel Brown of Los Angeles plays Tony Pickard of England.

Mason Rudolph Leads In Motor City Golf Meet

Fires 4 Below Par 67 For Stroke Edge

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (UPI) — Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., playing in only his eighth tournament on the pro tour, fired a four-under par 67 Thursday to grab the first round lead in the $25,000 Motor City Open golf tournament.

The 25-year-old newcomer rattled off five birdies and one eagle in his par-smashing round to take a one-stroke lead over Dow Finsterwald and Frank Stranahan, a pair of native Ohioans now playing out of Florida.

Ten others were another stroke back at 69, including such top names as Mike Souchak, Arnold Palmer, Ted Kroll, Bob Rosburg and Paul Harney.

Rudolph was even par on the front nine at the 6,721 yard Meadowbrook Country Club with birdies on the first and third holes but a double bogey at seven where he drove next to a tree and wasted one shot getting out of trouble.

Dropped In Long Putts

Rudolph, who has finished in the money in his seven previous tournaments as a touring pro, dropped in putts of 12 and 15 feet for birdies at the 10th and 11th, three-putted for a bogey at the 13th, dropped an eight-footer for a birdie at the 16th and then scored an eagle at the 507-yard par five 17th.

Rudolph was the USGA's junior champion in 1950 and won the Western Amateur crown in 1956.

Finsterwald, playing out of Tequesta, Fla., arrived here less than two hours before he was scheduled to be on the first tee. He went out a two-under par 33 and clipped one shot from regulation figures on the back nine.

Art Wall Scores 70

Finsterwald who won the Carling Open at Cleveland last Sunday with a blazing finish, had never played a round on this course before Thursday.

Stranahan, son of a Toledo, Ohio, spark plug magnate who was regarded as one of the nation's top amateurs for several years but hasn't had much luck as a pro, had 34 on each of his nine.

Others at 69 were Bob Goalby, Crystal River, Fla., Bruce Crampton, Sydney, Australia, Tommy Jacobs, Whittier, Calif., Tom Nieporte, Bronxville, N.Y., and Bob Goetz, Tulsa, Okla.

Nine others, headed by Art Wall Jr., golf's top money winner and former PGA champion Doug Ford and Chick Harbert, the host pro, were at 70.

'Second Team' Holds Steel Strike Talks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel negotiators went through the formality of holding bargaining talks Thursday but the absence of key figures in the 30-day-old strike limited the scope of the sessions to contract technicalities.

Deputy Mediator Robert Moore, in charge during the absence of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Chief Joseph F. Finnegan, said after the two sessions that the negotiators had been engaged in straightening out ambiguous language in the proposed new contract.

Veeck Stands Firm, Insists Yanks Play Night Game Aug. 24

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox stood fast Thursday on his plan for a night game with the New York Yankees Aug. 24 despite three veto votes by the Yankee players.

"We have a ball game scheduled for Aug. 24 at night," Veeck said, "and we have permission from Mr. (Casey) Stengel representing the Yankee management.

"The management agreement calls for approval of the players only in the event the game precedes a day game on the following day. Their game on the following day at Cleveland is at night, and I don't know what the votes are about."

Veeck said he believed the matter now rested with the Yankee management, and "I don't anticipate any trouble in playing the Aug. 24 game at night."

The game was made necessary by a 1-1 tie game between the two clubs halted by rain on the Yankees' last Chicago visit. The replay date of Aug. 24 was selected immediately and Veeck said Stengel, manager of the Yankees, consented to a night game at that time.

Budget Talks Bog Down On Wage Issues

Another Meeting Planned Tomorrow

The Mayor and Council last night scheduled another budget meeting Saturday at 9:30 a. m. after an all but fruitless attempt to agree on the formula to be used on wage increases for city workers.

Attempts will be made by then to come up with a plan to allocate the estimated $90,000 available among the city's 274 regular and probationary workers.

Two major plans were considered. The first would have spread the money according to a job classification system, with graduated rates which provide incentives for promotions.

The other would be to decide on some percentage formula.

One suggestion, for instance, called for a formula giving workers a 20 per cent increase on the first $1,000, 15 per cent on the second thousand, 10 per cent on the third, five per cent on the fourth and two per cent on five or more.

Compromise Possible

This plan would give workers in the lower wage brackets a better break on a percentage basis than higher paid employes.

The formula, for instance, would provide an annual boost of $475 for patrolmen and about $460 for laborers.

Another suggestion, which received no support, was for a blanket increase for all workers.

It was the consensus that a possible compromise might be worked out which would provide a percentage increase in some brackets and a flat increase in other classifications.

May Not Use All

There was also doubt in some minds that the full $90,000 could be used for wage boosts.

The money will be available this year, of course, but one official warned that the city goes in the red unless it ends the year with as much funds as were on hand at the beginning.

Most city workers have asked flat increases and object to percentage boosts.

Rock 'n' Roll Winners

Most of the livestock entered in the 42d annual Cumberland Fair which runs at Fairgo all next week will be judged on Tuesday, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Robert Appleman, a dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, will judge the Jerseys at 9 a.m. Tuesday and then judge the Holsteins starting about 1 p.m. The Guernseys will be judged by Seth Schnebley of Clear Spring starting at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

A new judge will be making his first appearance at Fairgo to judge the Ayrshires at a new hour. Robert N. Wills of McDonogh School in Baltimore County will judge the Ayrshires starting at 4 p.m. Tuesday, thereby giving late afternoon visitors to the Fair a chance to see livestock judging.

Boyd Whittle, a livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, will begin a busy schedule by judging the Angus beef cattle at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Later, about 1 p.m., he will judge sheep and hogs exhibited at the Fair by Future Farmers of America.

A number of old familiar names and some new ones will be featured among the livestock exhibitors. Jerseys will be shown by Braden King and George Stiles, both of Boonsboro in Washington County. A new Jersey exhibitor will be an Allegany County man, Francis Cosgrove of Westernport, with four entries.

Ayrshire exhibitors will be William I. Shank, Hagerstown, and Samuel J. Diehl, RFD 3, Bedford, Pa. James Weimer and James Robison of the Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage, will show eight Guernseys, including a heifer which was the top heifer in a recent Guernsey field day at Hagerstown. R. A. McCauley and H. W. McElwee, both of Hagerstown, also will be back to exhibit Guernseys.

Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold will have between 65 and 75 4-H dairy calves at the Fair.

City Plans $300,000 Bond Sale

City officials are making plans to advertise for the sale of the $300,000 Thruway bond issue.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened by the Mayor and Council September 15 at 10 a.m.

The issue will be advertised soon both locally and in the Bond Buyer, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The bond ordinance under which the issue will be sold allows an interest rate of not more than 4½ per cent.

This is one-half per cent higher than the limit set in recent bond ordinances as a result of a high bond market.

Mr. Gibson said the market for municipal bonds firmed recently and has decreased slightly from a peak of 3.79 per cent.

The present average for general obligations, he added, is about 3.59 per cent.

The market for maturities such as are set up in the ordinance which calls for payment between 1970 and 1975 is about four per cent.

Most of the money from the bond sale will be used to pay the balance owed the State Roads Commission on matching federal aid funds for the Cumberland Thruway and thus release up to $90,000 a year being withheld from the city's share of state gas and auto revenues.

Commissioners Seek Check On School Funds

New Legislation May Be Proposed

County commissioners from the four Western Maryland counties, holding their second session in as many months yesterday in the Deep Creek Lodge at McHenry in Garrett County, decided that they lacked control over the school budgets in their respective counties.

The first meeting of the commissioners from Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties was held at the Cumberland Country Club on July 16 with the Allegany County commissioners as host. Deciding that monthly meetings are too frequent, the four-county group voted yesterday to hold its next session in Frederick in November.

A feeling was expressed at the Garrett County meeting yesterday that new legislation may be needed to give the commissioners stronger say in what is done by the county school boards.

80 Cents For Schools

The Garrett County commissioners said they use 80 cents out of each tax dollar for schools. The Frederick County delegation reported that it cut the last school budget there a flat five per cent and told the Board of Education to decide where to make the cuts.

Figures in the annual levy list adopted by the Allegany County commissioners April 21 show that $1.2064 or 54.3 per cent, of each $2.22 in county taxes collected goes for schools. They include 90.99 cents for the school operations, .01 cent for school boy patrol, .93 cent for teachers' retirement fund, 7.64 cents for retirement of school bonds, 2.44 cents for interest on school bonds, 14.98 cents for retirement of school construction loans, 3.65 cents for interest on school construction loans.

State Senator Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett County, who was a special guest at yesterday's meeting, welcomed the group to his county and then outlined the upper Potomac plan which involves construction of three dams in Garrett County.

One will be located four miles west of Bloomington. It will be 283 feet and its reservoir will cover 1,030 acres. Another on Stony River will be 157 feet high and will cover 110 acres. The third will be on Savage River above the present dam. This will be 173 feet high and will cover 330 acres. Senator Gonder also pointed out that a complete survey of the Potomac River from its source to Harpers Ferry, W. Va., where the Shenandoah River empties into it, is under way.

Meeting August 26

A legislative committee on waterways has scheduled a meeting at the William James Hotel in Oakland at 6 p.m. Wednesday, August 26, to discuss the Potomac River and Savage River proposals.

At the morning session yesterday, Edward McDonough, chief highway design engineer of Baltimore County, discussed federal aid for secondary roads and the requirements which the counties must meet to get such funds.

Also discussed yesterday was the matter of weight limits on county roads. Frederick and Washington counties outlined their enforcement programs. Garrett and Allegany counties outlined their troubles and damage done by heavy trucks. The Garrett County attorney has ruled that the county has authority to set limits on its roads.

When the business sessions ended some members of the delegation took a boat tour of Deep Creek Lake before going to the

Youth Killed In Accident On W.Va. Farm

A 19-year-old Preston County, W.Va., youth died Wednesday afternoon when he was crushed beneath a farm jeep which apparently upset while he was driving it up a slight incline on his sister's farm near Horseshoe Run.

Arthur Loman Hebb of Horseshoe Run was found beneath the jeep by his sister's husband and a brother bout 6:30 p.m. (EST) on a private road which leads to the farm from West Virginia Route 24, between Aurora and Silver Lake.

Sheriff Charles Harriman of Kingwood investigated the accident with West Virginia State Police.

The sheriff said authorities believe the accident may have occurred several hours before the boy's body was found, probably about 3:30 p.m. Young Hebb apparently died instantly from a crushed chest, the sheriff added.

Investigators pieced together this version:

Young Hebb was driving a jeep which had no brakes and was used around the farm for small chores. He was traveling up a slight incline in the road to the farm when the engine apparently stalled.

The jeep, police believe, drifted backward until it hit a water breaker across the road, causing the vehicle to veer into a small roadside embankment. The impact apparently threw Hebb out of the jeep which upset upon him, crushing him to death.

The accident occurred on a farm near Horseshoe Run which is owned by Mrs. Barbara Ann Lewis, the victim's sister.

Born November 7, 1939, at Leadmine, Hebb was a son of Mrs. Beulah (Harper) Hebb, Horseshoe Run, and the late Burley George Hebb. He is survived, besides his mother, by two brothers, George Burley Hebb, who discovered his body, also of Horseshoe Run, and James Edward Hebb, Iaeger, W.Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Lois G. Calcamp, Falls Church, Va., and Mrs. Lewis.

The body is at the residence of Mrs. Lewis where friends may call until 1:30 p.m. Saturday. The body then will be taken to Bethel Methodist Church, Horseshoe Run, for services at 2 p.m. with Rev. Robert Armentrout, officiating. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery, Thomas, W.Va.

Cattle Tester Course Planned

Area men are being reminded by Allegany County Agent Joseph M. Steger of an opportunity to become supervisors in the Maryland dairy herd improvement association program.

Mr. Steger has just been informed by Robert Appleman, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, that a week-long training course for DHIA supervisors will be offered at College Park from August 24 through August 29.

There probably will be two openings for cattle testers in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association and other associations elsewhere in Maryland also need testers.

Wheeler W. Arnold, who has been a tester in the Potomac Valley association for some time, has been ill. Darrell Deal of Finzel, who has been the tester for the second local association, is expected to be drafted soon into the army.

Men interested in more details on the College Park course should contact Mr. Steger at the Court House.

Another Meeting Planned Tomorrow

The Mayor and Council last night scheduled another budget meeting Saturday at 9:30 a. m. after an all but fruitless attempt to agree on the formula to be used on wage increases for city workers.

Attempts will be made by then to come up with a plan to allocate the estimated $90,000 available among the city's 274 regular and probationary workers.

Two major plans were considered. The first would have spread the money according to a job classification system, with graduated rates which provide incentives for promotions.

The other would be to decide on some percentage formula.

One suggestion, for instance, called for a formula giving workers a 20 per cent increase on the first $1,000, 15 per cent on the second thousand, 10 per cent on the third, five per cent on the fourth and two per cent on five or more.

Compromise Possible

This plan would give workers in the lower wage brackets a better break on a percentage basis than higher paid employes.

The formula, for instance, would provide an annual boost of $475 for patrolmen and about $460 for laborers.

Another suggestion, which received no support, was for a blanket increase for all workers.

It was the consensus that a possible compromise might be worked out which would provide a percentage increase in some brackets and a flat increase in other classifications.

May Not Use All

There was also doubt in some minds that the full $90,000 could be used for wage boosts.

The money will be available this year, of course, but one official warned that the city goes in the red unless it ends the year with as much funds as were on hand at the beginning.

Most city workers have asked flat increases and object to percentage boosts.

Most Fair Livestock Will Be Judged Tuesday

Most of the livestock entered in the 42d annual Cumberland Fair which runs at Fairgo all next week will be judged on Tuesday, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Robert Appleman, a dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, will judge the Jerseys at 9 a.m. Tuesday and then judge the Holsteins starting about 1 p.m. The Guernseys will be judged by Seth Schnebley of Clear Spring starting at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

A new judge will be making his first appearance at Fairgo to judge the Ayrshires at a new hour. Robert N. Wills of McDonogh School in Baltimore County will judge the Ayrshires starting at 4 p.m. Tuesday, thereby giving late afternoon visitors to the Fair a chance to see livestock judging.

Boyd Whittle, a livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, will begin a busy schedule by judging the Angus beef cattle at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Later, about 1 p.m., he will judge sheep and hogs exhibited at the Fair by Future Farmers of America.

A number of old familiar names and some new ones will be featured among the livestock exhibitors. Jerseys will be shown by Braden King and George Stiles, both of Boonsboro in Washington County. A new Jersey exhibitor will be an Allegany County man, Francis Cosgrove of Westernport, with four entries.

City Plans $300,000 Bond Sale

City officials are making plans to advertise for the sale of the $300,000 Thruway bond issue.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened by the Mayor and Council September 15 at 10 a.m.

The issue will be advertised soon both locally and in the Bond Buyer, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The bond ordinance under which the issue will be sold allows an interest rate of not more than 4½ per cent.

This is one-half per cent higher than the limit set in recent bond ordinances as a result of a high bond market.

Mr. Gibson said the market for municipal bonds firmed recently and has decreased slightly from a peak of 3.79 per cent.

The present average for general obligations, he added, is about 3.59 per cent.

The market for maturities such as are set up in the ordinance which calls for payment between 1970 and 1975 is about four per cent.

Most of the money from the bond sale will be used to pay the balance owed the State Roads Commission on matching federal aid funds for the Cumberland Thruway and thus release up to $90,000 a year being withheld from the city's share of state gas and auto revenues.

Commissioners Seek Check On School Funds

New Legislation May Be Proposed

County commissioners from the four Western Maryland counties, holding their second session in as many months yesterday in the Deep Creek Lodge at McHenry in Garrett County, decided that they lacked control over the school budgets in their respective counties.

The first meeting of the commissioners from Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties was held at the Cumberland Country Club on July 16 with the Allegany County commissioners as host. Deciding that monthly meetings are too frequent, the four-county group voted yesterday to hold its next session in Frederick in November.

A feeling was expressed at the Garrett County meeting yesterday that new legislation may be needed to give the commissioners stronger say in what is done by the county school boards.

80 Cents For Schools

The Garrett County commissioners said they use 80 cents out of each tax dollar for schools. The Frederick County delegation reported that it cut the last school budget there a flat five per cent and told the Board of Education to decide where to make the cuts.

Figures in the annual levy list adopted by the Allegany County commissioners April 21 show that $1.2064 or 54.3 per cent, of each $2.22 in county taxes collected goes for schools. They include 90.99 cents for the school operations, .01 cent for school boy patrol, .93 cent for teachers' retirement fund, 7.64 cents for retirement of school bonds, 2.44 cents for interest on school bonds, 14.98 cents for retirement of school construction loans, 3.65 cents for interest on school construction loans.

State Senator Bernard I. Gonder of Garrett County, who was a special guest at yesterday's meeting, welcomed the group to his county and then outlined the upper Potomac plan which involves construction of three dams in Garrett County.

One will be located four miles west of Bloomington. It will be 283 feet and its reservoir will cover 1,030 acres. Another on Stony River will be 157 feet high and will cover 110 acres. The third will be on Savage River above the present dam. This will be 173 feet high and will cover 330 acres. Senator Gonder also pointed out that a complete survey of the Potomac River from its source to Harpers Ferry, W. Va., where the Shenandoah River empties into it, is under way.

Meeting August 26

A legislative committee on waterways has scheduled a meeting at the William James Hotel in Oakland at 6 p.m. Wednesday, August 26, to discuss the Potomac River and Savage River proposals.

At the morning session yesterday, Edward McDonough, chief highway design engineer of Baltimore County, discussed federal aid for secondary roads and the requirements which the counties must meet to get such funds.

Also discussed yesterday was the matter of weight limits on county roads. Frederick and Washington counties outlined their enforcement programs. Garrett and Allegany counties outlined their troubles and damage done by heavy trucks. The Garrett County attorney has ruled that the county has authority to set limits on its roads.

When the business sessions ended some members of the delegation took a boat tour of Deep Creek Lake before going to the

She is a member of the Richmond Plaza Baptist Church, sings in the church choir and does solo numbers for various church, club and television programs.
